TENANTS REFUSE GENEVA CHATEAU TO MRS. WILSON

GENEVA, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is in danger of not possessing a place to live when she reaches Geneva next week although she has leased the famous chateau Bartholoni for the month of September. The present occupants of the chateau insist on remaining until Nov. 15, maintaining they are entitled to do so under their lease, and the agents have failed to induce them to leave.

Knowing that it is the wish of Mrs. Wilson to follow the proceedings of the league assembly next month, because of the part played by President Wilson in establishing the league, her friends here are working desperately to obtain hotel accommodations for her. Up to the present they have not succeeded, as everything in Geneva was reserved weeks ago.

GIRL, 4, KEEPS CAUSE OF HER BRUISES SECRET

Refusing to tell what had caused the bruises which covered her body, four year old Ethel Kubic, 2952 Quinn street, was taken to the county hospital last night by officers of the Illinois Humane society from 1230 West 31st place, where she had been found by Deering street police.

Mrs. Julia Wepiec, from whose home the child was taken, said Ethel had been left there Wednesday by her foster parents. When she found out the condition of the girl Thursday she called the police.

At the Quinn street address Sergt. Coe of Deering street found that the Kubics were not at home. The child's left leg, on which there is a particularly bad bruise, will be X-rayed today to see if any bones are broken.

DEAD MAN TO BE TRIED AS SLAYER IN WILL CONTEST

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Though a suicide in his cell Dr. Thomas W. Young will be tried for the murder of his wife nevertheless. The dead man's trial will be a civil action in the nature of a review of the murder trial ten days of which had elapsed before Young strangled himself to death with wire from a radio set.

Frank W. Hunt, father of Mrs. Grace Grogan Young, the dead woman, will press the trial. Young's will left his fortune to his attorney, John S. Cooper. Most of Young's fortune consisted of a bequest of one-fourth the fortune of his wife. It's value is about $60,000. The suit will contend that a murderer cannot be beneficiary by his victim's will. It was brought out today that the radio set was installed by Attorney Cooper in Young's cell.

Charge Huge Florida Land Fraud; Hunt 5

Federal officials in Chicago yesterday obtained warrants for principals in what they declare is a $1,600,000 Florida land fraud which has been cleaning up in this region at the expense of legitimate transactions in the southern real estate boom.

The alleged wildcat promotional company to be hit is the Florida Land company, whose offices in the Burnham building are said to surpass the late Leo Koretz's taste for ready money backgrounds.

Those named in warrants issued by U. S. Commissioner H. C. Beitler are:

Jacob Factor, president, said to be a former barber who discovered he was wasting his persuasive powers on the sale of tonics and singes and became a high pressure land promoter. His biggest cleanup, postoffice inspectors assert, was in the sale in Great Britain for $500,000 of Arkansas land, described as not so good.

Promoter Has a Record.

Henry Heinsius, one time head of the Illinois Bond & Mortgage company, 109 North Dearborn street, and alleged right hand man to Factor. Found guilty of operating a confidence game by a jury in Judge Rush's court fifteen months ago. He was accused of swindling many Oak Parkers in the promotion of the Wyoming Asbestos Syndicate.

Maurice E. Drucker, reputed wizard in organizing "airedales," as high pressure field salesmen are called.

H. J. Hummelstein, said to have talent in the use of colorful adjectives.

Newton Feldman, a promoter described as "one who almost believed his own stuff."

Nathan Factor, a brother of Jacob. He was arrested at his home, 6337 Lakewood avenue, by Deputy Marshal John J. Doyle. Nathan was the only one of those named who could be found last night.

Raiders Find Offices Deserted.

Shortly after the issuance of the warrants Postal Inspector W. P. Bush and Chief Deputy United States Marshal John J. Doyle led a raid on the palatial headquarters of the concern, but found the offices deserted.

The specific charge against the members of the Florida Land company, according to First Assistant District Attorney William F. Waugh, is violation of article 215 of the criminal code, which has to do with using the mail in furtherance of a scheme to defraud.

According to federal estimates, Factor and his associates have netted in the neighborhood of $1,600,000 through exploitation of several thousand acres of land in Orange county, Florida.

Many of the victims are said to have been among the foreign born in fifty cities in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, and Wisconsin. One Polish resident of Chicago invested $10,000 and another $6,000, it is charged, following a junket made to Florida by Ald. Stanley Adamkiewicz and other leaders among residents of Polish descent.

It is said that members of the Adamkiewicz party telegraphed friends here about the charm of Florida climate. This was held to be proper and legitimate, but duplicates of the messages were placed in the hands of the so-called airedales, who applied the kind words to their own promotions and so reaped a rich harvest.

Agents Cite These Claims.

Principal features of the advertising to which Postal Inspectors Bush and Aldrich and other investigators take exception include the following:

The claim that the property is in the outskirts of Orlando, Fla., whereas the closest lot to Orlando is said to be seven and a half miles away.

The claim that all of the lots are high and dry, whereas investigation has revealed that some of the lots become submerged with several inches of water if there is a half inch precipitation in a twenty-four hour period.

The claim that the property is on the Dixie highway. One 650 foot strip adjoins the highway, but this place has not been sold. The remainder is said to be largely inaccessible.

Roderick Goes to Prison for 2 Years; Auto Death

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Walter E. Roderick, a member of the Washington staff of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, was sentenced yesterday to serve two years in prison for killing Adgie Bowie, a bread wagon driver living in Alexandria, Va. Bowie was killed when Roderick, while intoxicated, drove his automobile into a safety island in Washington where Bowie was waiting to board a street car.

Roderick appeared before Justice McCoy in the District of Columbia federal court and pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter. He also agreed to a cash settlement with Bowie's widow and three children.

BUILT; FLIGHT TO CHINA EASY: COL. MITCHELL

Air Service Slighted by Old Fogies.

Col. William Mitchell, former head of the army air service, asserted last night that although there has been perfected an American super-airplane capable of making a non-stop flight from the United States to Paris with a ton of explosive aboard, he has been unable to obtain government permission to make tests with the craft.

"Old fogey ideas," he asserted, "are holding back the inevitable. The producers of this plane believe, and I believe, that the huge biplanes they have built are capable of flying to Peking with a single stop at Nome, Alaska. And this, mind you, with a ton of explosive. The planes are ready. They will make 113 miles an hour for sixty hours. But we can't prove it unless the army and navy heads see fit to grant us permission."

Demoted for Exposures.

Col. Mitchell, who ended his career at Washington with caustic references to the old timers, who insist on keeping the aviation service as an adjunct to the army or the navy, spoke his sentiments at the Union station. He made a short stopover last night while he was on his way from Detroit to Fort Sam Houston, Tex., where he is now stationed.

"The air service now," he declared, "is in the position of a pair of twin orphans farmed out to the army and the navy. This should be changed. There should be, as I have contended always, a separate air service under a separate command. Because the next war will be fought by airmen almost alone."

Then he drew a picture of the war of the future. Armies and navies, he said, are all but obsolete.

Air War Requires Few Men.

"What use will an army be?" he demanded. "Even now they are only visual symbols of the power of government. What need is there to make the slaughter house that the last war developed into? With a real air service there would be comparatively few men engaged and they would be able to attack and return from the enemy's country in short order."

Throughout his brief talk the colonel declined to speak of personalities. He had no comment to make on Admiral Sims, who has recently modified his attitude toward the airplane as a fighting arm of the service. It was "Washington," the leaders of the army and navy groups, to whom he paid his respects—the group, not the individual.

But he talked of the navy and how useless he thinks it will be without huge air power.

Surface Navy Gone, He Says.

"Four planes, each with a ton of explosive, can fly out to sea and sink any battleship in existence," he declared. "Three years ago I designed such planes. The on-the-water navy is a thing of the past. The submarine, of course, has its uses and can't be conquered so easily by the flyers."

Then, he added, if the first attempt by new super-planes should fail, they could go back to base, reload with torpedoes, poison gas, or high explosives and return to try again.

Col. Mitchell, however, was optimistic about his plan. He is confident that the public, when it knows the facts, will bring pressure on Washington and force the adoption of the separate air service program—a complete within itself organization.

"The United States can lead the world easily in aviation," he asserted. "We have the trained mechanics, the material and the plans for the machines. We have also the finest personnel in all the world's governments for flying men. It would be economical for the United States to go into a gigantic air building plan now.

Urges Economy in Army.

"The army could be further skeletonized and that would save money. The building of huge, costly battleships could be eliminated."

Then he gave a warning.

"No matter what any one says, the sole defense of this nation will rest on its air forces in future," he said. "There can be no other way of keeping out invaders than by controlling the air."

He had no comment to make on the airplane accident at Maywood Thursday, in which Lieut. T. P. Smith and Capt. William L. Heptig were killed.

Doctor Asks $500,000 for Wife's Love

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Dr. J. Paul Fernel of Chicago, a plastic surgeon, today filed suit in the Los Angeles county court, asking $500,000 from David G. Maxwell, millionaire president of a Hollywood motor car company, for alienation of Mrs. Fernel's affections. The complaint alleges that Maxwell is now maintaining Mrs. Fernel in a Hollywood home. Charles S. Wharton, Chicago attorney, filed the complaint.

Maxwell formerly was a Chicagoan, one of the heads of a box manufacturing company with a plant in the stockyards district. He left there a dozen years ago to live here on the coast.

Wrote Ardent Letters.

Letters bearing inscriptions, "Father's Loving Ideal," "Betty Darling," "To My Lovable and Adorable Child," and "Honey Dear" were made basis of the suit just filed. The letters, it is asserted, were written to Mrs. Fernel by Maxwell, who on March 19, according to the complaint, "induced Mrs. Fernel to take up a separate residence in Hollywood."

Dr. Fernel's allegations cite this as the act that ended a long and clandestine campaign, during which, the Chicago man asserts, the Los Angeles man wooed Mrs. Fernel by almost daily messages via mail, telegraph, and long distance phone. These messages were couched in words of affection and were written "maliciously, with intent to belittle plaintiff in the eyes of his wife," the complaint recites.

"Some of them were filled with the most ardent emotional language," the complaint said.

God's Wish and Will.

One of the letters, written, it is charged, by Maxwell in California to Mrs. Fernel in Chicago, says, among other things:

"Our love and affection for each other goes with the thought and power of the Rock of Gibraltar. Let no man attempt to put the same asunder. It is God's wish and will.

"Now, child, let me explain to you just my reasons for worrying. After talking to my lawyers and telling them the situation, the only fear they have is that he might get his hands on some of my letters to you and that would be hell, providing he starts a suit against me for alienating your affections.

Worried About Letters.

"It is easy enough to keep track of just how many you have received and to know whether any of them got away.

"They asked if you could trust your sister and mother. They also said you must keep on the good side of your mother, and when you get ready to come here, borrow the money from her or some one else for your transportation. So you see, my child, every step must be taken carefully and guarded well. We can't be too cautious.

"Get busy, pal of mine, and govern yourself accordingly."

Mrs. Maxwell was reached at the home of the auto salesman in Hollywood.

"I was not aware that anybody had filed a suit," she said, "although we have known that there was something like a blackmailing scheme going on."

Maxwell could not be reached tonight.

REMEMBERED IN CHICAGO.

David G. Maxwell is about 60 years old and spent the greater part of his life in Chicago. In 1913, while he was living with his wife at the Lessing Annex, he was faced with charges brought by two little girls living in the stockyards district. A trial before Judge Gemmill resulted in his full exoneration. Shortly after that time Mr. Maxwell went to California to live.

Dr. Fernel is well known in Chicago as a plastic surgeon, and not long ago was in the center of a row among men of the "plastic" profession. Mrs. Fernel is reputed to be a beauty.

PARIS CABINET FOR DEBT PLAN; UNCLE SAM NEXT

Expect Big Banks to Aid Plea for Cut.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Aug. 28.—The ministerial council of French government, made up of President Doumergue, Premier Painleve, Foreign Minister Briand and the other cabinet officials, today unanimously endorsed the tentative accord for the settlement of the debt to England, which Joseph Caillaux reached with Winston Churchill at London. The cabinet also gave M. Caillaux carte blanche to proceed to Washington to attempt to drive a similar bargain with the United States.

The finance minister is now free to offer America the equivalent of the British offer, to be paid in sixty-two annuities. THE TRIBUNE is informed that M. Caillaux is empowered to make a larger offer to America, because the American debt is bigger than the English one.

Leave Him a Free Hand.

No specific instructions were given M. Caillaux regarding the rate of interest, his colleagues preferring to leave the wily wizard liberty to maneuver for the best possible deal. M. Caillaux hopes for a compromise by splitting the American debt in two parts, commercial and political debts, and obtain an average rate of interest of not more than two per cent.

Former Premier Theunis of Belgium who conducted the debt negotiations for his country in the United States which have just terminated successfully arrived here today en route to Brussels. M. Theunis declined to comment on the negotiations, stating that he had given Secretary Mellon a pledge of secrecy.

THE TRIBUNE has been informed here that Mr. Mellon also has unofficially requested M. Caillaux to maintain the strictest secrecy concerning the forthcoming negotiations on the ground that premature publicity will hamper and perhaps prevent an amicable settlement and an equitable agreement.

Americans' Comment Hurts U. S.

American official and newspaper comment published here, which stresses the fact that Great Britain is only doing her duty in reducing the French debt because she was France's principal war partner and obtained a lion's share of the colonies whereas the United States received no territorial consideration from the war, is interpreted here as weakening the position of the American government.

It was pointed out here by a government spokesman that the United States has always stood pat on the contention that the debts were contracted without reservation and therefore were entitled to be repaid like all financial obligations without drawing in extraneous considerations. Therefore, it is claimed, America belies her own statements by injecting the claims that France and Great Britain were war partners and the matter of the former German colonies, as France's debt to England, is also a strictly financial matter not related to these subjects.

It is also recalled here that the United States was offered territorial consideration—the Armenian mandate.

Expects Aid of Bankers.

Regarding a Washington official's statement of the partnership of Great Britain and France in the war the reply is made here that there was no partnership, merely protection of each country's interests. England, it is declared, entered the war on the realization that she would be the next victim of German aggression and the ambitions of the Hohenzollerns to subjugate Europe, and the United States participated later when she saw she, too, would be menaced by pan-Germanism if the entente were defeated.

It is no secret here that the French count strongly on powerful aid to reduce the debt to a minimum figure from the American bankers—chiefly Morgan and other financial institutions interested in foreign commitments and big business with foreign trade. All of these are declared to be anxious to relieve the foreign governments of their debts as much as possible, enabling them to be free to borrow again and leaving more money available for purchases in the United States.

A cynical official remarked that there are several thousand Americans wearing red ribbons who are able to boost vociferously and forcibly for reducing the debt to the lowest terms.

U. S. Suspicions Worry Britons.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—American dispatches reporting amazement and irritation in the United States over the terms of the Anglo-French provisional debt arrangement and quesing statements by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Winston and Senator Smoot of the American debt commission, and other persons, are featured in big type in the morning newspapers.

No surprise is expressed here at the declaration that the United States government will adhere to its attitude on foreign debts as already indicated, but anxiety is evinced in some of the comment over the reported suspicions in the United States that Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill and Finance Minister Caillaux schemed to put moral pressure on the United States in the interests of their respective countries.

The newspapers print disavowals of any intention by Great Britain to take any action that might bring her into conflict with the United States.

"Will Resent London's Gesture."

The Daily Telegraph, for example, regrets the seeming "disposition at Washington to see evidence of concerted action by Great Britain and France to put pressure on America to reduce her terms to France."

"That," says the newspaper, "certainly is not in the mind of the British government. Anglo-American relations are too harmonious and too valued for Great Britain to become willingly involved in any such maneuver."

The Westminster Gazette, in condemning the debt arrangement, says: "It may be maintained that it was wise for Great Britain to offer and accept a lower sum from France as a gesture to America; but America is apt to resent gestures which place her in such an invidious position."

Sees America and Britain Embroiled.

The Daily Express says that M. Caillaux wishes to use the British offer as a means for beating down America and has hinted at new developments which may lead to a revision of Premier Baldwin's settlement with Washington.

It adds, however, there is no chance of this, but that there is the unpleasant risk of the United States and Great Britain becoming embroiled.

Today's editorial comment to a great extent emphasizes yesterday's strictures on the Anglo-French arrangement.

U. S. DOUBTS CAILLAUX

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Resentment was shown by treasury officials today over statements attributed to M. Caillaux, the French finance minister, to the effect that he expected the United States to accept a 2 per cent rate on the French debt to this country, and that if the offer were refused he would return to France.

Whether M. Caillaux actually made the alleged statements officials are not in a position to know, but if he did so his action was bad policy so far as the feeling of the American government is concerned. Dilatoriness already shown by France in the matter of the debt settlement has won her no friends in Washington, and should her representatives now try to adopt a dictatorial attitude the distrust of French sincerity here would be strengthened officials explained.

Doubt British Generosity.

Those familiar with transactions of the world war foreign debt commission who have analyzed the agreement made between M. Caillaux and Winston Churchill at London said today they do not consider that the British were so generous as first reports indicated. It was declared authoritatively that even if France obtained no better terms at Washington than at London the United States still would hold the record for generosity.

Experts pointed out that whereas the original sum of the French debt to Great Britain was £445,200,000 [$2,163,700,000] at existing exchange rates, the amount spoken of by Mr. Churchill was $3,027,300,000, the difference of $864,100,000 being apparently accrued interest. Estimating the original debt of the French to the United States at $3,340,500,000, the experts said that if Washington were to charge the same rate of interest on arrears as the British the American charge would reach $1,336,200,000 instead of the $870,050,000 the treasury has calculated is due.

Speed Up Funding, U. S. Plan.

The American debt commission let it be known today that its new program calls for completion of funding arrangements with all war time debtors and submission of the agreements for approval at the December session of congress.

Both France and Italy have given assurances of their willingness to negotiate settlement of their obligations this fall, while Czechoslovakia and Greece have been brought into line by the commission's stand for immediate action. The Esthonian and Latvian ministers are now holding conversations with the commission.

NEW BIG FOUR RECORD.

UNION, OWNERS AGREE ON TERMS TO SAVE MINES

10,000 Maintenance Men to Stay on Job.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Anthracite operators and miners, after a twenty-four hour deadlock, today agreed on terms under which 10,000 pumpmen, engineers, electricians, watchmen, and other maintenance men will remain on duty in the mines during the suspension which the union last night ordered for Sept. 1.

Union leaders at once mailed a supplemental suspension order to the 325 locals in the region which are rallying points for the 158,000 men involved in the walkout. The order commended the agreement as "an advanced step."

Another Dispute Started.

Meanwhile the mine owners developed another hostile reaction from the miners by issuing a statement of future policy which, according to the union, calls for "a contract in perpetuity and the sliding scale." Their opposition to both was expressed as eternal.

This provocative announcement came from the operators' scale committee in report on the recent negotiations. It said:

"Your committee recommends that the operators maintain a stand for arbitration of the present differences to prevent a recurrence of interruptions. It believes that any settlement effected should be of a permanent nature, providing for a readjustment of the wage scale from time to time."

Miners Win One Point.

The agreement on maintenance men was reached by the anthracite board of conciliation. The miners won a pledge from the owners that where regular maintenance men were available their places would not be filled by others. The arrangement also provides that normal conditions obtaining during past suspensions should be made the basis for settlement this time.

Miners have already begun to remove their tools from the pits, according to advices from various centers. Some men were reported preparing to seek work in soft coal fields during the walkout.

COAL PRICE TO RISE HERE

Marshall E. Keig, executive vice president of the Consumers' company, announced last night that the price of bituminous and anthracite coal in Chicago will be advanced from 25 cents to 50 cents a ton on Sept. 1, the variation depending on market conditions.

Mr. Keig said the advances in fuel costs were not being made because of the anticipated strike of anthracite miners next Tuesday. He pointed out that similar increases are made each year on Sept. 1.

Higher than Last Spring.

"The highest grades of Illinois coals are selling this month for $7.25 and $7.50 a ton, coke at $11.25, mine run at $7.25 and anthracite from $16 to $16.50 a ton, asserted Mr. Keig. "Our present prices are from 25 cents to 50 cents a ton over what they were last spring.

"In August, 1922, high grade Illinois coal known as lump, egg and nut sold in Chicago at $10 a ton. In August, 1923, it was $9.25 and today our price is $7.25 and $7.50 a ton. In August, 1923, Pocahontas mine run sold in this city for $11.50 a ton and today the price is $7.25."

Mr. Keig said the Consumers' company has approximately 55,000 tons of anthracite coal in storage and most of it is for domestic consumers.

Says Strike Will Affect Price.

Mr. Keig said the duration of the miners' strike, called for Sept. 1, will regulate the prices of coal, especially the anthracite.

"There's always a chance for mediation settling scheduled strikes at the last minute," he said, "and until one materializes I don't care to discuss the matter in detail. But from present observations, I can't see why there should be any alarm felt that there will be a fuel famine."

AS IN 1000 A. D.

New York, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Not content with one perilous 73 day voyage across the Atlantic in a 45 foot yawl, three weather beaten, middle aged Norwegian mariners are going to sail back home in September.

Following the path of Lief Ericson (the Lucky) and the vikings, Skipper Andreas Grimsoe and his men drifted into port yesterday in what looked like a nutshell in comparison with ocean liners that churned up the bay.

The yawl Faehtanneta has just a 15 foot beam and a 12 ton displacement. It set out June 15 from Droennoey, Norway, and was lost to the world for 73 days, covering 3,500 miles.

"The weather was rough at times," the skipper said. "Squalls, hailstorms and gales kept up for a month. But we had plenty of hard tack and provisions aboard. There was plenty of opportunity of replenishing water casks by catching rain water in a spare sail. The quadrant we used for making observations is more than 100 years old."

METERING BILL GAINS CHANCE BY COMPROMISE

Propose to Make Small Homes Last Affected.

A compromise offered yesterday under which anti-meter aldermen can vote for the pending universal metering ordinance, averting the threatened reduction of lake water diversion and at the same time placating their constituents, seems to assure the measure of passage at next Tuesday's special council meeting.

Modification of present plans so as to provide that small homes shall be the last metered in the ten year program was suggested by Ald. D. A. Horan [21st] and resolutions directing the commissioner of public works to chart the installations in that way will be introduced in the special meeting with the consent of Mayor Dever.

Last Ditchers Keep Up Fight.

In spite of the harmony move, however, a few of the last ditchers among the aldermen continued to insist that they would strive to defeat the ordinance. The group, led by Ald. Oscar Nelson [46th], John Toman [23d], and Max Adamowski [38th], will fight on the council floor for the appointment of a committee to go to Washington and for the passage of resolutions denouncing Maj. Rufus W. Putnam, federal district engineer, and asking his removal from Chicago.

"If the council adopts the metering ordinance as I have confidence it will when the aldermen realize the true situation," declared Mayor Dever, "the people will be clamoring for meters before half of them are installed.

"All the larger cities in the country are metered and most of the smaller ones, including villages of less than a thousand inhabitants. All are unanimous in praise of the metered systems as economical and just.

"And I have no objection if the council sees fit to provide that larger water users should be metered first—although I do not invite criticism from that source either. I hope such a step, if it is taken, will not be construed to mean that large business interests should pay for a part of the water supply of the small householder.

Fair to All, Dever Says.

"This will not be done, for metering will be just and equitable to all. There is no politics involved in this question, at least not locally, and I am asking the aldermen, individually and collectively, to avert a most serious condition. Chicago's enemies are eagerly awaiting an opportunity to strike a vital blow, and if the permit to withdraw 8,500 cubic feet of water a second for sanitary purposes is ever revoked, we will never regain it."

"Most of the opposition to meters comes from the so-called poorer districts," pointed out Ald. Horan. "And is based on the claim that the metering will result in a hardship on the poorer classes. To eliminate any possible hardships and at the same time overcome opposition based on these grounds, large apartment buildings and other large structures should be metered first. Let the metering of the poor man's cottage or the small flat building be delayed until the end of the ten year installation period."

KING GEORGE FEARED W. J. BRYAN AS ENVOY, MEMOIRS REVEAL

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(AP)—A statement that King George was much disturbed in 1912 by the fear that William Jennings Bryan would be sent as ambassador to England by President Wilson is contained in the memoirs, just published, of Sir Almeric William Fitzroy, who retired in 1923 after serving for twenty-five years as clerk in the privy council.

Sir Almeric, writing under a 1912 date, in regard to a meeting of the privy council, says:

"Morley [the late Viscount Morley, then lord president of the council] found the king very much disturbed lest the new President of the United States should send Mr. Bryan as ambassador to this court, and it was agreed that Bryce [the late Viscount Bryce, then ambassador to Washington] should unofficially be dropped the hint that such an appointment would be unacceptable."

ADD $1,011,198 TO CITY TRACTION FUND CLAIMS

Row Arises Over Income Tax Payments.

Chicago's traction fund's claims against the surface lines mounted to $2,811,198 yesterday when it was discovered that the companies, during the last ten years have paid federal income taxes of sufficient size to make 55 per cent of them total $1,011,198, before allotting the city its 55 per cent share of the net receipts in accordance with the 1907 traction settlement ordinance.

Suits now pending in the Municipal courts to recover $1,800,000 interest alleged to be due the traction fund from the lines, are to be amended at once to include the new claim, it was announced by Corporation Counsel F. X. Busch in a letter to City Controller Martin J. O'Brien.

Thompson Refuses Money.

The pending suits seek to compel the lines to pay into the traction fund the interest which accumulated on the city's $8,000,000 share of the receipts during the latter years of the Thompson administration when the then mayor refused to accept the money for fear of prejudicing his legal battle to invalidate the street car franchise.

Checking the companies' books in preparation for a hearing of the interest suits, auditors discovered that the lines for the last decade, have considered income taxes as an operating expense, deducting them from the gross earnings, when, according to Mr. Busch, they should have been paid from the company's 45 per cent of the net divisible receipts.

The 1907 traction ordinance, the corporation counsel points out, provides that, among other things, all operating expenses as well as "amounts paid for taxes and assessments on real or personal property of the companies" may be paid for gross receipts.

Details of Tax Payments.

A total of $1,838,543 has been paid in income taxes by the companies since 1916, the city's audit reveals, in the following yearly amounts:

1916	$ 26,363	1921	116,495
1917	19,691	1922	264,700
1918	89,068	1923	288,436
1919	141,904	1924	409,461
1920	1,277	1925	487,218

Opinions of state Supreme courts throughout the country, as well as rulings of the United States Supreme court, have held, however, according to Mr. Busch's letter to Controller O'Brien, that income taxes are not a tax on real or personal property, but rather an excise tax assessed against the business itself.

Americans Plan $160,000,000 Freight Tubes for London

BY LORIMER HAMMOND.

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The details of an American project to build a $160,000,000 freight subway in London were officially announced tonight.

Two New Yorkers, R. Roosevelt Leaycraft and Luis J. Halle, have been named as the Americans figuring as financial promoters of the organization committee, which is headed by Lord Askwith, former chief industrial commissioner of Great Britain. The new subway, which will be backed with American capital, proposed to link all central railway terminals and all city markets and freight depots.

Promoters Are Organized.

A committee representing the four principal railway lines serving the city are now considering the feasibility of the project. The promoters say that they are already assured of the necessary financial support from a syndicate of American and British banks. A promotion company, capitalized at the nominal figure of $500,000, has been arranged in order to obtain the necessary statutory powers from parliament.

Engineers have drawn up plans for an electrical system of distributing trains of freight cars from a central terminal through underground routes reaching to all parts of the city. It is said that the system will effect a saving of $1,000,000 a day through the elimination of the multiple handling of goods between railroad stations and markets.

London a Crush.

The surface traffic problem in London today is an intricate problem and is growing constantly harder to solve through the rapid multiplication of motors and the narrowness of the central thoroughfares. The freight subway promoters say they will do away with a bulk of the motor haulage through the streets.

A number of notable former government officials are associated with the project, including Sir Henry McMahon, former first high commissioner of India, who is chairman of the organization, and Nigel F. Paton, former commissioner of the port of Calcutta, who is now acting as secretary of the commission.

FERNEKES SOON TO FACE TRIAL IN MURDER CASE

Henry J. Fernekes must stand trial next month on the charge of murdering Michael Swiontkowski, building and loan association official, last March 19, it was ruled by Chief Justice Jacob Hopkins of the Criminal court yesterday.

Fernekes was brought to Chicago from Joliet penitentiary, where he is serving a sentence of ten years to life on various robbery charges. The murder indictment was returned against Fernekes on April 30.

Eugene L. McGarry, counsel for Fernekes, argued that the state had no right to take Fernekes from his Joliet cell and place him on trial for his life, but he was overruled by the chief justice.

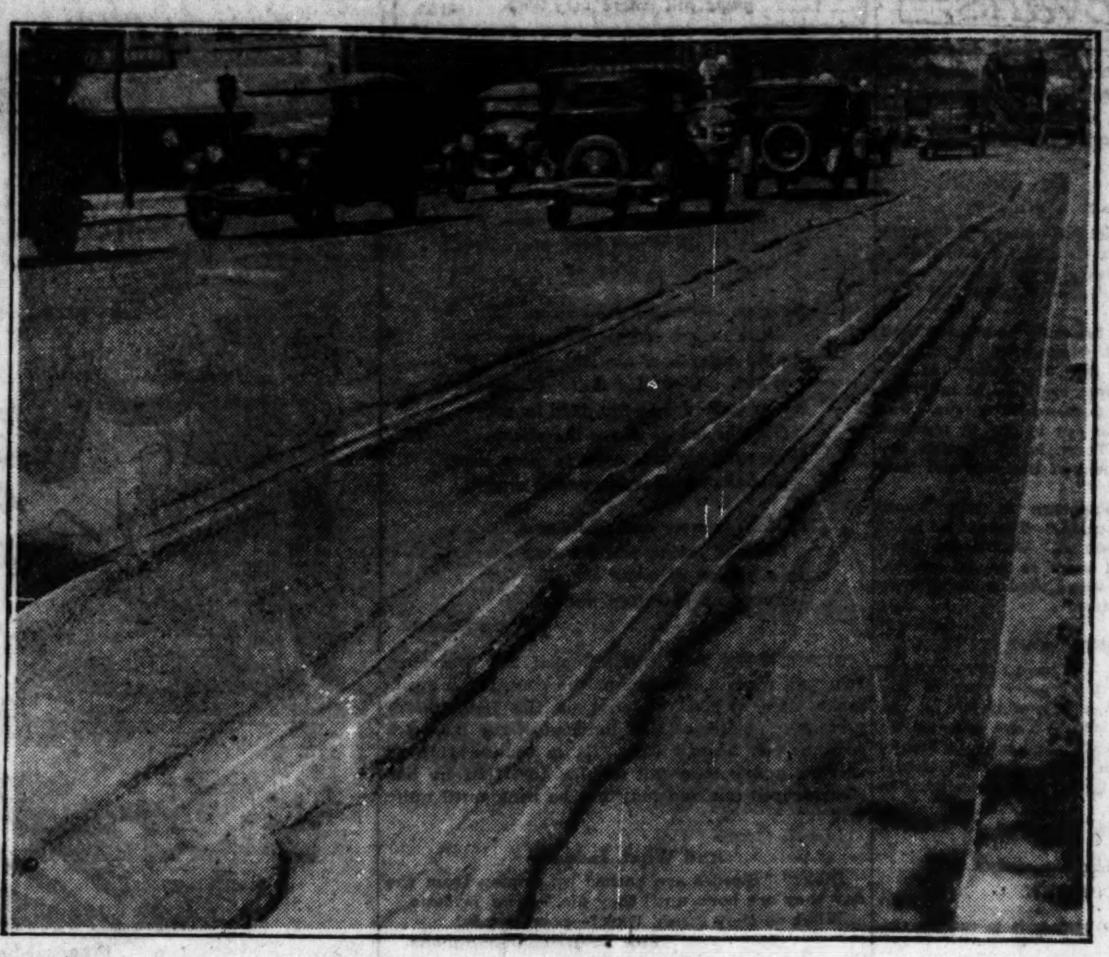
Contractors Loath to Bid on This Paving Repair



The Lincoln park board is seeking bids from contractors for the repair of Michigan avenue, of which this photo shows one section, alongside of the Drake hotel. Heavy traffic has cut the present pavement into deep ruts and ridges. Contractors thus far have been slow to bid on the work.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

REFUSE TO BID ON REPAIRS FOR BOUL MICH RUTS

Park Chief Promises Job Will Be Done.

Paving repair work ordered by the Lincoln park board on the deep ruts in Michigan avenue, particularly in the vicinity of the Drake hotel, has been held up because of the refusal of the four leading paving contractors in the city to submit bids for the construction.

The Lincoln park board at its last meeting, several weeks ago, ordered the paving done. Bids at once were advertised for and the Conway, Black, Tagney, and White companies—leading street pavers in the city—promised to submit bids by noon yesterday. But noon and nightfall came yesterday and no bids.

Hint Objection to Demands.

While none of the park officials would discuss the paving companies' failure to bid, it is understood the engineers for the board made some inquiries and learned that the paving concerns balked at some parts of the specifications which called for a guarantee of the work for a certain period and that all felt their bids would be too high under the conditions demanded by the board.

Harry Klatzco, superintendent of Lincoln park, said last night that no bids had come, but he would make no statement concerning why. He simply said that he did not know why, but that the work had been ordered done and that the board would proceed with it as soon as possible.

"The work is ordered and we'll have to have it done somehow," Mr. Klatzco said. "I suppose the board will get together with the contractors and discuss the matter and come to some sort of understanding."

Bus Company Refuses Blame.

From some sources blame for the damage to the street had been laid to the motor coaches; but, while it was admitted the ruts were made by the frequent passage of the coaches, officials of the motor coach company refused to take the blame.

"It is simply that the paving there is old, thin and defective," one official said. "In proof of this I can take any one to many other places on the boulevards where there is good paving and show the busses have done no damage. Fifth avenue, New York, is a good example. The busses there are narrower in the tire and just as heavy, but the paving has stood up under them for fifteen years.

"We do not make any charges of defective paving against any one. However, we are informed the situation will be remedied soon."

Mr. Klatzco also would not venture to place any blame.

"So far as that goes," he said, "Lincoln park will fix it up and fix it up with a view to making the paving stand up so there won't be any one to blame for anything in the future."

THIS CINDERELLA MARRIED HIM, SO THEY'RE HAPPY

Plainfield, N. J., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Married at 52 to the 15 year old girl who was his own adopted daughter—that is the story which August N. Laggren, wealthy manufacturer of Plainfield, admits freely and enthusiastically.

Alice Amelia Vicarro Laggren was born in New York, the daughter of Italian parents, who died in 1919. In September of that year she was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Laggren. On Christmas eve of 1924 Mrs. Lulu Laggren died.

Alice was legally Laggren's daughter, but on July 29, 1925, Laggren urged her adoption by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert D. Banta of Linden, N. J., and a surrogate issued the decree. Then, on Aug. 7, Laggren and Alice Amelia were married. Laggren bought her a magnificent trousseau and took her to Saratoga for the honeymoon.

"Yes, I'm happy," Alice said today. "My daddy-husband is the best man alive."

DAWES VISITS HOME OF ANCESTORS; VIEWS HISTORICAL PAGEANT

Mauston, Wis., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Vice President Charles G. Dawes here today to visit the early home of his forbears, spoke tonight to a large audience at the fair grounds. Earlier in the day he placed a wreath above the grave of his grandfather, Henry Dawes, in Evergreen cemetery.

Mauston was honoring the memory of the Dawes family, which settled here in 1860 and which gave to the nation Rufus Dawes, hero of the Iron Brigade in the civil war, and father of the Vice President.

Tonight Vice President Dawes viewed the historical pageant of the Juneau county fair, which included a reproduction of Gen. Rufus Dawes delivering an address after Fort Sumter was fired on in 1861 and depicting his raising a company of Mauston youths and left as head of the unit.

N. U. TO OFFER POLICE CHIEFS' COURSE IN 1926

Arrangements are being completed to hold a special summer school for chiefs of police next year at Northwestern university.

Chief Morgan A. Collins of Chicago and Chief William A. Wiltberger of Evanston are members of the school committee and expect that 200 chiefs, from all the principal cities of the United States and Canada, will attend.

The course will probably be given immediately after the convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, which will be held in Chicago. Chief Wiltberger, himself a college trained man, said that the proposal to hold a school was enthusiastically received at the 1925 convention in Indianapolis.

Holds 2 Girls as Robbers; Seized After Pal Is Shot

Edna McCarthy and Leona Bell, alleged to have participated in several holdups, were held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Richardson of the West Chicago avenue court. Bonds of each were fixed at $30,000. Both girls were companions of John Getzen, who was shot while he was attempting to rob Sergt. Frank Cunningham of the North avenue station on July 16.

WOULDN'T BATHE IN SEA; MARINE IS GIVEN TWO YEARS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Private George E. Beam, a member of the marine guard at the summer White House in Swampscott, has been sentenced to two years in the naval prison at Portsmouth, N. H., and to dishonorable discharge.

He pleaded guilty of charges involving conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline, being absent without leave for 14 hours; slander, including remarks derogatory to the service; breaking arrest, and refusing to bathe when under arrest.

The original offense, that of being absent without leave, was committed in June. The prison sentence was fixed by a general court martial at 3½ years, but was reduced to 2 by Secretary Wilbur upon recommendation of Maj. Gen. Lejeune, commandant of the marine corps.

Military prisoners are required to bathe regularly, and the charges declared the man had refused to wash in the most convenient place, the ocean, when ordered to do so by his superior officer.

Water Tower Falls When Pressure Gets Too High

Unexpected high water pressure during a test at the Municipal pier caused the fire department water tower, 65 feet high, to topple over yesterday. Spectators and a group of fire department officials were endangered by the crash, which, however, did not seriously damage the apparatus. Fire Commissioner Joseph F. Connery, Chief Fire Marshal Arthur Seyferlich, and Division Marshals McAuliffe, Costin, Corrigan, Carmody, Gillispie, Dillon, and Stahl witnessed the accident.

ANTE-MARRIAGE GIFTS PUT TWO IN TOILS OF LAW

One Is Sued, the Other Goes to Prison.

New York, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—When Charles H. Pope, cotton broker, became enamored of Sybil Thorne, actress, in 1909, he readily signed an ante-nuptial agreement to pay her $18,000 a year. This agreement came back today to plague him.

He found himself accused of misappropriation of $300,000 of his firm's money, of responsibility for the failure of the cotton brokerage firm of C. H. Pope & Co., and of taking the firm's money to give to his wife, even after she had divorced him.

Trustee Brings Suit.

Suit was brought against Mr. Pope by Lloyd Garrison, trustee for the bankrupt firm, and is an attempt to recover assets of the company for the benefit of creditors.

In May of this year Mrs. Pope sued Pope under the ante-nuptial agreement to pay her $18,000 a year.

Sybilla Pope divorced Pope in Westchester county in 1922. Mrs. Pope alleged in her suit that on the day before they were married Pope signed a contract to pay her $1,500 a month. She withdrew her demand for alimony on the promise of Pope to continue the monthly payments. She received payment until October, 1923, when her husband's firm failed. The principal claim listed by Mr. Pope when he filed his bankruptcy petition was $1,007,500, which was said to be a debt to Mrs. Pope on a contract made in 1922 to buy C. H. Pope & Co. stock.

Stole for Honeymoon.

A forty-one year old man in love is not a rash young lover and must be held fully responsible for his deeds, Judge Mulqueen ruled in General Sessions today when he sentenced Frank F. Spencer, a bond salesman, to from two to ten years' imprisonment for having forged signatures to several checks to obtain funds to defray the expenses of his honeymoon and to shower his bride with costly presents.

Spencer had pleaded guilty to second degree forgery. He admitted having fraudulently obtained $3,500.

Several pleas for leniency, including one from Spencer's former employers and one of the victims, were rejected by Judge Mulqueen.

"You are not a prize package and not like a rash young lover," the judge told Spencer. "You wanted this woman and you stole to get her, after wooing her dishonestly. The law was made to protect the public and not to weep over crooks."

U. S. OVERHAULS ITALIAN FLYER'S PLANE AT MANILA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, Aug. 28.—In return for Italian assistance given the American world flyers the war department has cabled orders to army officials here to overhaul the plane of Commander Francisco do Pinedo, Italian flyer who is making a long distance flight from Italy to Australia and return. The army air service will replace the wings, repair the engine and repaint the plane. It is probable that Commander de Pinedo will be deloyed here until Sept. 7. He flew to Kindley field on Corregidor island today.

Police Sergeant Kills His Wife When She Taunts Him

Sergt. William T. Russell of the Summerdale district, who has been transferred three times in the last year, shot and fatally wounded his wife, Mrs. Mary Russell, yesterday afternoon after she taunted him with being a "keystone copper."

The killing occurred in the back yard of the Russell home at 4722 West Monroe street and was witnessed by William Russell Jr., 14 year old son of the couple. Sergt. Russell looked on calmly while the Fillmore police, summoned by neighbors, carried Mrs. Russell to a patrol wagon. Then he handed his revolver to Sergt. John Kerley.

Can't Remember, He Says.

"I couldn't stand it any longer," he said. "Did I shoot her? I can't remember."

Mrs. Russell was 46 years old. She died at St. Anne's hospital a few minutes after her arrival there.

The Russell boy told the police that the quarrel between his parents started while the sergeant was donning his uniform.

"When mother called him a keystone copper he told her he'd slap her face if she said that again," he said. "She went out on the back porch and grabbed a milk bottle. Then she dared him to slap her. Dad took his revolver out and she ran. He shot her twice in the back."

At the home a woman who declined to give her name but shaid she was a sister of Mrs. Russell, stated that the real underlying cause of the tragedy was Sergt. Russell's infatuation for another woman.

"He's been going with her for several months; meeting her after midnight and staying until dawn," this woman said. "My sister trailed him several times and knew all about it. The woman he was going with has three husbands living, too. Wouldn't you think she'd have some sense when she gets that old?"

Tell of Divorce Action.

Relatives of the slain woman added that she had filed a divorce bill against her husband and named the sergeant's elderly flame as co-respondent. The other woman is also said to be defendant in a divorce bill filed by her husband, who has been separated from her for more than three years.

Sergt. Russell, with his head in his hands, refused to talk about the supposed love affair. He was worried, he said. He went earlier in the afternoon to the grave of his daughter, who died last March when she was only 20 years old.

"That bothered me," he said slowly, "that and the transfers. There's too many of 'em."

He was formerly in charge of a squad at the detective bureau. Then he was sent to Warren avenue; then to Austin. In a recent shakeup he was sent back to Summerdale as a uniformed man.

AFRICAN FARMER KILLS FIVE LIONS DURING ONE DAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Aug. 28.—Five lions killed within half an hour was the feat of a Transvaal farmer, Von der Merwe, yesterday within a day's journey of Johannesburg. The farmer, driving a wagon and eight donkeys, camped at night near a stream. During the night there was a commotion and the donkeys stampeded. At dawn he saw a big male lion feasting on a dead donkey 200 feet away. He fired and killed the beast, and immediately a female lion rushed at him. When she came within ten yards of him he shot her through the head. Then he began to search for the missing donkeys. He found three lions feasting on one and killed all of them.

Ten minutes after two aviators, flying over Chicago from Camp Grant to Dayton, O., had snapped a photograph of The Tribune Tower from the air, the finished picture, enclosed in a tube, was picked up on the Lincoln park golf course by Prosper Semey, 13 years old, 520 Cornelia avenue.

Lieut. G. W. Goddard and Dr. S. M. Burka took the photograph and developed it in seven minutes. The print was dropped in a tube attached to a small parachute.

MRS. MORGAN'S ESTATE GOES TO HER 4 CHILDREN

Will Visions Possible Loss of J. P.'s Riches.

New York, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The will of the late Jane Norton Morgan, wife of the financier, J. P. Morgan, filed for probate today in Mineola, N. Y., bequeaths the bulk of her property to her four children and the remainder to her husband. No other bequests are made. The value of the estate was not given. Mrs. Morgan died Aug. 14 of sleeping sickness.

All personal property and $150,000 each is bequeathed to the children, Henry Sturgiss Morgan, Junius Spencer Morgan, Mrs. Frances Tracey Pennoyer, and Mrs. Jane Norton Nichols. Mr. Morgan receives certain property in England.

Accedes to Husband's Wish.

"I should like to have given everything I possess to my dear husband," the will reads, "but he prefers that I should only leave him my property in England known as the Wall Hall estate, formerly Aldenham Abbey, and other real property in the county of Hereford, and also the use, during his life, of my household effects in the United States."

Mrs. Morgana expressed the wish that her husband, on his death, would leave the property to their two sons. "This is not intended," she wrote, "to restrict his absolute ownership or right of disposal of the property."

Feared Fortune's Loss.

Another paragraph reads: "I make this provision for our children and their issue feeling that if, through unforeseen circumstances, my husband should be in need they will share with him the property derived from me."

Mr. Morgan and the two sons are named executors.

DEFENSE UNDER, ON AND ABOVE THE SEA.

Rear Admiral W. S. Sims, in a letter appearing in the Aero Digest, says that even hard boiled battleship men know that battleships cannot escape disablement if the enemy has control of the air. He says they might limp into port and not be sunk, but they could not be fought if the enemy were overhead. Of two otherwise equal fleets the one with the air force which can control the air will win.

The opinion of Admiral Sims deserves consideration. He is a sailor. He was trained to fight battleships and to regard them as the decisive factor in naval warfare. Col. Billy Mitchell is an air man. When he says that battleships cannot resist airplanes he is talking as as air enthusiast, just as a battleship man talks as a battleship man when he says Mitchell is crazy.

Admiral Sims says that an airplane carrier making thirty knots can put a twenty-two knot battleship out of action. It may require the next naval battle to determine the relation of air to surface craft, and the victor will be the one who has not been caught guessing wrong. There is no need of the United States guessing wrong. It may be that the battleship will be found obsolete, but so long as other sea powers have them the United States should have them, and it should be prepared to have control of the air over these battleships, which will not be bombed if their own planes keep the enemy's planes away from them.

Admiral Sims' opinion is weighty because of his experience. He commanded the American fleet in action. Many of us civilians are excogitating theories. THE TRIBUNE's policy, bearing in mind the inexpertness of its source, is that the United States should never be found to have guessed wrong or to have been outguessed. The country is rich enough to make its naval defenses complete, with a fleet able to take care of itself under, on, and above the water.

DR. ANDREWS AND THE REDS.

The pretext given by the Mongolian mission at Moscow for the expulsion of Roy Chapman Andrews is not to be taken seriously. Urga and outer Mongolia are entirely under the control of Moscow, although the bolshevik government makes an effort to conceal the fact for political reasons. Therefore the order is a product of the bolshevik mind and the excuse given, that Dr. Andrews has been using or permitting his expedition to be used as a cover for British military or diplomatic espionage, may be a sincere expression of bolshevik suspicion and ignorance or merely a pretense. But any one who knows Dr. Andrews, or even the type of man of which he is so distinguished a representative, knows that he is not messing in international politics and would not compromise his position as a scientific investigator by involving his expedition in any extraneous enterprise.

Dr. Andrews is a naturalist of high attainments, and as an explorer in this field, notably in Asia, is perhaps without a peer. In the world of science he is a conspicuous and greatly honored man, and men of learning listen to him with attention and respect. All that is against him at Moscow. The bolsheviks have killed, imprisoned, starved, and exiled many of the Russian men of learning, so, logically, they have no willingness to let an alien man of science enter a region dominated by them to win new laurels. No light is wanted by the proletarian dictatorship, so called, except what is let in by the window of orthodox Marxism or rather bolshevik fundamentalism.

The expulsion of Dr. Andrews is a blow at human progress in knowledge, though it is to be expected that eventually scientific inquiry will be resumed in Mongolia when bolshevik fanaticism has been expelled from Urga, if not from the Kremlin. It is a pity to have Dr. Andrews' skillful and brilliantly successful work interrupted in a district which already has yielded remarkable additions to our knowledge of prehistoric life and promised discoveries which might be revolutionary. But we must expect that the hostility of bolshevism to free inquiry, science, and the higher interests of civilization will continue wherever the authority of Moscow reaches.

MAKE THE CROSSROADS SAFE.

A letter to the Voice of the People suggests separating the grades at important highway crossings in the country. The writer says the congestion of traffic on the highways can be attributed largely to the narrowness of the roads, but also to delays at the crossings.

With this judgment we are in hearty agreement. The cost of elevating one road for the short distance needed to cross another is not great, and the saving in time, gasoline, and the wages of traffic policemen would more than justify the expenditure. Especially the matter of safety is to be considered. Many lives will be spared if collisions at crossroads are made impossible.

Elevating the roads may cause some inconvenience to horse drawn traffic. The difficulties experienced by truck horses in climbing the approaches to the old bridges in Chicago will be recalled in this connection. It was necessary in slippery weather to have an extra team available to help drag the heavily laden trucks up the inclines. The proportion of horse drawn traffic on the country roads is now so small, however, that it would be unwise to determine a road building policy in the interest of a team owner. An easy slope, of course, offers no problem to the driver of the automobile with its gear shift.

The cost of separating the crossing levels and constructing the ramps to connect them should be considerably less if the work is done when the roads are laid. We commend our reader's suggestion to the state highway bureau.

THE COAL STRIKE.

President Lewis of the mine workers' union has ordered all hard coal miners to strike on Sept. 1. Now is the time for all good commentators to shake their heads and proclaim, "This is no time for a strike."

However, we refrain. If ever a strike came at the right time, this one is it. The stocks of hard coal above ground are unusually large and if ever there were plenty of substitutes for hard coal available, it is now. Thousands of householders will delay no longer in installing oil burners. Coke and soft coal are available in large quantities and much of the soft coal is being produced in the nonunion fields of the south. They aren't going to have a sympathetic strike in West Virginia.

A strike in the hard coal mines is certainly no cause for rejoicing, but it looks as if we could bear it with equanimity. If the operators and the miners suffer from their failure to agree, they will be wiser next time.

MR. GARY'S PRIVATE AFFAIR AND OTHER PEOPLE'S.

Mr. Gary of the steel corporation has refused to see or talk to reporters who wanted to ask him if liquor was served at his table and to his guests at home. The Association Opposed to Prohibition has intimated that the Gary residence was not dry. That started the inquiries which Mr. Gary declines to satisfy.

To one inquiring reporter he sent out word that he would not "discuss personalities" and consequently would not tell whether he takes or serves drinks at home. Mr. Gary in that said a lot. He said more than he would have if he had answered categorically. He said, as plainly as meaning can attach to his phrases, that whether he drank or not or served liquor or not was his own business and the concern of no one else.

Mr. Gary applies that admirable principle to himself and his home but it's much too good for his workers. He is a great prohibition enforcer for other people. He wants his employés to be dry. He and the Rockefellers and other men of great wealth have given their cash and their opinions to the dry cause and whenever there is a prominent meeting to consider law enforcement, meaning prohibition enforcement, some of these rich men will be there with exhortations.

Mr. Gary's habits would be his own business if he permitted other people to have the same privileges and freedom. The essence of prohibition is that the custom of the Gary family life is the government's business. He says that it is the government's business to say what one of his hot, sweating, thirsty mill workers shall drink after eight or ten hours in the heat of making steel. It used to be twelve hours. A steel worker knows what a thirst is and beer, lots of it, touched the spot.

Mr. Gary has a maxim among a dozen others he found on a shelf that one should work hard, but not too hard and not too long. He was a long time applying that to the steel mills. He has been asked to name a prohibition enforcer for the Pittsburgh district and he probably will be glad to do so. What applies on Long Island does not apply in steel towns.

THE BOY AND HIS BIKE.

Two boys, riding bicycles on Chicago streets, were killed in a day by automobile trucks. This led Coroner Wolff to issue a warning to parents to forbid their children to ride bicycles on streets crowded with traffic.

The warning is a useful one. It should have been accompanied by another to motorists to drive with extreme caution when approaching boys on bicycles. Nothing—not even the path taken by a fox terrier down a country road—could be more erratic than the course of the boy on his bike. He may be counted upon to fall off, or change speed or direction at exactly the moment when there is no reason for him to do anything of the sort.

The motorist who wishes to avoid the anguish of injuring a child will take warning. He will drive slowly behind the boy on the bicycle, and whenever possible will give him a wide berth.

Editorial of the Day

ANYWAY, KEMAL DIVORCED HER.

[Kansas City Star.]

The world has not been informed as to the reasons why Mustapha Kemal Pasha, president of the Turkish republic, divorced his wife, which he seems to have done by executive proclamation or some such simple process. Mme. Latife Hanoum, the wife in question, for she seems to be a Lucy Stone Leaguer and bears her own name, has been regarded as a feminist, and maybe that was the trouble.

She believed Turkish women should be permitted to eat at the same table with men, and seems to have won her husband over to that view. In fact, there was quite a wave of feminism in Turkey following the marriage of Kemal and Mme. Latife; many Turkish women got out after dark for the first time in their lives and some of the more boldly progressive—the lunatic fringe that attaches itself to all forward looking movements—had the hardihood to show their faces on the street without veils.

It is possible—one can only speculate, of course—that the brazenness of the feminist movement produced a reaction. That is often the case when reformers get to going too fast. The spectacle of women flouncing into a dining room and plumping themselves down at table in the company of men must have been shocking to the Turkish mind. It must have seemed very unladylike in a country where formerly the sight of a woman, even with a sack over her head, caused a good deal of talk. We can understand how friends of Kemal must have come to him and said, "Look here, old man, don't you think the women are getting a little out of hand?"

We suppose Kemal spoke to Mme. Latife about it, and it may be that she informed him, with a toss of her head, that the next step in contemplation was for women to bob their hair. Wives are likely to retort that way when spoken to by their husbands. She may also have told him she had her own career to think of—wives sometimes make that remark just before bursting into tears. Being Turkish and a Tory at heart, Kemal may have lost his head and told her a wife's place was in the home. After that we guess you know what happened.

WHAT YOU KNOW THAT AIN'T SO.

At the Boston meeting of the American Public Health association Dr. Chapin contended that folklore about food, health, hygiene, and ways of living had contributed nothing of value to the sum total of accurate information. Nothing had counted except the piling up of accurate observed facts until enough had been accumulated to base a science on.

Dr. C. E. A. Winslow took the other side of the argument. He told of certain folklore notions which had served as guides for the conduct of men for centuries, even though there was no scientific basis for them. Eventually it was found that the folklore material was correct as a guide for human conduct. The discovery of means of exact measurement had supplied the carefully observed facts out of which the scientific support of the folklore had been fashioned.

As a matter of fact, both of the scientific gentlemen were right and both were wrong. A man who had tried out many of the folklore legends and found them wrong and misleading could justify himself in denying them any value. On the other hand, another man could find support for the theory that all folklore is founded on observations and that some of these folklore notions are true, even though their truth cannot be proven.

Under the title "What You Know That Ain't So" Miss Logan cites a few which tend to support Dr. Chapin's view.

"Tomatoes thin the blood." Tomato juice is blood colored and thin—therefore the legend. There is no basis for the notion. On the contrary, tomato juice is a good food for adults and almost a necessary one for babies.

"Oranges make the stomach acid." Oranges are acid—therefore, they increase the acidity of the stomach, is the theory. There is no scientific basis for this. The kind of acid found in oranges is turned into alkali and carbonic acid. The latter is thrown off by the lungs. The former tends to lower the acidity of the body.

"Milk and acid fruits should not be eaten together, because the milk curdles in the stomach." A high degree of acidity in the milk causes curdling. It was noticed that vomited milk was curdled. The fact is that milk always curdles in the stomach and should do so. Orange juice is now the sovereign remedy for nausea and vomiting. Acids are added to milk to offset its alkali due to lime.

All of the science in its present state is directly contradictory to the old folklore.

"Brown eggs are more nourishing than white ones." I presume this is founded on the notion that the yellow of the egg contains more elements of nutrition than the white does—which is true. But the color of the egg is due to pigment in the shell. There is no relation between the pigment of the yolk and that of the shell.

"Soaking cucumbers in salt water draws out the poison." There is no basis for this superstition. Cucumbers have no poison that needs to be drawn out. The salt wash water used on cucumbers contains no poison.

YOU MIGHT CUT VINE.

B. F. writes: We have a five leaf ivy vine covering the greater part of our porch. Whenever any of us sit on the porch near the vine we are annoyed by an itching sensation and later a breaking out on the skin of red blotches. These blotches last a few days and then disappear.

1. Could these be caused by the ivy vine?
2. If so, is there a remedy?

REPLY.

1. Yes.
2. The simplest remedy is to cut the vine away.

TAN FROM WIND.

S. writes: Which is the easiest way for a person who is subject to sunburn to obtain a tan skin?

REPLY.

Leonard Hill tells of a sea captain who has advised his medical officer on that point. The advice was to stand on the prow of the ship and let the wind tan him. The wind tans about as well as sunlight does. This is especially true of sea winds, mountain winds, and winds blowing over snow fields.

FILLING, NOT FATTENING.

H. E. C. writes: I am anxious to lose 15 pounds as rapidly as possible. Would sauer kraut and tomatoes be a sensible diet?

REPLY.

Sauer kraut and tomatoes are filling, but not fattening.

ALIEN MUST GO BACK.

Chicago, Aug. 24. — [Friend of the People.]—Could an alien girl, coming on a six months' visit to this country, stay on if she married an alien who has his first papers, if she intends later to become a United States citizen? J. W. B.

An alien girl coming to this country on a six months' visit would not be permitted to remain here permanently if she married an alien who has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States. All persons admitted for temporary visits are required to leave the United States at the termination of the period for which they were admitted. HOWARD D. EBEY,
District Director of Immigration.

TENANT BRINGS VERMIN.

Chicago, Aug. 25. — [To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I sublet a flat to a tenant and her lease expires in October. I have already given her a lease for next year and she has signed for it. This is a new house and there were never any bugs or other vermin in it. Since this new tenant has been here they have brought bugs and do not keep the flat clean. We would like to move in there in October and so would like to cancel her lease. Can we do so? If we don't get the flat it will be overrun with vermin. H. J. C.

It would be difficult to prove that they were to blame for the vermin. It seems probable that they are entitled to insist upon their lease.

OVERHANGING BRANCHES.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—The house next door to us has about ten trees in the yard, all of which are up against the fence. Our side entrance runs right alongside of this fence.

The leaves of these trees are extending over our sidewalk, which is quite narrow, and when we walk by they hit us in face.

Is there anything we can do to have the leaves of these trees cut off on our side? T. J. P.

You are entitled to cut the branches at the lot line.

60 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 29, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—Sergt. Boston Corbett, the man who shot J. Wilkes Booth, the assassin of President Lincoln, was a witness in the trial of Capt. Wirz, charged with inhuman cruelties to Union prisoners when commandant of the Andersonville, Ga., rebel prison. Corbett said the "dead line" was a wooden structure three or four feet high and running twelve or fifteen feet from the stockade. He had seen prisoners killed there when they ventured too near. Bloodhounds were kept to run down prisoners who escaped into the swamps surrounding the prison. The prison was in a horrible condition of filth and the stench was so great he wondered that every man there did not die.

NEW YORK.—In a head-on collision between two trains on the Long Island railroad fifteen were killed and many were terribly injured. The Greenport train ran out of the Jamaica station ten minutes ahead of time and crashed into the Hunter's Point train at full speed. So great was the shock that the trains rebounded from each other two or three hundred feet.

WASHINGTON.—The body of Brig. Gen. Milton M. Crocker, who died of brain fever, was accompanied by a military guard of honor to Iowa, where it will be buried.

FORT LARAMIE.—Advices from Gen. Connor's Powder River Indian expedition are that on the 16th a detachment of his Pawnee scouts discovered, pursued, and killed all of a war party of Cheyennes numbering twenty-five, which was returning from the mail road with scalps and plunder.

CHICAGO.—Jonathan Wilson and Miss Marietta Harlin of Chicago, were married at Camp Douglas by the Rev. E. B. Tuttle, post chaplain.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

WASHINGTON.—There is no longer any doubt that some of the European powers have determined to dismember China and that for some time these nations have been plotting with that end in view.

CHICAGO.—For five hours yesterday, in ranks twelve deep, the white haired veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic passed in grand parade. They marched 22,000 strong before a crowd such as the city has rarely seen that jammed the streets to do honor to the "man with a musket." Notable in the parade or on the reviewing stand were Gen. Sickles, Gov. Stone of Pennsylvania, Gen. John C. Black, Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, the Duke d'Arcos, Spanish minister; Gen. Joseph Wheeler, the greatest of the living Confederate generals and present commander of the department of the great lakes; Gens. John M. Palmer, E. S. Bragg, I. N. Walker, Henry M. Duffield, and Louis Wagner, Bishop Samuel Fallows, Mrs. F. M. Davey, national president of the Ladies' G. A. R.; Speaker David B. Henderson, Govs. Mount of Indiana, Schofield of Wisconsin, and Nash of Ohio; Charles G. Dawes, and Richard Yates.

CHICAGO.—In the eighteenth national convention of the Women's Relief corps there is a heated contest for president, with five candidates in the field. They are Mrs. Mary L. Carr of Colorado, Mrs. Ida Wilson Moore of Kansas, Mrs. Mary A. Doane of Massachusetts, Mrs. Lodusky J. Taylor of Minnesota, and Mrs. Mary E. Hartwell of California.

CHICAGO.—Miss Emma Wait, daughter of Mrs. C. J. Wait, and Philip Jaeger were married at the Lessing.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

GARY, Ind.—Four days have passed since the Rev. Edmund A. H. Kayser was found slain near his parsonage in Tolleston. Police are no nearer a solution of the mystery than they were fifteen minutes after the German pastor's body was discovered. Chief of Police Heintz believes that the preacher's pro-German talk resulted in his death at the hands of a fanatic.

CHICAGO.—Engineer Bion J. Arnold announced that 30,000 American engineers are to be represented in the formation of an organized reserve corps of engineers for immediate service in the event of war. The action is a concrete result of the lessons of preparedness taught the United States by the European war.

LONDON.—Germanic allies are continuing their efforts to smash completely the Russian army. While the Germans in the Baltic provinces under Gen. von Hindenburg are attempting to drive the Russians back to Dvina, the Austro-Hungarians with the assistance of Germans have taken the offensive in southeastern Galicia and have succeeded in breaking through the Russian positions on the Zlota Lipa river.

WASHINGTON.—For some weeks there have been intimations that President Wilson is dissatisfied with Secretary of Commerce Redfield and the belief is growing that the secretary soon will leave the cabinet.

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. R. H. L.

FROM A JAPANESE PRINT:

Still Nipponese and white one,
White as Fujiyama's snow,
As the tumbling dance of lanterns
Which were lit a year ago
For the Festival of Cherries,
For the sunsets long and red—
Though ravished you have been, dear,
Celestial fire is dead.

Now, no longer can I love you,
All lies stark against the moon
As the cedar near the streamlet
Which was rippled that fair noon,
As we walked, two joy-filled lovers,
O'er the bridge above the stream
Where the old men came to weep, dear,
And the young men came to dream.

Still Nipponese and white one,
Old and festive was our vow
In a garden of white cherries
Let it be forgotten now!

SINCE THE DISCOVERY that Mr. Terrance Druggan while a prisoner at the county jail spent much time at his residence on the Lake Shore drive it is suggested that inmates of the jail have regular "at home" days. It is so annoying to call on a friend in jail and be told that he has just stepped out and may not be back until quite late.

And if they all do nicely and talk up clear and loud we will let them be on the first Line Night over the radio this fall and repeat just what they did at Quincy.

AUTOS OF ANGELS.

The "53" bus was still two blocks up Sheridan road. . . . We prospective passengers waited lazily in the happy sunshine.

And then, suddenly (it made one recall a near-forgotten phrase of the New Testament) the air was filled with singing. Great blue and black and silver cars hummed coolly past us, bearing a host of—angels.

"Orphans' Automobile Day Association." . . . The plastered stickers across the windshield gleamed before us a moment and were gone. But they left a rich echo of murmuring little voices and the memory of waving white arms and tiny towheads nodding behind the wind of their passing. Other autoists, too, glanced over the smooth speedway; we had forgotten the proximity of the "53" bus and were all smiling a bit tearfully at the other heads in those machines. Gray heads—and white—and old, old eyes gazing calmly at the ornamented façades roaring away on either side. Somehow, there were flowers and flags behind them. . . .

"Felicite," I said last night, "I saw angels over on Sheridan road today—whole cars full of them, and seraphim and cherubim——"

"You're always seeing such things," she replied slowly. And that made me know she understood.

IN THESE bandit infested days the standing army behind which we seek shelter is the police department. A lot of our defenders have been struck down and this afternoon—and tomorrow afternoon at Soldier Field in Grant Park the police are giving their own show to help the pension fund for the widows and orphans of officers who have died in the line of duty. It's a great cause and it's a great show, too.

That was in the days before the timber was cut and when a white ash breeze wafted your boat gently o'er the bosom of the lake (also produced plenty of blisters). The road you blithely glided over was not always that way. I rode to Phelps on a trunk in the spring wagon and the mud holes and rocks caused me to wear a hole in my best pants. THE RODEO CONCESSIONS.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Several complaints have appeared in your column concerning the charges for soft drinks, souvenirs, and other articles sold by refreshment vendors at the Grant Park stadium during the Rodeo contest held under the auspices of The Chicago Association of Commerce.

In justice to the association may we state that we had nothing whatever to do with the sale of any article at the stadium during the Rodeo. In order to distribute our own program, we were obliged to buy the privilege from the concessionaire who owns and operates all concessions under contract.

LORADO TAFT ON THE GERMAN BUILDING.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—One tragic day, many years ago, I stood with a crowd of people upon the shore of Grant park and saw the infuriated waves of our lake beat to pieces a sailing vessel. Doomed men were clinging to the rigging—so near, and yet there was no power to save them.

Last night I felt the same sickening sensation of helplessness as I stood by the ruins of our once magnificent German building, where a sign proudly announces to the world that a wrecking company is in charge. Solid stone foundations, firm brick walls, quaint carvings, glittering spires—all must go, because Chicago does not appreciate beauty. We are great builders, but greater destroyers. "Sink and burn" is our motto.

Side by side on the same page of THE TRIBUNE are the sketch of the university's new and splendid chapel and the scene of exultant demolition in the neighboring park. What right have we to such gifts when we idly destroy objects equally beautiful which have been confided to us? We mourn the loss of insignificant lives, but care not a whit for the things which make lives significant.

There are a thousand men in Chicago individually able to arrest that act of vandalism in Jackson park, and preserve for us, for all time, the most picturesquely beautiful structure in the west. Will not a hand be raised in its defense?
LORADO TAFT.

NO RACKS ON I. C. TRAINS.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—The Illinois Central has offered copious advertising space on suburban trains to its traveling public, but no baggage racks at all. I presume, too, that you will find plenty of other offenders besides the Northwestern railroad.

There is a very simple cure for the condition. Decline to patronize firms whose advertisements in the railway cars have caused the displacement of the baggage racks. Knowing, however, the long suffering patience of this species of commuters I doubt the success of your program of protest. ROGER T. VAUGHAN.

FOR A CITY COLLEGE.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—The city colleges of New York and Detroit demonstrate the practicability of universities which are supported by taxes, and which enable worthy students, who are unable to pay high tuition rates, to receive a higher education free. It is true that the University of Chicago boasts of this city as its home, but without detracting from the merit of this great university, it is in no sense a city college.

Chicago has an excellent start towards a much needed city university in the tax supported Crane Junior college, located at Jackson and Oakley boulevards, but this is merely a two year college despite the efforts of the faculty and students to have the school changed to a four year institution.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 24.—A Spanish-American war veteran wrote me a letter inclosing the editorial in THE TRIBUNE of Aug. 17, entitled "A Tribune Memorial to Heroism," and regretted that in proposing to cover the militant periods of American history, covered by the life of THE TRIBUNE, no mention or consideration was given to the Spanish-American war.

The Spanish-American conflict was of brief duration and carried no tremendous battle casualties, but is unique in that it expresses the attitude of the American republic and launched the United States upon its career of international humanitarianism. It was characterized further by the greatest volunteer response to an emergent call ever experienced by any country in history and, involving as it did the remarkable personalities of Roosevelt, McKinley, Dewey and others, constitutes a record of action and achievement that has endeared itself to the hearts and minds of the American people.

This is not written in any criticism, but merely calling your attention to the matter, as there are many Spanish war veterans who feel slighted, owing to the magnitude of the civil war and the great world war constituting, as they do figuratively, the upper and nether millstones of public consideration, between which the valiant army of '98 too often is forgotten.

A LITTLE LIST OF JUDGES.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—Why don't these "political judges" concern themselves a little more about the lives of honest, law-abiding citizens? I am keeping "a little list" of all such judges and if all decent citizens would do the same, and refer to it when election time comes around, it might tend to eliminate certain of these judges—and heaven knows, "they never would be missed."

DEFINING A SNOOPER.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—In yesterday's TRIBUNE a headline called the prohibition enforcement officials "snoopers."

While I am not a prohibitionist, I believe that government officials in the exercise of their sworn duty should not be given such a degrading title as this in the columns of a paper of the standing and reputation of THE TRIBUNE. The headline writer may have been trying to be facetious, but it was certainly not as evidence of good taste.

A snooper is one who goes around trying to find out things without any legitimate authority for so doing, and it seems to me a very poor term to apply to the sworn officers of the government.

AUTO KILLS BOY IN JAM; 2 MORE DIE OF INJURIES

Book Driver on Charge of Manslaughter.

Attempting to dodge through the heavy traffic in Sacramento boulevard, at 63d street, last night, a 7 year old boy was knocked down by an automobile and killed. Maurice F. Gordon, 6519 Newgard avenue, wealthy manufacturer, driver of the automobile, swerved his car into a telephone pole, injuring himself, his sister, and two other girls, in a vain effort to avoid striking the child.

A girl died last night of injuries suffered some hours earlier. The death of a young man was also recorded, due to an automobile accident yesterday, the Cook county motor death toll for the year being raised to 485.

Hit After Dodging Two Cars.

Chester Jurczyk, 7 years old, 2948 West 61st street, was the ninth boy victim in four days. He had evaded two cars in the boulevard traffic when he was struck down. Gordon, the driver, who is owner of the Gordon Manufacturing company, was cut and bruised when the car, after hitting the boy, crashed into a pole.

Irene Proninski, 18 years old, a stenographer, 2039 Hobson avenue, died at St. Elizabeth's hospital last night of injuries she had suffered earlier in the evening. While attempting to cross Elston avenue at Hobson avenue, she was struck by an automobile driven by Hugh O'Neil, 7052 Vernon avenue. O'Neil was not held.

Youth Dies; Driver Booked.

Walter O'Leary, 19 years old, 1641 West Austin avenue, died at the county hospital of injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile driven by William Stankey, 3138 Franklin boulevard, while crossing North Paulina street at Fulton street Thursday night. Stankey was booked by police on a manslaughter charge.

While waiting for a street car at 47th street and Shields avenue, Chauncey M. Jackman, 37 years old, and his wife, Aileen, 27 years old, were struck by an automobile and probably fatally injured. Three men in the car were arrested.

LONDON BANDITS ROB JEWELER IN CHICAGO STYLE

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Apparently jealous of daring exploits of American gunmen, England's brand of desperate bandits staged a regular Chicago thriller at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the thickly populated Bayswater district.

Two men in a motor car drove slowly to the entrance of the John Brilliant Jewelry company in Queen's Ford. While the driver kept the engine going his companion jumped out, dashed across the pavement, and smashed one window with a huge wooden mallet.

Thrusting his arm through the window, he grabbed $10,000 worth of diamonds, emeralds, and ruby rings, and then stepped back into the motor car which soon disappeared, going at sixty miles an hour, before the startled proprietor and his clerks and a number of customers had time to make a move.

JEWELERS PUT $2,000 PRICE ON ROBBER—IF DEAD

Drastic Action the Only Hope, They Assert.

"Two thousand dollars for a dead bandit!"

Following the recent example of the Chicago and Cook county bankers, the Chicago Jewelers' association yesterday authorized that reward for the killing of a highwayman engaged in a holdup of a jewelry store.

Placards with the announcement are to be printed and posted conspicuously in police stations, the sheriff's office, and in other such places.

Fighting for Business Life.

The jewelers took action through their good and welfare committee. As he made the announcement Albert L. Ellbogen, chairman of that committee, said the move had been decided on when it became apparent from the many holdups that the jewelers must fight back against organized crime and do it in a drastic way or be driven out of business.

"It is a move in a fight for our existence," Mr. Ellbogen said, "particularly for the existence of the smaller outlying business men. These have been made a constant prey of the bandits. We have determined to stop that."

Jewel robberies are so frequent the aggregate runs into an appalling figure and insurance rates are prohibitive.

"We have now established a fund of $15,000 a year. There are about 1,300 jewelers in Chicago and the suburbs to support that fund for three years.

Unite to Fight Gangs.

"We realize that the crime rings are organized, we know the gangs and the places where they dispose of their loot—the so-called 'fences.' So we are going out and run the criminals down and send them to the penitentiary. We are going to drive the 'fences' out of business.

"Our fund is extremely elastic—its use is up to the committee. We will employ private detectives when necessary; and we will pay liberal rewards for recovery of stolen jewels."

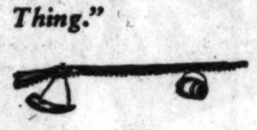
58 Years of Good Furniture

Paul Revere's House

No.1 of Our Series of Historic and Interesting American Homes, emphasizing "The Home Is the Thing."



PAUL REVERE took a vigorous personal interest in making his home artistic and homey. He was a very original and individual sort of person; and all this you can see, carried out in the furnishing of his home.

Wonderful Aerial Exhibition

BY THE WORLD'S HIGHEST PAID EXHIBITION FLYER

LT. HART SMITH

Lieut. Hart G. Smith, winner of the silver loving cup (awarded by State Commissioner of Aeronautics Major Bromberg), at the Great Lakes Aerial Meet, July 4, 1925, in competition with Army, Naval and Civilian aviators, has been specially engaged to give an exhibition of his sensational stunt flying for the benefit of visitors to "IVANHOE" tomorrow.

See his mighty plane, bearing an "IVANHOE" sign, do the hair-raising Emmelmann Turn (a maneuver invented by Lieut. Emmelmann, German ace of the air, to avoid his hard-fighting enemies of the Allied Air Forces). Watch Lieut. Smith Loop the Loop—his powerful plane is the only machine in the West that is capable of making a perfect loop without first diving to gain speed. Gasp as the daring Lieutenant throws his ship completely out of control at the dizzy height of 8,000 feet and lets it fall as it may in the deadly Tail Spin, righting it when but 800 feet from the ground. See his rushing ship Zoom, Side Slip, and Nose Dive—from his aerial acrobatics you will see exactly how the American Air Aces fought the enemy in the Great War—he will attack an imaginary enemy plane, using the tactics learned in France while training as a pursuit pilot. At the St. Louis Pulitzer Air Races over 150,000 people paid an average of $2.00 admission to see the hair-raising Pylon Turn used by the speed planes. Frail, tiny ships of steel hurled through space at over 260 miles per hour, at a height of less than 50 feet from the ground, and suddenly rise perpendicularly to 500 feet as they swerve into a less than right angle turn—Lieut. Smith will demonstrate this turn tomorrow, in addition to his other stunts—and it costs "IVANHOE" visitors nothing!

Things to Know About "Ivanhoe"

Chicago's premier, fine, large community development. Contains 460 acres; room for a population of more than 20,000 people.

Most thoroughly improved property ever offered in the Chicago district.

More than 15 miles of the highest grade concrete-paved streets—much of this already laid, and work on the balance contracted for and under way.

More than 30 miles of broad, smooth cement sidewalks—a great deal completed, and all under construction or contracted for.

To be served by the world's finest and speediest transportation service. 30 minutes from Grant Park when I. C. Electrification is completed, less than a year from now. "IVANHOE" is bisected by the right-of-way of this wonderful transit line.

No home in "IVANHOE" will be more than 8 minutes' walk from the I. C. Station located in the center of "IVANHOE."

Railroad tracks elevated and screened by tree-planted parkways. No dangerous grade crossings in "IVANHOE."

Intelligently zoned for residences, apartments and business. "IVANHOE" owners will always have exclusiveness. Beneficial building restrictions in force also protect values.

Fully equipped Community Playgrounds provided for "IVANHOE" youngsters.

Thousands of hardy young hardwood trees and decorative shrubs have been planted to beautify the streets and parkways of "IVANHOE."

All "IVANHOE" has been seeded and is carpeted with smooth, green grass. 250-acre Forest Preserve adjoins "IVANHOE" and provides a perpetual playground for young and old.

The only truly fine subdivision within such easy transportation reach of the Calumet Industrial District—yet forever divorced from the intrusion of unpleasant surroundings.

Already the scene of great building activtiy—more than a score of homes, apartments and business buildings under construction. Many others contracted for or planned.

Served by an able, conscientious building and financing concern—the IVANHOE REAL ESTATE IMPROVEMENT CORPORATION, under the personal direction of Mr. Avery Brundage, one of Chicago's foremost engineers and builders.

Grand Opening of 3rd Unit

The first and second “units” of this great property have been completely sold. This required only 90 days. (Less than four months ago all of “IVANHOE” was a prairie.

And NOW—with hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of fine concreted streets and boulevards, and winding drives, and miles of concrete sidewalks completed—with a score of fine brick buildings actually under construction—with the fact made doubly certain that “IVANHOE” is sure to rank with Rogers Park, Hyde Park and other basic community centers in importance and desirability—we throw open the third unit of this 460 acre development at unheard-of low prices which are certain to prove an irresistible attraction to the thousands who have already thoroughly investigated “IVANHOE” and who have held back in their decision only through timidity. Now face to face with the do-or-don't choice of making a quick decision or otherwise being deprived of the privilege of buying at all, we predict that there will be a frenzied effort on the part of thousands to secure the pick of the remaining parcels, and that we will be “SOLD OUT” at “IVANHOE” before half of Chicago realizes it.

Tomorrow you can buy a 2-apartment site in the third unit for as little as $900. Business lots, strategically located near the station, may be had for $2,000; others still lower. Choice locations also near the Indiana Avenue traffic stream to the Calumet District. You can secure your choice of “IVANHOE” third unit property for a moderate down payment and take four years to pay the balance.

All improvements, including sewer, water, gas, electricity, 5c telephone trunk line cables, paving, sidewalks, etc., either in or to the put in and paid for by us.

Don't cheat yourself out of a chance to make money because of doubt, fear or prejudice—come out to “IVANHOE” and see for yourself exactly what this super-development offers you. Accept our invitation—bring the family and your friends—at our expense. You don't know your Chicago till you know “IVANHOE.”

Sweet Singers and Peppy Bands

MRS. M. A. RING

HEAR THE BEAUTIFUL “SONG OF IVANHOE”

Mrs. M. A. Ring, known to hundreds of Chicago's music lovers as the possessor of an unusually beautiful voice, will positively appear at “IVANHOE” tomorrow and render her charming number, the “Song of 'IVANHOE,'” specially written from the inspiration of this vast, beautiful new community. Thousands have paid high box office admissions to hear Mrs. Ring sing—tomorrow you may enjoy the soaring beauty of her voice, as our guest—without cost. A treat that every music lover will enjoy—a presentation that will delight every listener.

A lively 7-piece band, the best we could secure in Chicago, has been engaged to play for our visitors tomorrow. Come out and delight in their stirring marches, dreamy waltz tunes, lively dance numbers, and familiar old ballads. You know how fine a band sounds out in the open—hear a fine band in a beautiful place—at “IVANHOE.”

Mr. Louis Lau, the well-known humorist of Burlington, Iowa, has been secured to address you on the grounds at “IVANHOE” tomorrow! This great comedian, with his rib-tickling, side-splitting speeches has thrown hundreds of banquetters into gusts and gales of laughter—laugh with him tomorrow!

For travelers on our Special Trains we have arranged a special surprise—you'll find the short ride to “IVANHOE” on the I. C. or the C. & W. I. is all too short when you begin to enjoy the merriment that's in store for you! Come out tomorrow on any of our Special Trains and share in the fun.

Tasty luncheon and ice cold drinks will help make your visit enjoyable. Come out and drink an ocean of real orange orangeade.

A Feast of Fun and Music!

LUNCH BELL ENDS DARING CONVICT'S URGE TO BE FREE

Defies Police, Kids Crowd, but Likes His Beans.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Aug. 28.—Leon Milcten is a soldier prisoner serving a two year term in Cherche Military prison in Boulevard Raspail, in the heart of the Latin quarter. At 6 a. m. today Milcten picked the lock on his cell, made his way to the roof through a toilet and went up a drain pipe hand over hand. A sentry, bayonet fixed, patroling the low wall around the prison, was attracted to the roof when passersby noticed the convict and gathered to watch his antics. There were many American tourists and art students in the crowd.

The guard was called out and firemen summoned, but when they attempted to hoist ladders to reach the prisoner, he wrenched loose roof tiles, threatening to hurl them and to leap to the street, sixty feet below. Removing his shirt, Milcton tied it to the chimney like a flag of truce and then tore loose the tip of the lightning rod and brandished it like a spear.

Smokes Peace Cigarets.

Unwilling to risk the lives of the men or to cause the prisoner's suicide, the authorities started a siege. Milcten's cell mate was sent to the roof to coax his pal to descend with cigarets, but Leon merely smoked a couple of packages, sitting tight.

"I want to see the Eiffel tower lighted up with the automobile advertisement," he apologized.

The semi-nude prisoner strolled catlike to a precarious position, kidding the growing throng in the street below.

At noon the bugle sounded in the prison below announcing lunch. "What is there to eat today?" Milcten asked of his pal.

"There are so delicious white beans—haricots—and that charming ragout of monkey-singe, with half a liter of beautiful strong red Algerian wine, my little one," replied his cell mate appealingly.

"A double ration of that elegant Pinard for thee, old dirty one," the guards added enticingly.

Sees His Lights.

The prisoner's mouth watered and he said:

"May it be I may come up when it makes dark to see illuminated that grand tower Eiffel, with that so remarkable electric sign about which in the newspapers I read so much," parried the prisoner.

"Sure, we'll take you up there tonight," soothed the guards, and, amid a tremendous outburst of cheers from the crowd, the half clad prisoner descended.

After the keepers got the would-be escaper in a straitjacket, a couple of socks on the jaw revealed to him more stars than the electric lights on the Eiffel tower.

D. H. GREEN, HAT IMPORTER, HELD IN CUSTOMS CASE

New York, Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Charged with having defrauded the government out of more than $100,000 in customs duties through alleged undervaluation of imported hats, David H. Green, head of the firm of D. H. Green & Co., Inc., of 230 5th avenue, was arrested today when the Cunarder Mauretania arrived at its pier.

Mr. Green was held by United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter in $15,000 bail for a hearing. The importer had been abroad on one of his regular buying trips in Austria and Italy. He took his detention calmly and denied undervaluation of the hats.

A representative of Mr. Green's office said the stock and records of the firm had been ransacked in a raid by federal agents yesterday.

LOW WATER IN WELLAND CANAL TIES UP TRAFFIC

St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Owing to the prevailing east wind in Lake Erie and the diversion of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago, traffic on the Welland canal has been tied up for nearly 24 hours because of low water in the channel at the aqueduct at Welland and the guard lock at Thorold. Last night there was only 12½ feet on the floor of the aqueduct, the lowest on record.

GETS WARRANT FOR YELLOW KID IN CHECK CASE

Once again the golden tongue of Joseph "Yellow Kid" Weil has failed him. Yesterday Robert M. McNair, 19 South La Salle street, swore out a warrant in Judge Immenhausen's court charging the Kid with giving him last November a check for $300 which came back from the bank with the stamped letters added: "N. S. F."

Mr. McNair said he had been patient with the Kid. On several occasions in the luxurious suite of the confidence man in the Shenandoah hotel, which he owns, Weil talked McNair into the belief the check would be made good. After several times being lulled into a belief that the Kid meant what he said, Mr. McNair had recourse to the law.

AURORA RODEO IS DENOUNCED BY WOMAN AS CRUEL

Mrs. Mary Cavanaugh, who says she is secretary of the Anti-Vivisection and Anti-Cruelty society of Chicago, created a commotion at the rodeo contest at Aurora yesterday when she rose from her seat in the grandstand and denounced the exhibition as cruel.

She took exceptions to announcements that the rodeo had been received favorably in England, and when she answered with a hiss an offer to prove that ten of the Aurora contestants had performed at Wembley, England, the crowd jeered her until she subsided.

Today will lend the fair, and record crowds are looked forward to. A head-on collision of railroad engines will be the feature.

JAPANESE ARMY BUDGET SHOWS LARGE INCREASE

TOKIO, Aug. 19.—[(AP) Correspondence.]—The war department has forwarded to the department of finance the army budget estimate for the next fiscal year, totaling 215,000,000 yen, which represents an increase of approximately 15,000,000 yen over the amount in this year's budget. The estimate did not take into account some new enterprises, which recently were approved by the war department for next year, the approval having come too late to go into the budget. (A yen is now worth 41½ cents.)

The increased amount is to be distributed generally as follows:

For increased pay of officers of the lower ranks, 3,450,000 yen.

For the improvement of educational equipment, 400,000 yen.

For the improvement of the army sanitary system, 200,000 yen.

For repair work on barracks, 500,000 yen.

Financial aid for reservists' organizations, 500,000 yen.

Expenditures for enforcement of new army regulations, 1,500,000 yen.

Repairs and new water works and drainage systems, 4,750,000 yen.

Rerouting of several surface car lines as a result of the closing of the Adams street bridge for a new $2,000,000 structure, was announced by Guy A. Richardson, vice president of the traction company yesterday. The new bridge is expected to be completed within 15 months.

In the meantime Harison-Adams cars, eastbound, will operate north in Clinton street to Monroe, to Dearborn, to Adams, and westbound in Adams to Franklin, to Monroe, to Clinton, to Adams, and thence west over the regular route.

Blue Island avenue cars eastbound will operate as at present in Clinton street to Monroe, to Dearborn, to Adams, and westbound in Adams to Clinton, to Franklin, to the Van Buren street tunnel, west to Clinton, and thence south.

Van Buren street cars will operate north in Clinton to the Van Buren street tunnel, east to Franklin, north to Adams, and thence on the present route.

VON HINDENBURG GIVES UP VISIT TO LUDENDORFF

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—(AP)—President von Hindenburg, during his stay in Bavaria, fully intended to make a visit to Gen. Ludendorff, it was learned in official circles today, but changed his plans for political reasoins.

The visit originally was planned as a private reunion of old war comrades, but when Gen. Ludendorff's partisans heralded it as having political significance, the president informed his old colleague, now leader of Bavarian reactionaries, that because of the possibility of exciting public opinion he had decided to cancel the meeting.

The Berliner Tageblatt, commenting on the incident, says: "President von Hindenburg's renunciation of the visit offers further evidence of the president's correct conception of his official position."

PRINCESS ILEANA OF ROUMANIA TO WED DUKE OF APULIA

LONDON, Aug. 28.—[United News.]—Queen Marie of Roumania seems to have been bunkered in her drive to marry off three beautiful daughters to kings or to men who probably would become kings. Elizabeth, the eldest of the three Roumanian princesses, married luckless King George of Greece, and was chased with him into exile when Greece became a republic in 1922. Princess Marie, the second daughter, is the queen of Jugo-Slavia, whose king is Alexander.

Princess Ileana, the prettiest of the three and just 16 years old, must be content with life as a mere duchess.

Her engagement to the duke of Apulia, who is the son of the duke of Aosta, and therefore related to King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, has been announced in Venice. The duke is 26 years old and a major of artillery.

BANKS WILL LET STINNES HEIRS GET $28,000,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—Liquidation of Hugo Stinnes' indebtedness which leaves a small balance for the family is assured, according to a communique issued by the representatives of the great banks which have the affair in hand.

According to the communique, $112,000,000 remain unpaid, with resources possible to realize on, even in these difficult times, $140,000,000. About $55,000,000 already is assured through an agreement with the syndicate which purchased the mining interests to take over the Stinnes property, if necessary and to sell the famous old mine to clear the indebtedness. The syndicate paid $25,000,000 for the other Stinnes mining interests and Rhine coal fleet, agreeing to bring the total to $80,000,000, if necessary, and include the "family" mine.

Anything remaining over the creditors' claims would then be paid to the Stinnes heirs from the stockholding company which will operate the mines.

TONGS APPOINT 2 UMPIRES TO SETTLE DISPUTE

Another of the recurrent tong wars has apparently been settled, and Chicago's Chinatown, after a brief flareup, has gone back to its peaceful ways.

At a meeting held at New York yesterday it was agreed that the Hip Sing and On Leong tongs will maintain a truce until Monday. In the meantime arbiters are to investigate and determine whether the Hip Sings violated a treaty by soliciting members in territory assigned to the On Leongs.

District Attorney Benton and the chairman of the Chinese Benevolent society were appointed umpires with full power.

Court Rules Death Drivers Can Be Held for Murder

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Death car drivers may be prosecuted for murder as well as for manslaughter under a ruling today of Chief Justice McCoy of the District of Columbia Supreme court. The court overruled a motion to quash the second degree murder charges against a Negro couple growing out of the killing of a nun here several months ago.

2,000 COLORED MEDICAL MEN CLOSE MEETING

Two thousand Negro surgeons, physicians, dentists, and pharmacists from all parts of the country, who have been in Chicago since Tuesday attending the thirtieth annual convention of the National Medical association, closed their sessions last night.

Sessions were held at Wendell Phillips High school and clinics at Provident and Wilson hosiptals. More than 200 persons were treated free of charge in the clinics.

Officers of the association last night declared the convention program had covered a wide range of subjects and had been one of the most successful ever held.

The association adopted resolutions praising the convention facilities of Chicago and the opportunities given to Negroes in the city.

Masonic Rites Mark the Burial of Charles P. Crane

Funeral services were held yesterday under Masonic auspices at Harvard Congregational church for Charles Phelps Crane, supreme treasurer of the North American Union, who died at his residence, 925 Home avenue, Oak Park, Monday. Burial was in Forest Home cemetery, the last rites being performed by Ashlar lodge, No. 308, A. F. & A. M., of which Mr. Crane was a past master. Mr. Crane was publisher of Crane's Masonic Circular. He is survived by his widow, his mother, six children and one sister.

BANCROFT LAID TO REST BESIDE WIFE, PARENTS

Galesburg Pays Its Final Tribute to Son.

Galesburg, Ill., Aug. 28.—(AP)—The body of Edgar A. Bancroft, late ambassador to Japan, ended its long trip from the orient today, and now rests in Hope cemetery, in the family lot where his wife and parents are also buried.

Extremely impressive, though simple, rites marked the burial, after the Congregational service had been read by the Rev. Charles E. McKinley, pastor of Central Congregational church here, acting president of Knox college, and fellow trustee of Mr. Bancroft on the Knox college board of trustees for many years.

Thanks for Safe Journey.

Following Dr. McKinley, Dr. James G. K. McClure, president of McCormick Theological seminary of Chicago, who officiated at the funeral service in Chicago yesterday, expressed thanks that the body had arrived in safety "by day and by night, over water and land, to this its last resting place."

After Dr. McClure's prayer the flag-draped casket was slowly lowered into the grave, while relatives, members of the Knox college faculty, the Knox county bar association, city officials, and representatives of the chamber of commerce passed by. Flowers, the gifts of many nations, were piled high on the grave.

Toll Bell at Alma Mater.

The special funeral car, bearing the body and a score of relatives and close friends, arrived from Chicago at 2:15 p. m. As the coffin was borne to the cemetery, the bell of Knox college, Mr. Bancroft's alma mater, tolled.

All of the business houses here and city and county offices were closed in honor of Mr. Bancroft, while flags all over the city flew at half mast.

Widow Bequeathed Most of $250,000 Anning Estate

Mrs. Belle Anning, 744 Prospect avenue, Winnetka, will receive most of the $250,000 estate of her husband, Herbert M. Anning, late vice president of the John V. Farwell company, by the will filed in the Probate court yesterday.

GREEN EXPLAINS NATIONAL TAX AND NEW POLICY

Decrease Sure, Surtax, Inheritance Puzzle.

BY SCRUTATOR.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Out here in the ancient forum where the Pottawattomies worked out their statecraft, resides a gentleman who may have a good deal to do with the bill Mrs. Mabel Reinecke will send you next year for your income tax.

The constitution of the United States, which can be printed handily in three or four columns, contains a half forgotten clause to the effect that the house of representatives shall originate all bills raising a revenue.

The house works by committee, and the chairman of the ways and means committee is one of those canny Connecticut products who came early to the land where the tall corn grows. In his law office today, which is the replica of hundreds of other small city law offices in which the government of America is so largely performed, he talked a bit about taxes.

His office is flanked by banks, but the views of this miniature Wall street set amid the waving corn are not exactly those of the street which winds from the perfumed docks of East river to Trinity churchyard.

A Legislative Leader's Smile.

William Raymond Green, chairman of the ways and means committee of this house and the next, which will be one of the most conservative assemblies that ever met under the dome at Washington, discussed some recent utterances of statesmen on taxes, with one of these dry smiles, which somehow always give you the idea that the country is pretty safe, even if you do not agree with the fellow who smiles it.

Said he: "I am slightly amused at the numerous statements lately concerning tax reduction in the sixty-ninth congress, which discuss the subject as if it were something new. Last spring I announced that there would be a reduction, approximating $300,000,000, and my views have not changed. On the contrary, they have been confirmed by the treasury reports since that time. The house wrote the last tax bill, and it will write the next one."

Uchanged in Surtax Views.

Not believing in repeating himself, until he has something new to say, Mr. Green said that a formal statement at this time would be a superfluity. He has already declared himself in favor of a reduction of surtax rates to a maximum of not exceeding 5 per cent.

In the last congress, while not a partisan of the Mellon plan, he favored a lower maximum rate for surtaxes than finally went in the bill, but the law passed followed his ideas as to the rates on the incomes in the lower brackets.

The collections so far under the new law indicate that the number of smaller incomes within the income tax range increased as well as the fact that the new surtax rates have probably reached more of the large incomes, he indicated.

Open Mind on Inheritance Rates.

On the inheritance taxes Mr. Green's views are well known. He is absolutely opposed to the repeal of these taxes in principle. As to rates his mind is open, of course, but he is not convinced that the present rates have ever had a confiscatory effect, and he is certain that the states alone cannot make effective use of the inheritance tax, because the possessors of large incomes would establish residences in states which levy none, as is the case in Florida now.

The plan to allow a credit on federal inheritance taxes for all similar taxes paid to states, is favored by him. This would prevent overlapping. But the federal inheritance tax which now nets $100,000,000 per year, is imposed on wealth, much of which is made in the west and received and spent in the east, he believes.

INDIANS SLAY MAN WHO TRIED TO UPLIFT THEM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mexico City, Aug. 28.—A dramatic story comes from Huichol Indian country, in the state of Jalisco. Antono Rosas Robles, Huichol Indian, became inspired with the idea of driving illiteracy out of the Huichol country. He went to school at Guadalajara, where he studied primary education. Returning to the Huichol country, he began teaching children. The Huichol authorities warned him to suspend teaching. Robles refused. He was arrested and taken before a council of the Huichol leaders, condemned to death as a traitor to the customs of the tribe, and taken outside the village and shot, where his corpse was found by the Mexican authorities the following morning. The Huichols have always fought against civilization and especially against the education of the white man.

"The Kenworthys" Falls Short of Its Predecessor

By Fanny Butcher.

"The Kenworthys," by Margaret Wilson. (Harpers.)

MARGARET WILSON.

Margaret Wilson's "The Able McLaughlins," which not only won the Harper prize but also was awarded the Pulitzer prize, a great feat for a first novel, naturally has set everybody agog for her second novel. "The Kenworthys" has arrived, and, though it is as earnest a piece of work as its predecessor, it has little of its quality. "The Able McLaughlins" sounded as if it were a true tale, told by a member of the family. "The Kenworthys" sounds like a story told by some one to whom the plot had been told. It has little of the reality of the first book, and it is amateurish.

It is almost an axiom in novel-writing that it takes practice to make perfect, unless the author is telling a story which lives by its own passion and vehemence. Given a plot that is just a little trite—and heaven knows that nine-tenths of the plots are of necessity trite—or one which has been manufactured, as it were, by the author, it takes real craftsmanship to make a good novel of it, and real craftsmanship comes only with the practice of writing novels.

For example, there could not possibly be a more ordinary nor more shopworn plot than that of Edith Wharton's "The Mother's Recompense." In the hands of some one who was not a consummate craftsman, the story would never have got beyond the first episode. But with such almost unsurpassed skill is the book made that it is a memorable achievement—one of Mrs. Wharton's most remarkable fictional accomplishments, for the very reason that her skill is, in it, a tremendous and a beautiful thing. She, for instance, could have taken the plot of "The Kenworthys" and made of it a book that would not soon be forgotten. Margaret Wilson hasn't what they call, in other lines of human endeavor, the "savvy" to do it. She chooses a subtle relationship which at best is difficult, a thing of the mind entirely, and, practically, not at all of action, and she uses on it the same technique which she used on a plot which was all on the surface, with no hidden springs, no machinery quivering under calm surfaces. "The Able McLaughlins" was as easy to write as a school essay, compared to the intricacies of "The Kenworthys," and that because enough things really happened in it to keep the author outside her characters. "The Kenworthys" is purely a novel of the inner life of her men and women, and she doesn't bring it off.

There are a few episodes in it which have a reality, but most of the book sounds as if the author had struggled to write about people whom she did not know. It isn't a negligible book, but it seems to me an ill advised one. It might have been worked over and made a good novel. It certainly is too long, and it has an unnecessarily tragic ending—as if the author had said, "I'm going to make this a realistic novel, and so I must have things come out badly," whereas she has prepared the reader throughout the book for a happy culmination. Miss Wilson is, at heart, a sentimentalist.

Throughout the book she writes a sentimentalized novel and then suddenly turns on the tappet of tragedy, and, instead of wringing your heart, as she undoubtedly intended to do, she makes you feel, even more than you have throughout the book, that she is just writing a story and not really picturing life. If I had been a literary adviser to Miss Wilson, I should have told her to put her Kenworthys on a rigid diet and exercise them until all of the superfluous fat of sentimentality had become the clean, hard muscle of life, before I published the story.

"The Kenworthys" is concerned with the love which a girl had for a boy, and with her marriage to his brother and the consequences which the dormant love had in their two lives and in the life of the son of the brother she really loved.

"Week End," by Charles Brackett. (McBride.)

"Week End," by Charles Brackett, is another of those too sophisticated, too clever bits of fiction. It is a pastiche of smart sayings, one of them occasionally amusing, but most of them just smarty. It is a rather obvious imitation of Aldous Huxley, even in its technique, for it contains, within its general outlines, two tales told by the characters of the story—a favorite trick of Aldous Huxley's, and in his hands, a very successful one, but in Mr. Brackett's not so brilliant.

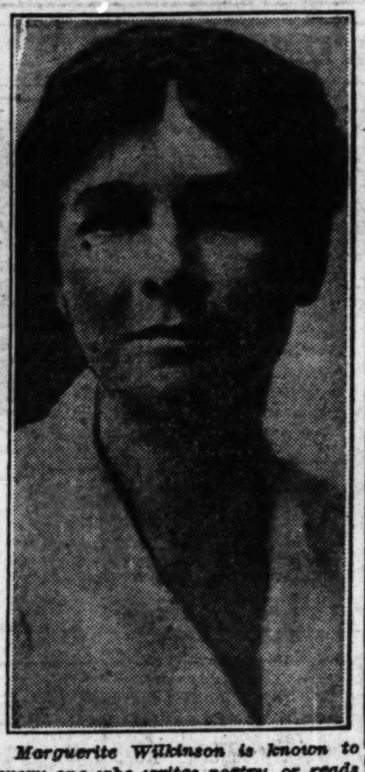
CONFESSIONS



Marguerite Wilkinson is known to every one who writes poetry, or reads it, not only for her own verse but for her "New Voices," an excellent study of modern verse, and her admirers will be multiplied by her new book, "The Way of the Makers." When I asked her what book she would rather have written than any other she replied:

My dear Miss Butcher:

To be covetous of the courteous love, the heroic wisdom, the secret knowledge that made the Fourth Gospel would be sacrilege. The greatest things are beyond desire even for those who besiege Heaven itself with longings. To envy Plato his Apology of Socrates is to be impertinent. You are wise to let us make choice from works that are nearer to us in time and kind. Even so, I am afraid I shall not sound humble, for I should rather have written "Les Miserables" or "L'Homme Qui Rit" than any novels I have read since. To me they are epic mountains with luminous summits, whole ranges of rugged beauty. But if you must bring me back to our own times, I should rather have written "The Candle of Vision" by A. E. (George Russell) than any other prose work of this period. And of the brief lyrics that I know, I could wish to have written "Pandora's Song" by William Vaughn Moody, or "To a Friend Whose Work Has Come to Nothing," by William Butler Yeats. Perhaps I am talking too long. You have tempted me, therefore please pardon!

Sincerely yours,

Marguerite Wilkinson

Les Enchainements.

Henri Barbusse's tremendous novel "Les Enchainements," which is a sort of history of man's inhumanity to man and his struggle of progress from the beginning of time—about which Sidney Dark wrote a few weeks ago—is being translated into English and will be published in the United States this fall by the International Publishers.

Sheila Kaye-Smith Writes with Charm of Her Own Faith

By Sidney Dark.
[English Critic.

SHEILA KAYE-SMITH.

For a few weeks this year Miss Sheila Kaye-Smith abandoned writing novels, describing the life of her native Sussex, to write a charming volume of reflections which she calls "The Mirror of the Months." In it she points out the mystical suggestions which are conveyed by the passing seasons. As is well known, Miss Kaye-Smith is a fervent Anglo-Catholic and this book is incidentally an expression of her own faith. It is written with charm and beauty. For example, she says of the sea in August: "It is all like a painted memory of something once seen; a dream of something once alive. Then a wind goes over the waters and suddenly a point of living light is kindled as the first star shines out in the lifeless sky. The planet named long ago after the goddess of beauty is still the star of the sleeping August sea."

Since the death of Katharine Mansfield, Ethel Colburn Mayne has been without question the most distinguished English woman writer of short stories. Her new book "Inner Circle" will enhance an already great reputation. The stories have insight and style, and are in every respect dissimilar to the popular short story of the magazines. Miss Colburn Mayne has now been commissioned by Messrs. Putnam to translate a remarkable French novel by Marcelle Tinayre called "Love in the Life of Madame de Pompadour," in which it is suggested that the famous mistress of Louis XV. was by no means as black as she has generally been painted.

Liggett's Story of War Called Valuable Book

Gen. Liggett's "Commanding an American Army" has been one of the most popular of the books about the war, and when you have read Col. Judah's review of the book you will understand why it has been. We are peculiarly fortunate in having Col. Judah write about the book for us; because Gen. Liggett praises most enthusiastically the work of the Rainbow division, and Col. Judah was as intimately associated with it during the war as he has been loyally devoted to the Rainbow division veterans. Col. Judah was a major in the famous 149th field artillery before he went, as a lieutenant colonel, into the intelligence section of the general staff of the 42d division. F. B.

BY COL. NOBLE B. JUDAH.

Gen. Liggett is the first American officer of high rank to publish a carefully considered statement of his experiences in the great war and of the conclusions which he has drawn from those experiences. His recent book, "Commanding an American Army," is a temperate and unbiased review of the work of the American expeditionary force in France and Germany. What he has to say is said with the voice of authority. Rated before the war by regular army officers as their foremost strategist, Gen. Liggett lived up to his reputation and commanded successively a division, a corps, and an army in France. His corps, the First corps, was the first to fight, and it was the First army under his command that finished the Argonne offensive. Later, from May to July, 1919, he commanded the Third army, the army of occupation, in Germany.

No American officer carried more of the responsibility of the actual fighting of our forces in France than Gen. Liggett, and no officer is better fitted to give a picture of that fighting.

The first part of his book tells the story of the organization of the A. E. F. and gives his own experiences upon his arrival in France in the fall of 1917. He then goes on with the detailed actions of the First army corps from its formation in January, 1918, up to July, 1918. These chapters are followed by the story of the First corps through the St. Mihiel offensive and the first phase of the Argonne offensive. After giving an outline of the fighting and the results achieved, Gen. Liggett gives his estimates of the various divisions that fought under his command. Unlike the critical judgments contained in the recently published diary of Gen. Bullard, Gen. Liggett's criticisms of divisions which failed to achieve the results expected of them are tempered by his knowledge of the hurried and scanty training their officers and men had received. And when he feels that a division merits praise he gives it in calm and well considered phrases. Praise from such a source is praise indeed. Every soldier of the three famous fighting divisions, the First, the Second, and the Rainbow, will gain additional pride in his unit when he reads Gen. Liggett's summary of their deeds.

The remaining chapters are devoted to the work of the First army in the final phases of the Argonne offensive and to the Army of Occupation. The book closes with a chapter entitled "Some Thoughts Upon Military Matters," and in this chapter the reader will find much to think about if he belongs to the class which has believed that because this country has always been successful in war it will surely be victorious in the next one. After detailing our condition of unpreparedness before and during the whole period of the war, Gen. Liggett ends with these evidently heart felt words:

"There is no responsibility so great as that of the command of men in battle. It is a burden our officers have always found accentuated because of the fact that we have never yet been prepared, as a people, when war came upon us. The enforced direction of untrained or partially trained soldiers in battle, especially against opponents thoroughly prepared, is a frightful thing to contemplate. This responsibility our officers were forced to carry during the World War."

NEWS AND REVIEWS OF BOOKMEN AND THEIR WORK

"Laughing Anne" and "One Day More," by Joseph Conrad. (Doubleday-Page.)

John Galsworthy in his introduction to Joseph Conrad's two plays, "Laughing Anne" and "One Day More," says that Conrad was preëminently a novelist, but that these two plays show "what he did and what he could have done, yet convince us, perhaps, that he was right in not further sacrificing the novel to the drama." Mr. Galsworthy thinks him a much greater potential dramatist than I do. These plays have practically none of the amazing power of a Conrad novel. They might have been written by any number of good writers. They certainly do not sound like the great and incomparable Conrad. By a Conrad enthusiast, however, they can't be passed by.

"Victory," by Baroness Aminoff. (Dutton.)

The fourth volume in the Baroness Aminoff's series of novels centering around the figure of Napoleon has been published with the title "Victory." It covers his ill-fated Egyptian expedition, the dissolution of a hostile Directory on his return to France and his appointment as first consul.

"The Panchatantra," translated by Arthur W. Ryder. (The University of Chicago Press.)

One of the great books of the world, "The Panchatantra" is now available in its first complete English translation. It was done by Arthur W. Ryder of the University of California. There are 86 tales that for generations have been known in European folk-lore. They first appeared several hundred years before the Christian era in the Vale of Kashmir and are a sort of combination of Æsop's fables and the Arabian Nights.

"The Proud Old Name," by C. E. Scroggins. (Bobbs Merrill.)

Every member of the Brown family will be interested in "The Proud Old Name," a story of Mexico and how a young Jim Brown almost changed his name to Santiago Moreno. It has a lot of local color and plenty of shootin' and you know what it's all about, too. It sounds enough like Katherine Fullerton Gerould's "Conquistador" to be its own son, but its author probably never heard of that wee bit gem of a tale, and "The Proud Old Name" has a few more thrills in it, anyway.

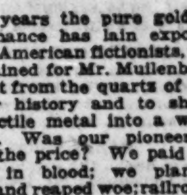
An entry for fame in American literature
PRAIRIE
by Walter J. Muilenburg



FOR years the pure gold of romance has lain exposed before American fictionists, but it remained for Mr. Muilenburg to pry it from the quartz of our pioneer history and to shape the ductile metal into a work of art. Was our pioneering worth the price? We paid for wheat in blood; we planted youth and reaped woe; railroads were built, but they ran over crushed hopes. In "Prairie," with sober detachment, with sorrowful verity, the pitiful human sideshow of the great circus of Progress is exhibited. Two base hits—Peckinpaugh, 2; Sheely, Crouse. Three base hit—Hooper. Struck out—Ferguson, 9; Blankenship, 6. Double play—Barrett to Davis. Time—2:05. Umpires—Hildebrand, Rowland and Moriarty.

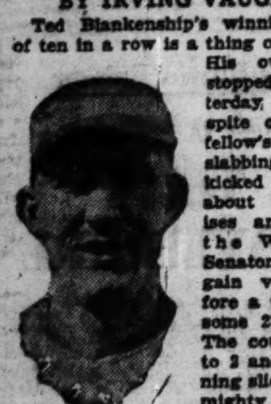
BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Ted Blankenship's winning streak of ten in a row is a thing of the past. His own mates stopped him yesterday when, in spite of the big fellow's consistent slabbing, they kicked the ball about the premises and handed the Washington Senators a bargain victory before a turnout of some 25,000 fans. The count was 3 to 2 and the winning slice came in mighty handy for the "Bucky" Harris pennant contenders, who were thus able to increase their lead to one and one-half games.



BILL BARRETT.

Blankenship was so good that only five hits were turned loose against him, but he also had to contend with a juicy assortment of five errors, four of them around the keystone corner, and it was the latter that let the crippled but courageous world's champions score two runs they didn't deserve. Without those blunders Ted would have breezed through and won on a pair of tallies that blossomed from a hefty three bagger by Hooper in the second inning.

Ferguson Strikes Out Nine.

The Sox themselves had quite a bit of trouble hitting the ball, but, at least, did better than their titular opponents. Alex Ferguson, who has been passed along by a couple clubs as excess baggage, faced them all the way and he had the right handed batters so helpless that some of them chased his sweeping curve almost to first base, nine striking out as the result. Fergy's strike outs, however, wouldn't have done him much good if he had been forced to hurdle the obstacles that sievelike fielding by Barrett and Davis put in Blankenship's path.

Hooper's triple that did the two run trick in the second was a rakish liner that sailed right to the left center fence. It came with Sheely on first base as the result of free transportation, and Earl didn't stop until he had reached the pan. Hooper arrived at the same terminal a moment later when Kamm slapped a long fly to left. After that the Chicagoans could do nothing, despite numerous openings, and the Senators caught up with them on runs in the fifth and seventh and passed them in the ninth by getting a run without the aid of even one hit.

Blankenship Stars on Slab.

Blankenship started so stylishly that nobody hit him safely for four innings. During that time only one Senator reached base and that man walked after a muff of a foul by Schalk had lost a chance to retire him. Bluege broke Blankenship's charm with one out in the fifth by driving a single to left. He tried to steal and was caught but Barrett dropped the ball. Peck, always a bad boy in a pinch, then walloped a double to left and Blue sailed home. The run in the seventh was actually earned, Peck's second two bagger and a single by Ruel doing it.

The disastrous ninth opened with Goslin rapping a grounder to Barrett. The latter booted it into the outfield as "Goose" kept on going to second. Barrett recovered the ball and heaved to Davis in ample time but Ike also was staggering around for some unknown reason and he let the ball drop after tagging the runner. Scott put Goslin on third with a sacrifice and Bluege followed with an easy tap to Davis, who fumbled and let Goslin sneak home with the winning run.

M'TIGUE MEETS BERLENBACH IN YANKEE STADIUM

New York, Aug. 28.—(AP)—An opportunity to win back the world's light heavyweight ring championship, which he lost three months ago to Paul Berlenbach, came to Mike McTigue today and he accepted it.

Within a few hours after announcement was made that Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., would be unable to fight Berlenbach for the title on Sept. 11 at the Yankee stadium, McTigue was offered the match and terms were reached. The bout will go fifteen rounds to a decision in the same ring where Berlenbach lifted the crown from the conqueror of Battling Siki on May 30.

Berlenbach had previously postponed the fight from Aug. 28 because of an injured hand. After an examination by a physician representing the boxing commission, he was found fit and ordered to meet Delaney. Delaney notified promoters an infected throat would prevent him from fighting Sept. 11.

PHILLIES' RALLY FALLS SHORT AND PIRATES WIN, 10-9

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 28.—(AP)—A five run rally in the Philadelphia half of the ninth inning fell one run short and the Pittsburgh Pirates won the slugging match, 10 to 9.

Fletcher's sluggers collected seven hits off Adams and Sheehan during the rally, but Kremer saved the game, retiring the final batter with the tying run on second. Cuyler performed the unusual feat of hitting two home runs inside the park in a single game. No one was on base either time. Score:

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The crucial series for last place in the pennant race began here today with a victory for the striving Cubs over the struggling Braves. Because the Braves' outfielders misjudged some fly balls, the Cubs got some long distance blows and won the first of the five game series, 6 to 4.

Three of the long distance blows by the Cubs did a lot of the business. Two of them were struck by Mike Gonzales, one coming in the fourth, when his pretty drive to right center went for a home run when the Boston outfielders misjudged it. One man was on at the time. In the sixth inning Mike poled a triple to left center, when the outfielders in that territory didn't do their stuff very well, and then Wilbur Cooper socked one to right center for three sacks, scoring a moment later on a sacrifice fly.

Braves Field Poorly.

All four of these runs might have been stopped with more alert and active outfielding, but the Braves seem to have relaxed after playing airtight ball for three days against the Pirates, so the Cubs have a firm hold tonight on seventh place, and will leave here still holding it if they can get an even break in the four remaining games.

Wilbur Cooper pitched a nice game for the Cubs, though tagged for nine blows. He had fine control and kept the hits pretty well scattered. Cooney was on the rubber for the Braves, and also was nicked for nine swats. The three long distance ones were the most damaging.

Rabbit Manages from Bench.

The Cubs did some more experimenting today, with Boss Maranville running things from the bench. Michaels was used at third base, with Freigau again playing first, and Weis replaced Heathcote in right field. The idea seems to be to get a good line on the ability of all the young men now on the roster, so as to know which ones to keep for next year.

A double header is on the books for tomorrow.

Judson Throws Hussane in Season's Wrestling Opener

Three fast bouts featured the opening of the wrestling season at the Star and Garter theater last night. In the main match Frank Judson disposed of Yusiff Hussane with a headlock in :36. Paul Martin flopped Greek Sandow in 13:20, using a toe hold, and Mike Zongolowicz pinned Ted Paulson in 9:02 with a double wristlock in the other bouts.

At New York—King Solomon beat Quinten Romero-Rojas, [12].

At Baltimore—Lew Mayrs beat Jose Lombardo, [12].

SUGGS HERE TO MAKE MILLER 59TH VICTIM

Chick Suggs, the dusky skinned bantamweight of New Bedford, Mass., who meets Ray Miller of the west side in part of the double windup of the boxing show at Aurora Monday night, arrived in Chicago yesterday.

The Massachusetts battler came on from Philadelphia, where he won the referee's decision over Tommy Murray of the Quaker City Thursday night. Suggs knocked his opponent down a couple of times and was an easy winner at the finish. It was his fifty-eighth straight win, according to his manager, who expects him to add another victory to his list Monday night.

Miller, however, is bent on not only winning over Suggs, but is certain he will stop him. Suggs has never been knocked off his feet, let alone being knocked out. Miller will wind up boxing preparation today.

Archie Bell of New York and Connie Curry of Sioux City, Ia., who clash in the other half of the main event, will wind up the harder part of training at Mullen's this afternoon, as will other fighters on the card.

FOR NEIGHBORHOOD TITLE.

A neighborhood baseball feud will be settled tomorrow when the McFaddens and the Saint Peter and Paul nines meet at St. Rita field, 64th and Oakley.

FARM & GARDEN

By FRANK RIDGWAY

ACRES OF WINTER VEGETABLES AT CHICAGO'S FRONT DOOR.

TONS of vegetables will go to waste this fall in the Chicago truck gardening district unless city dwellers haul in their winter's supply to be stored at home in cellars or pits. Along the highways that lead out from the city to the south, west, and north, the fields are covered with late vegetables which gardeners are willing to sell in bulk at an extremely low price to persons in the city who have permanent storage facilities or a vacant spot in their back yard where vegetables may be kept in pits over winter.

The weather has been so favorable that there is an abundance of red beets, turnips, carrots, parsnips, pumpkins, and squashes. There is a good crop of late cabbages where chemicals have been used to keep the worms out of the patch. The recent dry weather has damaged the cauliflower, turning many of the snowball heads green. Cucumbers and tomatoes have been given a setback by the dry weather during the last week or ten days. But in most cases the root crops have come through in fine shape.

Cabbage, carrots, turnips, and parsnips may all be stored in pits, requiring about the same amount of protection. Throw them in pits this fall, cover with a straw layer and four inches of dirt. Pile on more earth as the weather gets colder. Use enough to prevent freezing. The root crops will be dug late this fall just before there is any danger of freezing.

PRINTERS' TITLE TO WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Washington annexed its fourth straight Union Printers' baseball championship when the National Capital Typesetters humbled the Boston Typos, 12 to 3, in the final game here today. It was the sixteenth straight victory that the Washington printers have registered over a four year stretch of tournament competition.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Former Senator Camden's Kentucky colors bobbed into the limelight again yesterday when Jockey Mergler brought the 2 year old Light Brigade-Derna colt Devon up just in time to capture the Pathfinder purse.

JOCKEY D. MERGLER. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

A field of ten juveniles of considerable class was thrown into the feature, and it was one of those races in which the punters were running around in circles trying to center on the winner. The result was that nearly every starter came in for a play at some time or another. Devon was finally backed into favoritism and he ran like a true favorite, coming up with a terrific rush, once Jockey Mergler straightened him out in the stretch. He won by a length from the long shot Torch, with Thunder Shower a half length back and third.

Grabner's Renbarg Beaten.

Frederick Grabner's Renbarg, a recent arrival from Coney Island, was the early leader and gave up a share of the purse only in the last strides. The race was at 5½ furlongs, Devon tripping over the route in 1:06 4-5.

The other events were of the typical Friday variety, all carrying the claiming clause, and there was little class in the fields in most of them. There was a surprisingly large week day crowd on hand and the players profited to some extent when a number of well played ones accounted for the events. Myra M. and Doctor Glenn had both been stoutly supported when they won the first two races, Myra M. turning in her victory easily, winning off by herself from Viking and Tom P. Dr. Glenn came with a belated rush to beat Sun Lady and McCrimmon in the second. There had been some action around Scoop, but he never was a contender.

Mary Dear Wins Third.

Jockey Schaefer had the outsider Mary Dear on top at the finish of the third, the heavily backed Dean H. getting the place and Monastery the show. Dean H. did not start running until late in the stretch and was going fastest of all at the end.

Two favorites were bowled over in the last two races, Wong Bok beating out the choice, Fausto, in the fifth after he had made the pace most of the way, while Sunny Ducrow was in a running mood and nipped the heavily backed Voogeria and June Day as the curtain went down on the last number.

A field of ten juveniles of considerable class was thrown into the feature, and it was one of those races in which the punters were running around in circles trying to center on the winner. The result was that nearly every starter came in for a play at some time or another. Devon was finally backed into favoritism and he ran like a true favorite, coming up with a terrific rush, once Jockey Mergler straightened him out in the stretch. He won by a length from the long shot Torch, with Thunder Shower a half length back and third.

Grabner's Renbarg Beaten.

Frederick Grabner's Renbarg, a recent arrival from Coney Island, was the early leader and gave up a share of the purse only in the last strides. The race was at 5½ furlongs, Devon tripping over the route in 1:06 4-5.

The other events were of the typical Friday variety, all carrying the claiming clause, and there was little class in the fields in most of them. There was a surprisingly large weekday crowd on hand and the players profited to some extent when a number of well played ones accounted for their events. Myra M. and Doctor Glenn had both been stoutly supported when they won the first two races, Myra M. turning in her victory easily, winning off by herself from Viking and Tom P. Dr. Glenn came with a belated rush to beat Sun Lady and McCrimmon in the second. There had been some action around Scoop, but he never was a contender.

Mary Dear Wins Third.

Jockey Schaefer had the outsider Mary Dear on top at the finish of the third, the heavily backed Dean H. getting the place and Monastery the show. Dean H. did not start running until late in the stretch and was going fastest of all at the end.

Two favorites were bowled over in the last two races, Wong Bok beating out the choice, Fausto, in the fifth after he had made the pace most of the way, while Sunny Ducrow was in a running mood and nipped the heavily backed Voogeria and June Day as the curtain went down on the last number.

BY MORROW KRUM.

MRS. E. R. REINHARDT.

White Bear Lake, Minn., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Women's Western Golf crown now rests between Mrs. Elaine Rosenthal Reinhardt, who has held that honor twice, and Mrs. Harley Higbee of Detroit, Mich. These two great feminine golfers will play a 36 hole match for the title at the White Bear Yacht club course tomorrow.

Mrs. Reinhardt defeated Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn of Westmoreland, 1 up in 19 holes, today. Mrs. Higbee, who is the Michigan state champion, defeated Mrs. David Gaut of Memphis, Tenn., 3 and 2. Both semi-final matches furnished thrills aplenty.

It was the match between the two Chicagoans, Mrs. Reinhardt and Mrs. Horn, that provided the main fireworks and drew the largest gallery. When the last putt had been made officials in charge of the tournament said it was one of the most thrilling battles in the association's history.

A Stirring Struggle.

Throughout nineteen holes of golf these players only halved four holes. In addition to that they were never more than one holt apart. It was a seesaw affair from start to finish and it was anybody's match until both arrived at the nineteenth green.

Mrs. Horn won the first hole and the second and third were halved. Mrs. Reinhardt won the fourth, lost the fifth, won the sixth, and the seventh was halved and the match squared. Then Mrs. Horn won the eighth, but missed her approach shot on the ninth and lost the hole. The pair made the turn with the match squared.

On the tenth Mrs. Reinhardt chipped her third shot to three feet from the pin and then missed a putt, losing the hole. But she put an approach shot on the eleventh close to the pin and Mrs. Horn failed to get out of the trap, after she had gone off the tee. Again the match was squared.

Miriam Holes Opponent's Ball.

Mrs. Horn won the twelfth and Mrs. Reinhardt won the thirteenth. For the fifth time the match was squared. Mrs. Reinhardt missed her approach putt on the fourteenth and lost the hole.

On the fifteenth both drove well and Mrs. Reinhardt's approach was just off the green, while Mrs. Horn was forty yards away on her second shot. Both got on in three and Mrs. Reinhardt's first putt hung on the edge of the cup. Mrs. Horn was stymied. She tried to putt around Mrs. Reinhardt's ball and drop into the cup, but failed. She knocked her opponent's ball into the cup, giving Mrs. Reinhardt the hole with a four. It was a bad break for the Westmoreland player. Again the match was squared.

The sixteenth was halved. The seventeenth, a 207 yard hole from a high tee across a good sized lake, was ahead. Both cleared the water and both pitched to the green and Mrs. Reinhardt sank a thirty foot putt for a 3. She was 1 up and it looked as if the match was hers.

Extra Hole Necessary.

Both had good tee shots off the eighteenth and Mrs. Reinhardt took her midiron for the approach. For the first time all day she missed a shot. Mrs. Horn was on in two and down in two and the match was squared again. An extra session was necessary.

The nineteenth hole saw the gallery increased to 2,000 persons. Mrs. Horn drove first and her ball sailed far and straight. Mrs. Reinhardt was to the left of the fairway. Mrs. Horn was short on her approach. And then Mrs. Reinhardt made one of the most courageous shots ever played in a tournament.

Directly in line between her ball and the hole was an enormous trap, a pit about forty feet deep. Mrs. Reinhardt took her brassie and played for the pin. The ball sailed over the trap, landed on the edge of the green, and stopped thirty feet from the pin. Mrs. Horn was on in three and her approach putt went wild, while Mrs. Reinhardt's stopped within a foot of the cup. The match was over, Mrs. Reinhardt winning, 1 up in 19 holes.

Mrs. Higbee Gets Big Lead.

The other match was Mrs. Higbee's from the start, although on the last nine Mrs. Gaut staged a comeback. The Detroit player was five up at the turn and couldn't win a hole on the [illegible] eight, while Mrs. Gaut won two. The match ended on the sixteenth, with Mrs. Higbee 3 up and 2 to go. Mrs. Higbee had a 38 on the out nine, the lowest score on that nine during the tournament.

The final match will start at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

62 YACHTS TO RACE IN REGATTA TODAY

SHELDON CLARK.

Sixty-two yachts have entered Chicago's biggest regatta, which will be held this afternoon off the Van Buren street gap under the direction of the Columbia Yacht club and the Hamilton club of Chicago. The races start at 2:15.

Jackson Park Yacht club, Chicago Yacht club, and Columbia Yacht club, the city's three major yachting bodies, will have nearly their entire fleets entered in the various races, while Kenosha, Racine, and Milwaukee also will have representatives present.

Large Crowd Expected.

Officials are endeavoring to run off the races in full view of the spectators on shore, for it is expected that the largest crowd that ever witnessed a regatta in or near Chicago will be present at the shore line when the initial event gets under way.

Some interesting matches will be seen with Sheldon Clark's Rainbow and Kirkeby's newly purchased Gaviota in the big schooner class; between Kayosh II. and Ben Carpenter's Norwegian yawl Freja, as well as R class yachts, including Nancy, Tomboy, winner of the Lipton cup this year, and Sari, and Q boats, all of which are entrants of the Chicago Yacht club.

Big Cruisers Race.

Thirty-nine motor cruisers, comprising one of the largest known entries in an event of this class, will race from Chicago to Milwaukee today for a trophy donated by Herbert F. Stone.

The fleet will start at 10 o'clock from the Chicago Yacht club quarters in Grant park at the foot of Monroe street. The boats range from 36 to 80 feet in length and are equipped with motors from 40 to 300 horse power.

Following are the entries for the sailing race:

GERTRUDE MAY START MONDAY ON LONG SWIM

BOULOGNE, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Miss Gertrude Ederle, the young American swimming champion, now favors Monday for her second try at swimming across the English channel, providing, of course, that weather conditions are sufficiently good. From tomorrow on she will do only light training work.

Although the sea has been rough for the last few days, the weather prospects today appeared good and water conditions are gradually improving. Miss Ederle carried out her usual routine of training today.

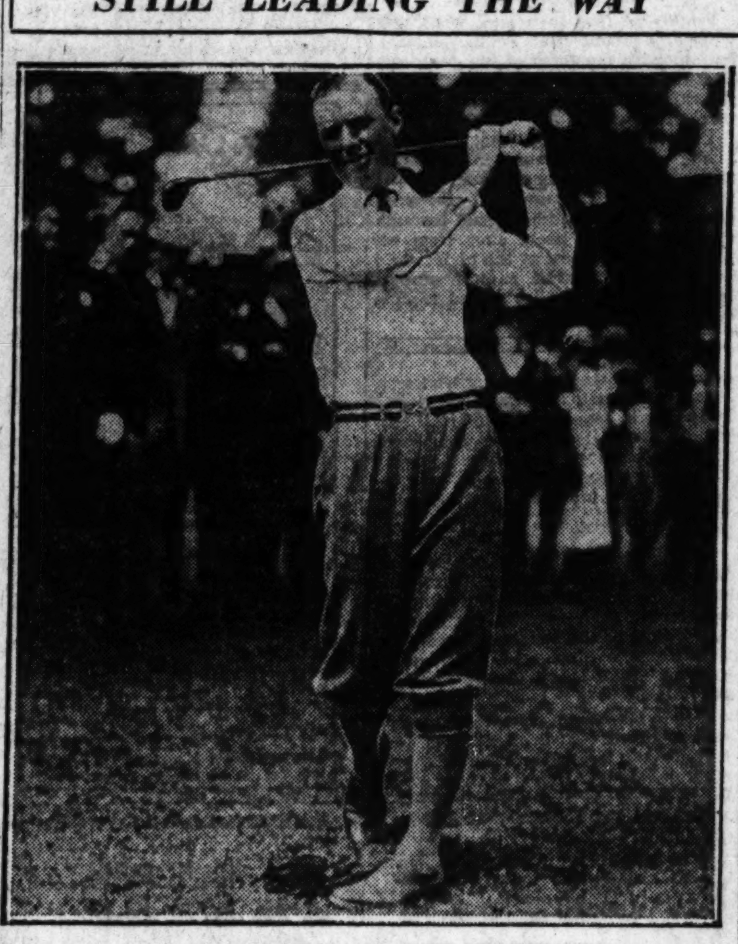
Jap Swimmer Fails.

DOVER, Aug. 26.—(AP)—Setsu Nishimura, Japanese long distance swimmer, abandoned his attempt to swim the English channel today after being in the water only 3 hours and 5 minutes.

Hathaway, Ex-Purple Star, to Coach Kemper Cadets

Boonville, Mo., Aug. 28.—Herman Hathaway, former Northwestern university athlete, has been secured to coach wrestling and assist in coaching football at the Kemper Military school here. He takes the place of Lynn A. Reid of Oklahoma A. and M., resigned. He will report for duty at the Kemper football camp at Hollister, Mo., Sept. 4.

STILL LEADING THE WAY



CHARLES A. (CHICK) EVANS.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 28.—(AP)—"Chick" Evans of Chicago, former national and open champion, thrilled a gallery at the Allegheny Country club today in a special eighteen hole medal play tournament which was held as a prelude to the national amateur championship battle at Oakmont next week, when he went out and shot a 70, establishing a competitive course record.

Evans' nearest competitor was Jimmy Johnson of St. Paul, who turned in 74, one above the par figure of the course. J. Woody Platt, White Marsh; W. H. Reekie, New York; and H. J. Hiemenz, Lancaster, were tied for third place with 75.

Richards-Williams Defeat Kinseys; Meet Anzacs Today

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 28.—(AP)—The American doubles team of Vincent Richards of Yonkers, N. Y., and R. Norris Williams II. of Philadelphia and the Australian combination of Gerald Patterson and John B. Hawkes, survivors in a field of 32 starters, will meet on the turf courts of the Longwood Cricket club tomorrow afternoon for the national doubles championship of the United States.

The Australians gained the finals yesterday by disposing of the California team of Johnston and Griffin. Richards and Williams today defeated the 1924 champions, Robert G. and Howard O. Kinsey of San Francisco, Cal., in straight sets, 6—1, 8—6, 6—2.

Veterans Doubles Decided.

One national championship team was crowned today, while six others were groomed for the final ceremonies tomorrow. Samuel Hardy and Walter L. Pate of New York, the former an ex-captain of the American Davis cup team, won the title in the national veterans' doubles championship for the second successive year by defeating Julian S. Myrick of New York and A. Wallis Myers of England, 6—3, 6—4.

The international aspect will prevail in three of tomorrow's four finals. America will battle Australia in the national doubles while in the national mixed doubles America will team with England against Australia and England. The other international match will be played in the final of the Longwood women's invitation singles in which Miss Joan Fry of England today gained the final round by defeating Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington, Del., 6—2, 7—9, 11—9.

The other finalist in this tournament has not been determined, Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California and Mrs. Molla B. Mallory of New York, meeting tomorrow morning for the honor of entering the final against Miss Fry.

There was only one upset today, that being the defeat of the French-English Lacoste-Fry combination in the mixed doubles by the American team of Miss Martha Bayard of Short Hills, N. J., and Henry Guild of Boston. The latter combination won in straight overtime sets, 8—6, 7—5.

Another match which flavored of the reverse was the overwhelming defeat of William T. Tilden II. and Mrs. Molla B. Mallory in the mixed doubles at the hands of the English-Australian team of Miss Kathleen McKane and John B. Hawkes, 6—1, 6—1.

Finals Carded Today.

This victory for the McKane-Hawkes team sent them into the final bracket where tomorrow they will oppose Vincent Richards and Miss E. H. Harvey, the latter a member of the English women's international team.

The Richards-Harvey team worked its way into the finals by conquering Jean Borotra of France and Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California, 6—4, 6—3.

Providence, R. I., meets Boston in the final round of the national father and son doubles championship tomorrow. J. E. D. Jones and his son, Arnold W. Jones of Providence, the latter captain of the 1925 Yale tennis team, will face the team of Donald M. Hill and Malcolm T. Hill of Boston in the title frame.

LEFTY O'DOUL'S ARM BROKEN; IS OUT FOR SEASON

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 28.—(AP)—An X-ray picture tonight showed Frank "Lefty" O'Doul's left arm to be fractured at the elbow and, according to the physician of the Salt Lake baseball club, in all probability the Bees' slugging outfielder will not play again this season. He was hit by a pitched ball in the fourth inning of the first game with the Seattle Indians today.

Los Angeles Provides for Intercity Prep Grid Game

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—The Los Angeles city council today passed a resolution supporting an annual intercity high school football championship game, to be played here on the Saturday before Christmas. The Los Angeles junior chamber of commerce is to arrange the game, which will bring a team selected as the champion of the east or middle west to meet the Los Angeles interscholastic public school champion. Last year the final game of the Los Angeles interscholastic series attracted a football throng of 68,000.

USE OF RETRIEVER IS CONSERVATION MEASURE.

THE use of a trained retriever on hunting trips is nothing less than a conservation measure, although undoubtedly there are hunters who have never thought of a dog as an asset of that sort. The experienced hunter of quail, prairie chickens, ducks, or other feathered game knows that every day of shooting means birds crippled, even though a fellow tries hard to make a clean kill.

When a bird is down and is only winged or otherwise touched up by a couple of shot it's a real job to locate the hiding bird. Many are lost in the course of a season.

Here is where the retriever comes in as a conservation asset. Supposing a hunter without a dog wounds six birds. He hunts for them in the marsh, but nary a one can be found. He takes his bag limit of ducks [15] by clean kills. However, he has really killed 21. If he had a Chesapeake Bay retriever, a springer spaniel or other retrieving spaniel very likely the six wounded birds would have been found.

ENGEL, PARCAUT MATCHED.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Heinz Engel of Dubuque and Ralph Parcaut, formerly of Oskaloosa, both claimants of the world's middleweight wrestling championship, will meet here Labor day.

STARNER WINS GRAND AMERICAN TRAP TITLE

Dayton, O., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Elmer C. Starner, Ithaca, N. Y., hotel man, was crowned Grand American champion of amateur trapshooters at Vandalia this afternoon.

Standing on the seventeen yard line, Starner ran through a set of 100 targets with only two misses and by the lean margin of one clay finished high over three ties of 97.

His First Attempt.

The New Yorker made a reputation by grabbing off the honors in the first Grand American he has ever attended, thereby winning the highest crown the sport bestows. The event carried a guaranteed purse of $1,000.

Starner's average on record with the Amateur Trapshooting Association of America was less than 90 for the season. Like E. C. Deck of Plymouth, O., who took the Grand American last year, he was a dark horse. Deck did not enter the tournament to defend his crown.

Leonard Is Runner-Up.

In a shootoff of twenty-five targets for the honor of runner-up to the Grand American champion, J. F. Leonard of Niagara Falls, N. Y., defeated W. A. Phillips of Forest, O., and E. E. Daniels of Birmingham, Mich.

These three men tied on 97 targets. Leonard broke 24 clays in the shootoff.

9 POWER BOATS READY FOR BLUE RIBBON CLASSIC

Port Washington, N. Y., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Nine trim racers were ready tonight for the blue ribbon classic of the power boat world tomorrow afternoon. Representing Florida, Detroit, New York, and Buffalo in an intersectional contest, they will race for supremacy and the championship trophy of the American Power Boat association, the famous gold cup, in the feature event of the gold cup regatta.

The event will be run over the picturesque Manhasset bay course in three thirty-mile heats. If the predictions of sportsmen are fulfilled, it will be a test for the most part between Caleb S. Bragg's Baby Bootlegger, present holder of the gold cup, and Carl G. Fisher's Baby Shadow, flying the colors of the Miami Beach Yacht club and driven by Victor Kliesrath of the Port Washington Yacht club.

The international race at Detroit for the Harmsworth trophy, emblem of speed boat supremacy, has been postponed three weeks from Sept. 5-7 to Sept. 26-28.

WANDERERS HERE TODAY FOR TWO SOCCER GAMES

Well stocked with many star foreign players and many of the east's best booters, the Brooklyn Wanderer soccer team of the American Professional league will arrive today for two games. The first brush will be played with Sparta this afternoon at 4 o'clock at 27th street and Kostner avenue, and the other tomorrow afternoon with the Bricklayers at De Paul field.

Never in years has such an imposing array of eastern stars invaded the city. The visiting team is led by Jock Marshall, famous Scottish internationalist, and in addition there are numerous other Scottish luminaries. The Wanderers have a strong defense and a fast attack, which is certain to make trouble for the two local elevens.

GOLF STARS TO PLAY FOR MUNY COURSE FUND

Nationally known golf stars—Willie Macfarlane, Jim Barnes, Jock Hutchinson, and Laurie Ayton—and the Onwentsia Country club will combine Wednesday to aid the city of Lake Forest to build a public golf course. This quartet of luminaries will play in an exhibition match at the Onwentsia course, and the proceeds will be added to the city's funds for the new public course.

The Onwentsia club is donating its course. The public is invited to the match, for which an admission charge of $2 will be made.

BARNYARD GOLF MEET ON TODAY

Championship teams from the various parks will compete today for the "barnyard golf" title in the west parks' annual horseshoe pitching tournament at Douglas park. Eleven teams have entered in each of the following divisions: Junior singles, junior doubles, senior singles, and senior doubles. Dvorak park, last year's winner, will have a strong team to defend its title.

Florence Beebe Beaten for Edgebrook Golf Title

Mrs. R. Zech won the women's championship of the Edgebrook Golf club yesterday in a thirty-six hole match, beating Florence Beebe, 2 and 1. Mrs. Zech played the afternoon round, 42—42—84, 1 above the women's par, and won after being 3 down in the morning round. Two of Miss Beebe's drives were more than 200 yards.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR WAKE: I have read some letters to The Wake on names of tugs on the Chicago river in 1875. The Vessel Owners' Towing company tugs in service in 1875 were: Protection, Rebel, Black Ball No. 2, E. P. Ferry, W. L. Ewing, J. L. Higgie, and A. G. Van Schaick. This line of tugs was organized a few years before by vessel owners to combat the high prices charged by the Chicago Towing association—"C. T. A." Perfection, once named in your column, was not on the river in 1875.

Other tugs on the river in 1875 were George B. McClellan, Mary McLane, Messenger, A. A. Eustavieve, R. Prindiville, M. Shields, Union, A. Miller, Brothers, Success, Constitution, Red Jacket, J. A. Crawford, George W. Wood ("Big Wood"), W. H. Wood ("Little Wood"), E. Van Dalson, Van Raalte, Little Giant, Bob Anderson, J. S. Dunham, Mosher, O. B. Green, Tom Brown, A. Nelson, Satisfaction, A. B. Ward, Annie L. Smith, Martin Ryerson, and Monitor.

Constitution, Success, and Brothers towed canal boats exclusively. The George W. Wood, commonly called the "Big Wood," was a powerful wrecking tug with a good record. Uncle Sam had a harbor tug called the Gen. A. A. Humphrey.

Those were the days when Chicago had a great lake commerce; often 100 sail boats on the lumber market in a single day. Great fleets of big schooners carried grain to Buffalo and hard coal back to Chicago.

Among this fleet were some of the finest vessels flying the American flag anywhere. Among them were the four masted double decked schoners George W. Adams and Michigan, and the fine schooners Lizzie A. Law, Samuel J. Tilden, Ford River, Resumption, Erastus Corning, Mary L. Higgie, and Two Fannies. The big fleet of tugs was kept busy handling them. H. F. D.

Baseball Scandals.

Rulers of baseball have found no basis for the charge that players in the Southern association "laid down" in order to secure their transfer to another club.

While baseball has had its glaring scandals, the game is pretty clean, considering the number of players employed and the vast interests involved—more clean, in our opinion, than any other professional sport.

We always are skeptical of charges of "laying down." There are, no doubt, such cases, but human nature is against it. In any branch of competitive athletics there is a spur to do one's best. This is especially true where great crowds are watching the effort. "Laying down" is contrary to natural impulse.

THAT Europe is responding eagerly to the unprecedented values now being built into American made automobiles is indicated by official export reports. They show that during the first six months of this year American automobile exports amounted to $185,000,000, an increase of $65,000,000 over the corresponding period in 1924. Germany, Switzerland, the Netherlands, and Spain, were and are the best markets for the higher priced Yankee cars, while England, France, and Italy buy the major portion of the lower priced models. Final figures for the year are expected to show a huge gain over any former year in American automobile export history.

Five motor parades, starting from widely separated points in Cook county and so timed that they will converge on the Wayside grove in Morton Grove at the same time, will feature the annual automobile picnic and outing planned this year by the Illinois Automobile club. It is expected that 30,000 motorists will attend the picnic, scheduled for Sept. 13.

Elaborate plans have been completed by the committee headed by E. D. Landwehr and R. Lauer of Northbrook, Ill., for the big celebration today which will mark the opening of one of the finest systems of village pavements in Illinois. Hundreds of motorists from northern Illinois will join village officials in dedicating the new streets.

POLICE GAMES OPENING TODAY OFFER THRILLS

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Featured by track and field competition, exhibition drills by mounted, motorcycle, and foot police, wrestling, tugs of war, chariot races, exhibitions of the application of tear gas bombs, daredevil feats of riding on motorcycles and horses, music by three bands, and many other interesting and entertaining events, the fourth annual games of Chicago's police department will open today in the Grant park stadium starting at 2 o'clock. A similar program will be staged tomorrow at the same place and hour.

This set of games, founded by former Chief of Police Charley Fitzmorris, has grown into one of Chicago's largest and most interesting civic events. Citizens prominent in all walks of life serve on the various committees and devote their time and energy to the worthy cause of raising money for the policemen's benevolent fund which provides for dependents of policemen killed while on duty.

Offer Lengthy Program.

This year's program, which will be conducted by Martin A. Delaney, one of the most successful track and field coaches in the country, who also is a good showman, will be more entertaining than those of previous years. There will be more activity on the track and infield. In fact, there will be something going on from the moment the parade of officials and athletes is over until the final event is completed.

The program on each day will open in true Olympic games fashion. At 2 o'clock the parade, with Mayor Dever and Chief of Police Collins in the lead, will be taken around the inclosure by police bands. All will stand at attention as the flag is raised and the bands play the national anthem. Then will come the mass physical drill under the direction of Maj. John Bauder. John Stege of the detective bureau and his squad will show how tear bombs are used and the dare devils of the motorcycle and mounted squads will give some thrilling exhibitions on their bikes and steeds.

Track and Field Events.

The track and field competition will start at 3:10 o'clock. Nine events will be held today and as many tomorrow, with points awarded to the winners of the first four places on a basis of five for first, three for second, two for third, and one for fourth.

John Walsh of the Twelfth district won the hammer throw, first event of the games decided. This contest was held yesterday afternoon in the vacant space south of the stadium, as it could not be held with any degree of safety with the stands filled with spectators. Walsh won with a throw of 117 feet. J. J. Cahill of the Twenty-eighth district was second with 116 feet 4 inches, and A. Baumann of the Thirty-third district third with an effort of 111 feet 3 inches. Fourth place went to H. Colander of the Fourth district with a mark of 110 feet 3½ inches.

WILLIE AND JIM EVEN UP WITH LOCAL GOLFERS

Willie MacFarlane, national open golf champion, and Jim Barnes, British open titleholder, battled over 18 holes at the Briergate Golf club yesterday to end all square with Jock Hutchison, Glen View pro, and Capt. E. F. Carter, an amateur, in a best ball exhibition foursome after being 3 down to the local stars at the 10th hole.

A gallery of about 1,000 followed the champions around the course and were rewarded with some stellar playing. Both Barnes and Macfarlane shot 70's, one under par, but as they were conceding short putts they will not go on record as smashing par. Carter had a 71 and Hutchison a 72.

All four were getting well over 300 yards on their drives. Jock's approach shots were straight and true, but the real feature was Macfarlane's putting. Twice the national open champion attempted fifty foot putts and both just rimmed the cup.

U. OF C. OPENS SALE OF GRID GAME TICKETS

Fifteen thousand application blanks for football tickets will be mailed out within the next few days by the football ticket committee at the University of Chicago.

The sale of season tickets is now open, and applications may be made until the closing date, Sept. 21. Application blanks and information may be secured by writing or telephoning the office of the committee, 5625 Ellis avenue.

Applications for season tickets will be received from the public as well as alumni and ex-students of the university.

DRY CHIEF PLEADS FOR PEOPLE'S AID IN RUM BATTLE

Warns of Bootlegger and Bad Liquor.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Copyright, 1925, by United Press]—Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews says the most surprising thing to him about men who patronize a bootlegger is their colossal gullibility.

GEN. L. C. ANDREWS.
[Copyright: Harris & Ewing.]

The new assistant secretary of the treasury was continuing an exclusive, authorized interview granted the United Press when he made the remark. Disliking exaggeration, he paused over the phrase.

"Yes," he decided, "that's it. Their colossal gullibility."

Andrews, who was explaining for the first time his plans for enforcing prohibition, said he had in mind the idea of educating consumers of "genuine Scotch whisky" and other allegedly imported liquor.

"We might let them know what they are drinking," he proposed.

Treasury bulletins showing how much of what the bootlegger sells is more or less poison, and how little of it is genuine, may be prepared and issued periodically.

"It is amazing to me," he continued, "how men who have common sense in other matters and would demand proofs of others' claims where their health as well as their wealth is concerned, seem to accept without question the statements of men they know to be criminals and violators of their country's laws."

Andrews hopes to work through the churches, the Y. M. C. A., and such organizations as the Rotary clubs in educating those who constitute the market for bootleg liquor, as well as in gathering reports on the progress of prohibition.

COOLIDGE VISITS OLD PLYMOUTH BURIAL GROUND

Swampscott, Mass., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Turning again to his interest in historic spots of New England, President Coolidge today added to the list of ancient graveyards he has inspected this summer by visiting the old burial ground at Plymouth, Mass., and the cemetery in Marshfield, where Daniel Webster is buried.

Leaving Swampscott on the Mayflower, the President arrived at Plymouth shortly before 11 o'clock and was greeted by a large and enthusiastic crowd. Many direct descendants of the Pilgrims who landed on Plymouth Rock in 1620 were among those who met him at the pier.

From Plymouth the President was driven to Marsfield. Entering the small fenced in lot where members of the Daniel Webster family are buried, the President stood for some moments in front of the modest tombstone carrying the famous orator's name.

The President lunched with C. W. Barron, publisher of the Wall Street Journal, and later inspected the latter's prize herd of dairy cattle.

Tomorrow the President reviews the citizens' military training camp at Camp Devens, after which he will bring his son Jack back to the summer White House.

TAKES POISON; RECOVERY EXPECTED.

Despondent over domestic troubles, Mrs. Elizabeth Schlichenmaier, 1912 North Francisco avenue, attempted to end her life last night by taking poison. She is expected to recover.

BRITISH-MEXICAN ROW ENDED; RENEW DIPLOMATIC TIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 28.—The British government has renewed full diplomatic relations with Mexico. Norman King, the British consul general at Mexico City, will be appointed chargé d'affaires pending the appointment of a minister. It was announced officially this evening that the outstanding differences between Great Britain and Mexico have been satisfactorily settled after an exchange of views.

British diplomatic relations with Mexico, although technically not actually severed, have been completely suspended for about a year.

The final trouble arose over the murder of Mrs. Rosalie Evans, the American born widow of a British subject. Mrs. Evans had suffered persecution at the hands of agrarians for some years before she was murdered. The British government was not satisfied with the action taken by Mexico after her death, hence the strained relations.

THE TRIBUNE'S Mexico City correspondent exclusively announced yesterday that Great Britain was about to resume relations.

AMERICANS RAIN FIRST BOMBS ON RIFF, TRIBESMEN

Drop Food on French Outposts.

OUEZZAN, French Morocco, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The entire group of American aviators here made their first fighting flight over the Riff tribesmen's camps today, dropping 240 kilograms of bombs and scoring many direct hits.

The aviators also dropped food and ammunition to one Spanish and five Frensh outposts surrounded by the enemy.

Warn Yankee Flyers.

FEZ, Aug. 28.—[United Press.]—Threats of "terrible vengeance" upon them, in event of capture, have been sent to the American escadrille members now flying over the enemy lines in the battle of France to subdue Abd-el Krim and his Riffian warriors. Riffian sympathizers are sending the Americans letters denouncing them as "paid assassins and hirelings filled with the blood lust."

Complete Drive on Branes.

FEZ, French Morocco, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Gen. Boichut's enveloping movement against the rebellious tribesmen has been completed. The converging columns met north of the country of the Branes tribesmen, having attained all their objectives. Therefore the military part of the operation is finished and the political part has begun.

Already a certain number of the Branes tribes and portions of the Beni Ouriaghel and Bafen tribes have offered submission to the French. Other rebel Branes, who have been sighted by air scouts retreating to the north, appear to be preparing to attack the Tsoul tribesmen who submitted to the French and to make an attempt to cut the French lines of communicaiton.

Hear Riffians Quit Capital.

MELLILLA, Spanish Morocco, Aug. 28.—(AP)—It is reported that the Riffian rebels have evacuated their families from Adjir, headquarters of Abd-El-Krim, and have removed them to Altamarca.

Druses Near Damascus.

JERUSALEM, Aug. 28.—(AP)—[Jewish Telegraphic Agency.]—Dispatches received here report that the forces of the rebellious Druse tribesmen in Syria are twelve miles from Damascus. New French reinforcements are said to have arrived in Damascus and are patrolling the streets.

POLICE SEEK MISSING BOY.

Police have been asked to search for George White Jr. of 383 Main street, Glen Ellyn, who has been missing since Thursday morning. George is 14 years old and was one of the ushers at Grant Park stadium when the rodeo was held. He is tall and weighs about 150 pounds.

GEM LADEN GIRL HOLDS STAGE IN SCHLIG MURDER

Posed as Wife of Young Rum Aviator.

and if everything pointed differently, what did it matter so long as she did love him, she asked.

Thursday night, the night before the murder yesterday morning, the three of them had been to the Rendezvous cafe at Broadway and Diversey boulevard for dinner and returned to the apartment at 10 o'clock. Schlig told Berman he would drive him to his home on the west side. That was the last time she saw either of them alive, Paulina said. And she is the last person the police have been able to find who saw them alive.

When the bodies of Schlig and Berman were found alongside the flying field road near Cicero avenue and 82d street, a suit case was close by. In it were a full outfit of flying clothing, a can of white paint, and several paint brushes. Police believe the bodies and the suit case were hurled from a moving automobile. They explain the suit case by theorizing that Schlig had purchased a new plane, was going out to paint the bootlegger's insignia, a band of white paint, on it, and then planned to set out for a fresh cargo of Canada whisky.

Believe He Knew Killers.

Before he got well on the way to his plane he was waylaid by the men who murdered him and his pal. They climbed into Schlig's car, most probably men well known to him, maybe rival bootleggers. When an opportune moment arrived revolvers came out and bullets simultaneously were fired into the heads of Berman and Schlig, sitting unsuspectingly in the front seat.

The police are quite certain that the murderers had a grievance against Schlig and Berman for a supposed double cross. Whether it was because he failed to divvy a gem loot with them, or because he crossed them on a liquor deal, the police say they can only guess. But something like that it must have been, and so the aggrieved men found it necessary, under their peculiar criminal code, to "take him for a ride."

"Taking one for a ride," in the parlance of the general underworld population, means getting the one who had perpetrated a double cross to enter on an automobile ride that is destined, though he knows it not, to be his last.

Becomes Flying Bootlegger.

Schlig's adventurous spirit called him to air bootlegging two months ago, not long after he met the charming Pauline. She told last night of his putting $1,700 into an aeroplane, having a flier teach him in two hours, and then embarking on his first escapade.

It didn't pan out very well, for Irving got the booze, Canadian Scotch, aboard and took off expertly for the U. S. A. and parched Chicago. But at Kalamazoo the engine stopped and Irving and his load dropped in a corn field. While the Michigan authorities were quarreling about who should prosecute him, Schlig got out on a writ of habeas corpus.

Then he bought another aeroplane, just a week ago, and if the police theory is correct, he was about to embark on another air flight. Pauline said she didn't know her "Sonny" had bought another flying machine. But she did know that when he left her Thursday night, saying, "Perhaps I'll be back soon," he had $2,200 in his pocket. And $2,200, Capt. Stege said, will purchase a heavy load of whisky in Canada.

There was talk of George [Rabbits] Connell being angry at Schlig because he let Connell stay in the county jail unable to raise bail on a robbery charge. The two men, both robbers of long record, were said to be partners in the $200,000 Parkway hotel gem robbery last December.

Pauline Knows Rabbits.

Pauline knew a lot about Rabbits. In fact, it was through Rabbits and at his house that she met Schlig and fell in love with him at first sight. But she knew nothing, she said, of a falling out between the two pals. She had heard, though, from Schlig that there was a fight among members of his gang.

"I didn't know he was a bootlegger," she repeated again and again. "I only knew that is what he was supposed to be doing. He told me it was dangerous work, and yesterday morning when I awoke I had a presentiment that something was wrong.

"Then Attorney W. W. Smith called up and told me Irving had been killed. I called him back to make sure the call was correct. Then I went to see Max Spears, a friend of Irving's, and asked him what to do. Then I went home."

When she arrived, in a taxicab with two other young women, Miss Livingston immediately was placed in custody by Policeman Charles Lodding, who had waited for her for four hours.

Thief Since 16, Irving Schlig, Rum Flyer, Murdered at 21

In the murder of Irving Schlig, bootlegger and bandit leader at 21, the police read the final chapter in a life of crime that started in a north side police station five years ago.

Schlig, then a boy of 16, accused of robbery, lay on the floor of the squadroom of the Rogers Park station, half conscious from the effects of a third degree beating at the hands of five detectives.

Schlig's Reason and Threat.

"Yes, damn you, I'll squawk," Schlig finally said to the lieutenant in charge. "But remember this—I'll get even for this trimming if it takes my life. From now on I'm gonna make you guys pay for every lick you gave me with that hose."

Then the boy fell into a faint.

Schlig made good the threat, the police say. He was regarded as one of the most spectacular and elusive bandits and bootleggers in Chicago.

First Robbery While Drunk.

In the fall of 1920 Schlig was unknown in police circles. He was a clerk in a factory on the near north side and a frequenter of cabarets along North Clark street.

While intoxicated one night he and two companions robbed a saloonkeeper. A rifle squad arrested the three amateur bandits an hour afterwards. After the beating in the station Schlig confessed.

When the case came up for trial confessions were thrown out of court because of the methods used in obtaining them and the defendants discharged.

Then Schlig turned robber in earnest. Harry Berman, a young west sider, and George (Rabbit) Connell, a police character, now in the county jail, joined him. The police never could fasten anything substantial in the way of crime on Schlig or his companions. An arrest, a night in jail, and the boy was on the street again.

His Booze Selling Method.

The erstwhile clerk became the possessor of two automobiles and engaged in bootlegging. His trick was to sell booze to unscrupulous druggists and then returning the next night to rob them of the stuff at the point of revolvers. Then he again would sell the same booze again and again rob the buyer.

The Schlig mob, as it came to be called, engaged the best criminal lawyers in Chicago to protect its interests, recently retaining the law firm headed by Clarence Darrow.

"Here is a little piece of change I found in my pocket and you can have it as a retainer," he told a lawyer one afternoon as he handed over a $1,000 bill. "In case I am pinched that will pay the cost of a writ (habeas corpus)."

In recent months police heard that booze was being run into Chicago in an airplane. Investigation among underworld stool pigeons revealed that Schlig had purchased an airplane and had introduced it into bootlegging.

Planned to Go Straight.

Finally, a few days ago, word was whispered about that Schlig had fallen out with members of his gang and had determined to go straight. At the same time came word that he was marked for death.

Yesterday morning the bodies of Schlig and his companion, Berman, were found on a lonely road on the line between Chicago and Stickney township. Both had been shot through the back of the neck, shot from behind, a death typical of the underworld manner of inflicting capital punishment—and their bodies tossed from a speeding automobile.

DAY'S OTHER SHOOTINGS

Several shooting affrays in various parts of the city, one under mysterious circumstances, gave Chicago police and municipal judges a busy day yesterday. Three of the victims are in hospitals, none fatally hurt.

Police still were baffled last night over the shooting of Patrick Flaherty, 26, an ex-convict, who was found early yesterday in front of a soft drink parlor at 4641 Halsted street with three bullet wounds in his body. At the Chicago hospital Flaherty at first denied he knew his assailant. Later he admitted he did, but refused to name him.

Martin Fanning, owner of the store; Mrs. Fanning, Mrs. Agnes Burns, and Mrs. Margaret Wilson, 5828 South Halsted street, who were in the building at the time of the shooting, were questioned at the Stockyards station, but insisted that they knew nothing about it.

Meyer Harrison, 45, with a 27 year record in fifteen penitentiaries, was held to the grand jury on a $50,000 bond by Judge Immenhausen in the Sheffield avenue court on a charge of assault to kill. He was also sentenced to six months in jail for carrying a concealed weapon. Harrison was arrested July 15 and admitted to police that he shot a man named John D. Krueger, whom the police have been unable to locate.

Herbert Higa, 25 years old, 740 East 36th street, was wounded in the right hip by one of three colored holdup men who invaded the Tokyo restaurant, 825 South State street, where Higa is employed as cashier.

Patrick Miskell, 40, living at 5655 Indiana avenue, a former city policeman, was wounded above one eye while cleaning his revolver, according to his statement, on regaining consciousness at the Chicago hospital. Physicians said his condition was serious.

A colored woman, Gertrude Brooks, 31, was shot while in her home, 437 West 34th place, by Joseph Gibbons, also colored, of the same address, early yesterday. Gibbons told police the shooting was accidental.

The Pearl Headed Pin

By ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

years ago Margaret Hallett had been married to Henry Ledway. He was sup- to have died in a railroad wreck. He had been accused, with his partner, John of murdering a business rival. Selkirk was sentenced to twenty years and is just He calls on Colonel and Mrs. Hallett to tell them that neither he nor Henry was guilty of the murder. The Halletts are remodeling their London home and Hallett goes to the dismantled house for a meeting with the contractor, Edward March. is waiting for March, Ledway comes into the room and threatens her with Col. Hallett arrives and as he does Ledway disappears through an open which he mistakes for a hidden stairway. Mrs. Hallett tells her husband what has occurred, and the colonel goes down to the basement to locate Ledway's body. He trace of it, and believes his wife has had an hallucination. The next day an body is found in the river. Mrs. Hallett is convinced it is her former husband, a pearl headed pin which he had taken from her is found in his tie. But the identified, much to the bewilderment of Mrs. Hallett, by Ray Bristowe, as that of Edward March, by means of letters and other papers found in the pockets of dead man.

INSTALLMENT XII.

A TRAGIC FIGURE.

After all, there was no indication—save for that wretched pin—that it was body of Mr. March.

"I've heard about Mr. March," Mrs. Hallett jerked out. "Ray Bristowe to Joan, and she has gone round to his rooms to see if she can thing."

"you know—you know!" muttered Col. Hallett, obviously relieved. well! It's a dreadful thing. Coming at such a time as this, too, when thing on earth you ought to have is anything resembling worry!"

"George, dear, do get rid of the idea that I'm an invalid!" She tried not irritated with him. "What has my health to do with poor Mr. March?"

"—well!" Col. Hallett lifted his teacup from the tray, tried to it on his knee, then put it back on the tray again. "It puts us in an embarrassing position. All the way back I've been trying to reason it, but I'm afraid there's nothing for it—we shall have to come for-

He paused. Mrs. Hallett's strained nerves quivered. He had disillusioned without a word from her. He had realized that the murdered man was Ledway, she assumed. She felt intensely sorry for her husband. That should bring him such social embarrassment when he had brought her but dignity and honor and happiness! She faltered:

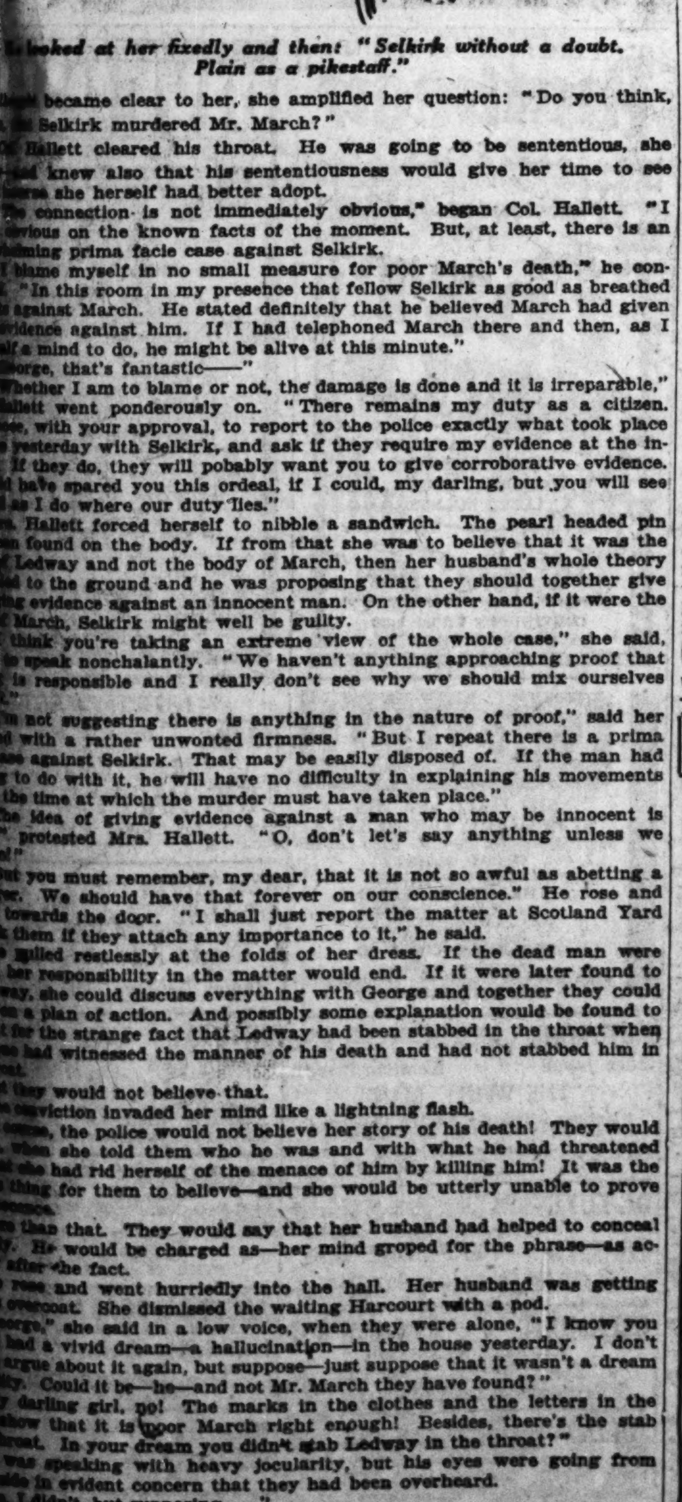
"You know now——"

He looked at her fixedly and then:

"Selkirk, without a doubt. Plain as a pikestaff."

"Selkirk?"

Mrs. Hallett was for the moment completely at a loss. Then, as his line became clear to her, she amplified her question: "Do you think, Selkirk murdered Mr. March?"



He looked at her fixedly and then: "Selkirk without a doubt. Plain as a pikestaff."

Col. Hallett cleared his throat. He was going to be sententious, she knew also that his sententiousness would give her time to see she herself had better adopt.

"The connection is not immediately obvious," began Col. Hallett. "I obvious on the known facts of the moment. But, at least, there is an whelming prima facie case against Selkirk.

"I blame myself in no small measure for poor March's death," he con- "In this room in my presence that fellow Selkirk as good as breathed against March. He stated definitely that he believed March had given evidence against him. If I had telephoned March there and then, as I half a mind to do, he might be alive at this minute."

"George, that's fantastic——"

"Whether I am to blame or not, the damage is done and it is irreparable," Hallett went ponderously on. "There remains my duty as a citizen. propose, with your approval, to report to the police exactly what took place yesterday with Selkirk, and ask if they require my evidence at the in- If they do, they will pobably want you to give corroborative evidence. would have spared you this ordeal, if I could, my darling, but you will see as I do where our duty lies."

Mrs. Hallett forced herself to nibble a sandwich. The pearl headed pin been found on the body. If from that she was to believe that it was the of Ledway and not the body of March, then her husband's whole theory to the ground and he was proposing that they should together give evidence against an innocent man. On the other hand, if it were the of March, Selkirk might well be guilty.

"I think you're taking an extreme view of the whole case," she said, to speak nonchalantly. "We haven't anything approaching proof that is responsible and I really don't see why we should mix ourselves it."

"I'm not suggesting there is anything in the nature of proof," said her husband with a rather unwonted firmness. "But I repeat there is a prima case against Selkirk. That may be easily disposed of. If the man had to do with it, he will have no difficulty in explaining his movements the time at which the murder must have taken place."

"The idea of giving evidence against a man who may be innocent is protested Mrs. Hallett. "O, don't let's say anything unless we

"But you must remember, my dear, that it is not so awful as abetting a We should have that forever on our conscience." He rose and towards the door. "I shall just report the matter at Scotland Yard ask them if they attach any importance to it," he said.

She pulled restlessly at the folds of her dress. If the dead man were her responsibility in the matter would end. If it were later found to Ledway, she could discuss everything with George and together they could on a plan of action. And possibly some explanation would be found to for the strange fact that Ledway had been stabbed in the throat when had witnessed the manner of his death and had not stabbed him in throat.

But they would not believe that.

The conviction invaded her mind like a lightning flash.

Of course, the police would not believe her story of his death! They would when she told them who he was and with what he had threatened that she had rid herself of the menace of him by killing him! It was the thing for them to believe—and she would be utterly unable to prove innocence.

More than that. They would say that her husband had helped to conceal body. He would be charged as—her mind groped for the phrase—as ac- after the fact.

She rose and went hurriedly into the hall. Her husband was getting overcoat. She dismissed the waiting Harcourt with a nod.

"George," she said in a low voice, when they were alone, "I know you I had a vivid dream—a hallucination—in the house yesterday. I don't argue about it again, but suppose—just suppose that it wasn't a dream reality. Could it be—he—and not Mr. March they have found?"

"My darling girl, no! The marks in the clothes and the letters in the show that it is poor March right enough! Besides, there's the stab throat. In your dream you didn't stab Ledway in the throat?"

He was speaking with heavy jocularity, but his eyes were going from side in evident concern that they had been overheard.

"No, I didn't, but supposing——"

"I refuse to suppose that your dream has any relevance, Margaret." His quite sharp. "And don't mention it to any one, my dear. We don't an unpleasant blind alley opened up. You see, once you persuade the that you had not been dreaming, they would start an investigation that become very—well, unpleasant indeed."

"You mean," persisted Mrs. Hallett, "I couldn't prove I didn't stab him he fell and you couldn't prove you didn't aid and abet me afterwards?"

"Dash it all, it's not worth discussing! You didn't see Ledway. He was twenty years ago in that railway smash—and a very good thing for too!"

He had gone.

She went back to the drawing room, rang the bell, and had the tea tray

When she was again alone, her thoughts began to take shape, ranging in a growing pattern round the tragic figure of Selkirk.

Her pulses tingled. She felt she was going to think, now, to some pur-

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This is a nice little program photoplay belonging to the great brotherhood of railroad pictures. (Guessed it from the title, didn't you?)

Its slight story is bolstered up beautifully by the good work of an able cast, and if the photography isn't always what it might be, you can just say to yourselves, "Well, I reckon they had to spend most of their money on those actors," and probably be hitting the nail on the head. But the photography's far from bad at that.

A widowed mother, so the tale tells, has two baby sons—twins. Their father had been disinherited by his father, president of a big railroad, upon his marriage with the poor girl who is the mother.

After his death young Mrs. Browning appeals to the father for aid.

"I come to you only because I am destitute—and a mother," she tells him.

The old man's decision is to provide for the boy—he hasn't an idea there are two—if she will change her name, give up all rights to the youngster, and move away.

Pretty tough—but there seems no other way out of it. One of the babies goes to old Cyrus T., and Mrs. Browning, now plain Mary Brown, moves away to a small railroad town with the other.

The one boy has all that money can buy and turns out a waster. The other lad becomes a fireman on one of his granddad's engines, though nobody but the mother knows anything of the relationship. He is distinguished for bravery and scheduled for promotion when his brother's fiancée enters his life, and the two young men meet in a strange manner.

After that it's only a matter of time until the entire truth leaks out. The old man realizes how wrong he's been all these years and welcomes his long lost grandson to heart and business, and the waster, who has had "everything that money can buy," gratefully pillows a repentant head on the one thing money COULDN'T buy, a mother's breast.

What may be a trifle too much tender twaddle is pleasantly relieved by several exciting acts of heroism on the poor brother's part. A runaway engine and an attempted robbery of the mail car give him his chance.

"The Danger Signal" hasn't any particular bearing on the story, but as a clew to what kind of a picture you're going to see, it's a good railroady title.

See you tomorrow!

CLOSEUPS

Shirley Mason and Viola Dana will have a new mamma on Sept. 22. Their papa, E. A. Flugrath, is to marry a pretty Canadian, Miss Marie Bourgeois. Papa is 59. Mamma to be is 22. O, pa-pa! O, mam-ma!

Harold Lloyd announces that he is about to spend $1,000,000 on a new home and estate in Benedict canyon, near Beverly Hills, Cal.

Bert Lytell, waving a wicked racket in a squash game, was cut over the eye by his opponent, waving one wickeder. So he's out of pictures for a coupla weeks while the five inch gash is healing.

"Greatest Hero of War" Guest at Fifth Reunion

Sergt. Samuel Woodfill, cited by Gen. Pershing as "the war's greatest hero," is announced to be the guest of honor at a reunion of the Fifth division, A. E. F., to be held in Chicago Sept. 5, 6, and 7.

Sergt. Woodfill, who possesses as many medals as a movie king, is credited with capturing two German machine gun nests single handed, armed with only his automatic pistol, and taking a third with an entrenching pick, after his ammunition was exhausted.

Between 600 and 700 "buddies" of the Fifth are expected to muster at the Sherman hotel. Most of these belong to the local branch, but for any who do not Mr. Barth will make provision on application.

During the convention plans will be discussed for a pilgrimage to Europe in August, 1926. Replacement of 29 monuments in France to members killed in action will also be discussed.

Among the distinguished army men expected to attend are Brig. Gen. Paul Malone of San Antonio, Tex., and Maj. Gen. Philip McCook of New York City.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. Today's question originated in the office of THE TRIBUNE and $5 is awarded to THE TRIBUNE Free Ice fund.

The Question.

Was the Chicago and Northwestern railroad justified in abolishing bundle racks on suburban trains?

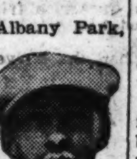
Where Asked.

Northwestern depot.

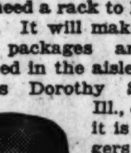
The Answers.

Thomas M. Ferguson, 2328 Newcastle avenue, U. S. veterans' bureau—The removal of bundle racks on the Northwestern trains is an injustice to the traveling public. What can be gained by this action, we cannot understand. Service in all its phases should be first in the minds of the railroad companies.

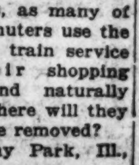
Miss Anna Fisher, Winnetka, stenographer — No, the Northwestern should not have abolished the bundle racks. It shows no consideration for the commuters. Folk going back and forth on the trains don't like to be holding bundles on their laps.



William L. Lindsey, Albany Park, auto mechanic—The Northwestern railroad should not have done away with the bundle racks, as there are many shoppers as well as business folk who usually carry bundles and need a rack to hold them. It will make it unsafe to ride with packages and other articles jammed in the aisles and on the seats.



Miss Dorothy Stubbs, Elmhurst, Ill., clerk—I don't think it is fair to the passengers for the Northwestern to abolish the bundle racks, as many of the commuters use the suburban train service for their shopping tours, and naturally have many bundles. Where will they put them if the racks are removed?



Albert Kucera, Albany Park, Ill., salesman—The Northwestern certainly was not justified in abolishing the bundle rack. Commuters always have bundles or grips. Abolishing the racks handicaps their comfort as well as crowds the aisles and seats.

Southern Union Voted by M. E. Churches Here

Favored by Swedish and German Conferences.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

By a large majority both the Central Swedish and the Chicago-Northwest conferences of the Methodist Episcopal church in session here voted yesterday in favor of unification of the Methodist Episcopal and the Methodist Episcopal Church South, denominations that have been separated since 1844.

The ministers of the Central Swedish conference voted unanimously for union. The German vote was 72 for to 6 against. The German laymen voted 40 to 20 for unification. Swedish laymen vote today.

The vote of the conferences throughout the Methodist Episcopal church shows 5,815 for union to 332 against. It is evident unification will be adopted by the Methodist Episcopal church, but union cannot become effective unless the Methodist Episcopal Church South, carries the proposition by a tree-fourths vote. While fear is expressed that the church south may not get the required majority because of the color question, it is believed the large majority given by the churches of the north will make unification an ultimate certainty.

The Swedish pastors voted 25 to 15 in favor of admitting laymen to membership in the annual conferences, while the German ministers voted down the proposition. They stood 18 for and 42 against.

Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of the Chicago area, presided at the Swedish conference and Bishop Charles Edward Locke of the St. Paul area, presided at the German conference. This evening members of the German conference will be given a complimentary dinner at the Lexington hotel by August C. Menge. Both conferences adjourn tomorrow evening.

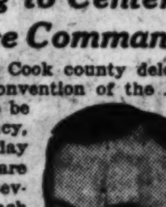
Battle at Legion Meeting to Center on Vice Commander

Chicago and Cook county delegates to the state convention of the American Legion, to be held in Quincy, Ill., next Monday and Tuesday, are divided into several camps, each engaged over the office of senior vice commander.



CLAUDE L. FOUBARE.

On the eve of the delegates' departure by automobile and special train it is said the outstanding two of the seven candidates are Claude L. Foubare of Harold Taylor post No. 47 and Emmett J. Grady of Stanley F. Sullivan post No. 946.

Foubare is said to have the edge both on Grady and the field, however, since his friends have been out working among members of other posts in the city and county, as well as in downstate cities and towns.

The office of commander, held by Howard P. Savage of Chicago during the last year, goes this time by rule to a downstate candidate, while the vice commandership comes to Cook county.

Both Foubare and Grady have good overseas records. Both are persistent and hard working legionnaires and both organized the posts they belong to and were the first commanders of them.

Foubare served with the 336th battalion, tank corps, as a private. In 1924 he was a member of the executive committee of the legion in Illinois.

Grady is said to have the support of the delegates of the 18 posts of the fourth district. He served with the 1st division ammunition train, enlisting on Oct. 6, 1917, and he was later transferred to the 26th infantry, serving in many of the major engagements of the war. He is a member also of the Forty and Eight.

Good Eggs Send in Contributions to Buy Ice for Poor Babies

Good eggs—that's what they are! Referring to the group of employés of the Federated Metals corporation who yesterday sent in a check for $12 to swell THE TRIBUNE free ice fund. Just why they adopted such a monicker isn't explained in their letter, which asks that credit be given to the Federated Metals corporation "eggs."

In the same class of good fellows belong the members of the baseball team of the rotogravure section of THE TRIBUNE, who had the poor kids in mind when they staged a baseball game, and sent the proceeds, $8.20, to the fund to buy the ice that means so much in poor homes these warm days.

Two little tots on Pine Grove avenue worked busily preparing for a bazaar, and when they finally threw open their shop on the lawn of their home, they disposed of piece after piece, until the treasury showed a total of $4.28, with their small stock exhausted. The little girls were Marcia Trainer, 3727 Pine Grove avenue, and Janet Gainsburg.

Yesterday's gifts for the free ice fund:

Federated Metals corporation, "Eggs."
$8.20.
Tribune Roto baseball team.
$5.00.
Shirley and Lorraine Berinstein.
$4.28.
Marcia Trainer and Janet Gainsburg—bazaar.
$2.00.
Maurice Rosenzweig Jr. and Mark Cannon—lemonade stand.
$1.00.
Rose Green; Maxine Ruth Salomon.
Total—$33.48.
Previously acknowledged—$5,071.85.
Grand total—$5,105.33.

Camp Algonquin yesterday received these gifts:

Anonymous.
$10.00.
A friend.
$5.00.
Arthur Murphy; Nellie E. Dibben.
$1.00.
Rose Green.
Total—$34.00.
Previously acknowledged—$5,751.18.
Grand total—$5,785.18.

Checks should be made payable to THE TRIBUNE Camp Algonquin or THE TRIBUNE free ice fund, and mailed to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE.

Ground Is Broken for $1,700,000 U. of C. Chapel

Simple ceremonies, featured by an address by Vice President James H. Tufts, were held yesterday at the University of Chicago in turning the first sod for the construction of the university's new $1,700,000 cathedral chapel, which is to face the Midway on 59th street between Woodlawn and University avenues. Howard G. Grey, first vice president of the board, operated the steam shovel that removed the first earth from the square that has been set aside for the chapel since 1910, when John D. Rockefeller donated funds for the edifice.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

The William P. Harris mentioned in an item on Aug. 26 as having disappeared subsequent to questionable financial operations is not to be confused with William Price Harris of R. H. Smart & Co., brokers, to whom the similarity in names has been embarrassing.

Miss Margaret Gough, 5017 South May street, was quoted in the Inquiring Reporter as demanding the ouster of police and law enforcing departments in the interest of crime suppression. She wishes it understood that she suggested only the election of judges who would enforce the laws.

World's Ills Diagnosed, but Cure Is Lacking

Too Early for Prescription, Say Churchmen.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 28.—Six hundred priests, pastors, and preachers of different denominations, who have been discussing the ills of this world and surveying the roads leading from here to the hereafter, will meet tomorrow in Stockholm's Music academy for the last time. After a fortnight of talk, one resolution will be presented and broadcast to the waiting world.

While the universal Christian conference succeeded during the session in diagnosing the present world's illnesses, still a prescription and cure is not yet ready. Lord bishops, archbishops, deans, and doctors of divinity who have been interviewed say the present conference cannot indorse practical measures without endangering Protestant unity which has resulted from the present meeting.

The conference thus far has been a love feast. The outstanding hero is Crown Prince Gustav Adolph, who has attended all sessions, listened to ten hours of sermons daily, and entertained a host of delegates at his home.

Dean Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago is one of the big American optimists of the conference. He says the Americans are meeting with invaluable experience in learning the viewpoints of the Europeans on various problems. Dean Mathews was especially impressed with the German delegates. The German delegates feel the war guilt attitude deeply, but thus far they have not brought up the point for discussion.

A noted American said:

"Don't cut off the tadpole's tail. If we did anything practical we would kill the frog. We have built a powerful engine and we must not put it on a small chassis because it would shake itself to pieces. If the conference were forced to take definite action it would be sure to gum up the entire proceedings."

Today Dean Mathews, who is the outstanding figure of the assembly, presented the American impressions. Coins collected by the Americans will be melted down and made into a bell which will be given into the custody of Archbishop Upsal, who has been the leading spirit of the conference and who is now facing a nervous breakdown.

Sally Picks Guests Tomorrow for Big Party at Majestic

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Tomorrow I announce the names of the lucky hundred who are to see the vaudeville treat that the Majestic theater has in store for us next Thursday. And then we'll all wait until Thursday arrives with its world of entertainment to be furnished us by Paul Sydell and his wonderful dog Spot, by the Russian dancers, the blackface fun act of Fargo and White, and Jack Hanley, the former circus clown. It seems as though Thursday would never, never come, doesn't it, girls and boys?

Here are a couple of the winning letters. You can easily see, when you've read them, why I couldn't resist them:

"Dear Sally: A trip to the Majestic theater with all its thrills of vaudeville. Imagine—eight acts of vaudeville and then a movie! My one wish has always been to go to the great Majestic theater, and O, Miss Sally, you can't realize how wonderful it would be to say, 'I went to the Majestic with Sally Joy Brown and her party.' I have written many times for your parties this summer and last, but have been disappointed, but I do hope that I will receive an invitation to this splendid party. Louise H."

"Dear Sally: Vacation days will soon be over and we must buckle down to work in the schoolroom again, so I would surely love to join your next jolly party, which I am afraid will be the last, and believe me, the best of the season. And O, what fun it would be to get in on the big vaudeville show you are planning with all its wonderful acts and funny clowns and everything snappy from start to finish. There won't be one dull moment during the whole party, I know. I hope, Sally, that my letter will be counted in with the hundred lucky winners this time, for I would so love to be among them. Louise B."

There Are Worse Lies in Life Than Those Told in Courtship

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"All of us men are natural born liars where women are concerned," says Uncle Henry. "We lie for the same reason that the male bird ruffles his topknot and spreads his tail feathers."

"The courtship season," says another humorist, "is the lyingest season known to man."

No one preaches much against this accepted policy of the courtship seasons. Can you picture the heavenly spell without a few "whoppers" from both sides? Since none of us are hell-bent-for-heaven on obtaining or expect to obtain the beatific region on plain, bald truths about ourselves, we listen and make no protest when he tells us we are just about the wonderfulest thing on earth. We know we're not—but that hasn't anything to do with the exquisite veracity coma that besets us.

Fancy, for instance, our beloved telling us our arms are all freckled or hairy and we'd show better taste keeping them covered. Fancy him telling us we aren't exactly his ideal of a girl, but he waited so darned long his ideal escaped and we are the next best thing in his prospects. Imagine him telling a girl he hated to marry her because she is so homely, but it is easier, these days, to make ends meet with a rich wife. Imagine him saying aloud, "You're not so intelligent but your disposition isn't so half bad, and that's something!"

Or, imagine her saying to him, "You're not so wonderful but then a girl can't be too particular. I think I can make you over when I get you. Anyway, I'll take a chance."

Or, what would be even more deadly, instead of both putting their best foot forward they would show themselves up in their worst light. Suppose he came to see her unshaved and soiled-collared, and she greeted him at the door without her usual makeup. This would be a bad start, especially if he followed it up by confessing to the mistakes he had made, instead of brandishing his achievements. Suppose he told her he was no volcano of force, passion, and genius, but a poor humble worm at heart, trying to bluff the world. And more, suppose she were to confide her pettinesses, her peevishness, her distaste for housework, how much money she actually does spend on dress, and what it really means to her. Suppose she told him she just had a fight with her mother and the fault was with her own bad temper.

But we can't go on! It would be quite too terrible to conceive. Besides, after all, 'tis the illusions of life that keep us going. The only point of these few remarks this morning is: "If we would only keep up the jolly little deceptions after marriage!" That's when we need 'em most.

Autumn Flower Show.

The autumn flower show of the Public Utilities Employés' Home Garden association is to be held Monday and Tuesday in the customers' hall in the Edison building, 72 West Adams street.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Be Attentive.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am acquainted with a nice young girl the same age as myself. I have learned from her relatives that she cares about me. She invited me to her house some time ago after which I took her to a show. She introduced me to another boy friend of hers and when I told her I'd like to see her the next night she made some kind of an excuse. I learned afterward that she likes the other fellow. Please advise me what to do, as I would like to win her. HANSOME."

Don't be so easily discouraged, Hansome. If you wish to win her, you mustn't step aside and let the other fellow have things his own way. Let him see you're in the race, too. Show her the nice little attentions that are so pleasing to every girl—flowers, candy, books, magazines, and provide the form of amusement which most appeals to her.

A Friend in Need

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

A Yearning for Beauty.

"Have any readers of your column plants or shrubbery to give away? I am anxious to have my yard pretty, but cannot afford to buy the necessary plants. I will be glad to call for anything that might be offered.

MRS. J. D. S."

What a change a few shrubs can make in a place! How alluring a single plant may be if rightly placed! We hope you will give what you can to make Mrs. S.'s home more attractive.

At Sixteen She Cannot Walk.

"I am a girl 16 years old and have tuberculosis. I am too weak to walk by myself and would appreciate it greatly if one of your readers has a wheel chair that I may use. M. S."

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Mint Services.

One of the weekly publications had an article the other day with the title "New Uses for Mint." Were the uses new? Hardly. Why not? One reason is that this "sweet plant" has been used for two thousand years.

It takes about one drop of oil of peppermint, with a teaspoon of sugar and a cup of hot water, to supply a remedy for a mild headache and that peculiar affliction anciently called flatulence. Plain hot water will not do the work, which is the best possible proof of the value of flavor under some circumstances. A news item of a year or two back illustrated the same thing, for a marooned trapper lived without food or shelter for twenty-two days and credited his survival to the wild mint or to its heating and strengthening properties. Oil of peppermint in the traveler's kit is about as simple and weightless a remedy as can be found.

While mint has many of what we may call off-table uses, it can be used in numerous ways for the table. It is English to flavor pea soup with mint—usually dry and powdered—and fresh mint in cream of potato soup is good. Mint sauce for lamb is common and mint jelly with roast goose and roast pork is conventional. A little chopped fresh mint is sometimes used with green peas and in an orange salad.

The daintiest of mint teas is made as follows: Allow four sprays or more of mint to one cup of boiling water poured over them. Let stand five minutes, drain through a cloth and chill. Sweeten to taste for a drink to which may be added lemon juice if to taste, etc. What the French called "le thé Marocain," because even the merchants in their stalls in Morocco make their tea with mint, is made with sprigs of fresh mint in the [illegible] with the tea.

Mrs. Waller Borden to Pass Winter Here Rather than Abroad

BY NANCY R——.

The plans that grew in the spring, this is, are likely to change in the fall, [illegible]

Thus, when it was announced in this column last May that Mrs. Waller Borden would spend the summer in the east and the winter abroad with her two charming daughters, Ellen and Betty, it was still possible that the fair lady might make use of her feminine prerogative and change her mind. Which is just what happened to Chicago's advantage.

This winter, instead of going to Europe, Mrs. Borden will be at home in her hospitable and handsome house on Lake Shore drive at Bellevue place, across the street from the equally imposing mansion of Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick.

This change in her well formulated arrangements was made known when Mrs. Borden and her daughters, the elder of whom will be a most fetching debutante winter after next, were here a few days ago. At that time they visited Mrs. Chauncey McCormick out at her delightful country place in Wheaton. They were en route from their summer cottage at Islesboro, Me., to that gay and fashionable spot on the lake, the Island club, where they will be the remainder of the warm season.

Another well known and interesting guest to whom Mrs. Chauncey McCormick is hostess at present is her mother, Mrs. Charles Deering, who has come up to this part of the world from Florida for the first time in some two years.

Evanston and Chicago have missed the Deerings since they took up their abode in the south which has proved so alluring to them, and Mrs. Deering's many friends here are giving her a royal welcome upon her return, temporary though her visit is.

Day's News in Society

Yesterday's mail brought two engagement announcements of social interest. Mr. and Mrs. St. Claire Eastman of 511 Brompton place have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Claire, to Kenneth Curtis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Irwin Curtis of Chicago and Lake Geneva. Miss Eastman is a graduate of Ogontz school and Mr. Curtis is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, where he was a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. The wedding is to take place at the Evanston Country club on Sept. 26. On their honeymoon Mr. Curtis and his bride are to go east to be best man and bridesmaid at the marriage of Miss Dorothy O'Ryan to Irwin Curtis at the Park Lane hotel in New York City on Oct. 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Lacelles Chester Maxwell of Cromarty, Rye, N. Y., and have announced the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Hogg, to Livingston Dickason, son of Dr. and Mrs. Francis X. Walls of 219 Lake Shore drive. Miss Maxwell was graduated from the Finch school in New York and has been abroad for the last year. Mr. Dickason has been touring Europe since his graduation from Yale. The marriage is to take place this fall in Paris.

Louis Sudler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler of 79 East Cedar street, will give a dinner at Onwentsia this evening for his brother, Carroll Sudler Jr. of New York City, who has been visiting his parents in Lake Forest for the last fortnight. There are to be about 20 of the young set at the

Mrs. Phelps Hoyt and her daughter, Miss Emilie Hoyt, have taken a cottage at Onwentsia until Oct. 1.

Oliver P. Wilson of Lake Forest, who has been abroad with his wife and family, has returned and is at the Onwentsia until Sept. 15, when the John F. L. Curtises will vacate the Wilson house, and Mrs. Wilson will return.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence H. Dudley of Kenilworth have had as their guest for the last three weeks Mrs. Dudley's sister, Mrs. David G. Boyd of Toronto, Canada. The Dudleys' daughter, Katherine, has returned from a girls' camp, where she has been spending the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O. Watkins, who have been spending July and August at Colorado Springs, have returned and will be at Onwentsia for the remainder of the season.

Albert Dewey Jr. is among the Chicagoans who are to be guests at Miss Anita Lihme's marriage today to Prince Edward Joseph Lobkowicz.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. John Jacob Rogers, newly elected congresswoman from Massachusetts, has been appointed by Representative Theodore E. Burton as a hostess for the reception of the delegation to the Interparliamentary union, which will hold its annual conference the first week in October.

The former secretary of state and Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes left Washington this afternoon for New York. They have been in the city for a few days, coming to Washington to complete the packing of their furniture, in the house on 18th street, which they recently sold.

Lihme Wedding at Watch Hill Holds Chicago Interest

Society's attention will turn eastward today to the fashionable wedding of Miss Anita Lihme, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Bai Lihme, formerly of Chicago, to Prince Edward Joseph Lobkowicz. The ceremony is to be performed at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel at Watch Hill, and is to be followed by a reception at Norman Hall, the Lihmes' summer residence.

In the wedding party will be Mrs. Clement Acton Griscom III. (Olga Lihme) of Haverford, Pa., as matron of honor, and, as bridesmaids, Miss Narcissa Vanderlip, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip of New York City; Miss Mary Starr Griscom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodman E. Griscom of Philadelphia and Watch Hill; Miss Marjorie Oelrichs, daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Oelrichs of New York City; Miss Helen Isham, daughter of Dr. George Snow Isham of Chicago; Miss Sarah Mellon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Mellon of Pittsburgh and Watch Hill; Miss Margaret McCargo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant McCargo of Pittsburgh, and Miss Dorothy Rhodes, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Barbour of Detroit and Watch Hill.

The bridegroom's brother, Prince Ferdinand Lobkowicz, will be best man, and the ushers will be Prince Eugene Lubomirski of New York, Count Francis Vetter of Vienna, Count George Apponyi, Baron Rometio Miller Aicholz of New York, Austin Gray, George Larski, and Frederick Allen of New York, Clement A. Griscom III., and Harold Lihme, the bride's brother.

The wedding of Miss Helen Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Hopkins, to Nelson T. Levings, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Algernon Levings, is to take place at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the gardens of Pineycrest, the Hopkins' summer place. The bride's mother is to be her matron of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Miss Mary Claire Eastman, Miss Lucille Singer, Miss Camille Shanahan of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Miss Leah Brown of Grand Rapids, Mrs. George Holmes of Evanston, and Mrs. Gordon S. Clark of Winnetka. John H. McDowell of Memphis, Tenn., will be Mr. Levings' best man.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Little Rubie liked our cat and was always delighted with every so-called trick it did. One day the cat stretched itself several times after having a sleep in the sun. Watching it, Rubie said, "O, look, kitty is doing his daily dozen." D. G. W.

"I hear you have a new canary at your house," said a neighbor to little Jack. "O," answered the child, "we have a whole set of them." R. W.

Ways of Treating the Commonest of All Scalp Diseases

by Antoinette Donnelly

The commonest of all scalp diseases is dandruff, called by medical men seborrhea. I sat behind a girl in a bus the other day who made me realize to what an ugly state the head may be submitted when dandruff remains unchecked. She was wearing no hat. Her bushy bobbed black hair was powdered with large white scales. It made you shudder, and think thoughts of uncleanliness, generally, in relation to the girl.

One thing certain is that the scalp needs attention when an unusual coating of dandruff appears. The hair, as you know, gets its sustenance from the blood. The scalp is affected likewise by any condition that lowers the general health and interferes with its nutrition through the capillaries. Absorption of poisons in the intestinal canal is often the cause of dandruff. Fever, anemia, tuberculosis, rheumatism, syphilis, liver and kidney diseases may also be active causes, while digestive disturbances, constipation, and liver disturbances undoubtedly aggravate the condition. Overwork, nervous and mental strains are also considered unfavorable.

Hair dyes, restorers, tonics, and pomades which leave the scalp in a dry condition contribute further cause.

The first thing to be done, if dandruff is expected to be overcome, is to build up the general health and eliminate the use of anything on the hair which drys the scalp. The diet should be regulated to secure proper elimination. Then, the scalp must be kept scrupulously clean, not only by washing and shampooing, but also by vigorous brushing and massage.

Excellent results may be gotten by massaging the scalp thoroughly with cocoanut or olive oil, or plain vaseline. Rub this thoroughly into the scalp at night. Wrap a towel around the head to protect the pillow, and the oil is left on until the following morning, after which the head is given a thorough shampoo. This treatment is especially good where dandruff is associated with a dry condition of the scalp. The repeated application of this treatment, if persisted in for a reasonable length of time, will show gratifying results. The more oily the scalp, naturally, the oftener it will have to be washed. Where there is dandruff and oily condition, two or three times a week shampooing is not too much.

BITING FINGER NAILS
I wonder what it is that ails
This little lady's finger nails?
They are so rough—like little claws!
I think you know, perhaps, the cause.
She is a Goop, and so she bites
Her finger nails, until they're sights!

How, Indeed?

A neat and precise school teacher had roomed with me a number of years. Frequently we exchanged compliments. She used to say how nice it was to be in a home where her belongings were not molested in vacation time.

This year I happened to purchase a coat of one of the new and trying colors. It was impossible to find a hat that did not clash. One day I was most agreeably surprised to find her winter hat was just the same color, and of course the tempter said, "Why not wear it a few times; she will never know as she is supposed to be in Europe."

I took advantage of a cool day to shop with my borrowed headgear. Upon arriving at a restroom I noticed some one staring at me. She immediately extended her hand and laughingly said, "I hardly recognized you, but I would know my hat anywhere."

How can I ever face her this coming year? M. W. B.

Molded Corsage and Flare Are Everywhere

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—This mold of form—yes, it is now becoming slightly moldy! Yet, in spite of all our former experiments in connection with the fitted bodice and the full skirt, the designers show no symptoms of ennui. In the early fall collections this same type of garment is presented in a hundred guises.

Today we show the molded corsage as the chief fashion asset of an early autumn coat of green suede cloth which is trimmed with a long haired beige fur. The definite line of this fitted upper section is effected only in the back by a curving seam. This seam makes more arresting a rippled back that contrasts with the severity of the front. The coat buttons straight down the front and you find at either side skillfully tailored slit pockets.

As I have said previously, the most emphatic difference between summer and autumn modes is the increased elaboration of the latter. Such tendency toward more ornate detail is indicated in coats not only by many new types of collars but also by original trimming touches and much intricacy of seaming.

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALLICO.

Smart Ties Are Checked and Striped.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—The bulk of the neckwear seen on these foreign shores has been conservative, although not lacking in color. There has been a lack of the extremely bright, wide striped ties which one runs up against in our own United States, but the English and French neckwear is always, with the well dressed man, of rich effect. Even as there are no loud ties noticed, there is also an absence of the drab, stringy looking bits of neckwear that a certain type of American wears.

Some of the best looking ties I noticed in London were some of the black and white effects and blue and gray effects in checks and stripes. There is really nothing more attractive than a black and white checked tie if it is of a good piece of silk. It combines extremely well with dark blue suits, gray suits of any shade, and with the black jacket and striped or checked trousers.

In Paris some of the best looking ties are of the crepe, irregular design type, but they are never giddily colored. Soft pastel shades, grays and blues, combinations of black and one color—these are more to be noticed than a noisy effect of harsh colors.

AUSTRALIA GETS NATIONAL POLICE TO COERCE REDS

Local Officials Refuse to Deport Radicals.

BY JACK MYERS.

[Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 28.—The federal government has introduced a bill empowering the commonwealth to establish a police force, as the labor government of New South Wales refused to allow state weapons, including the police, to be used in connection with the enforcement and deportation law passed as a result of the shipping strike. The bill has been passed by the house of representatives.

Prime Minister Bruce said that Australia is subjected to constant industrial upheaval inspired by men with revolutionary ideas. He added that drastic action is necessary against these men who are undermining the whole national life.

The laborites are strongly opposed to coercive measures, especially deportation, but the government is determined to employ every weapon to maintain order and enforce the law.

Strike in South Africa.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Aug. 28.—All South African ports are affected by a shipping strike which suddenly sprung up in sympathy with the strikes in Australia and Great Britain. The crews of several vessels refuse to work until the proposed reduction of $5 a month in wages is dismissed. The Sandgate Castle, bound from Durban to America, was the first vessel affected. The mail boat Balmoral Castle, bound for England, is held up at Durban. The strike spread to Cape Town today, the mail boat Arundel Castle, bound for England, being unable to sail. The Ballarat, bound for Australia, likewise is delayed.

Avert German Strike.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—Germany's gravest strike danger was removed early this morning when, after seventeen hours of continuous discussion, the construction workers and builders agreed on terms and avoided a lockout of 600,000 men today. The negotiations between the railway employés and employers still are proceeding unofficially, with little progress being made.

A Tricky Red.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—(AP)—All the doors and windows in the hall where the communist general confederation of labor is holding its congress were barred today while M. Lossowsky, a delegate from the Moscow, or third internationale, delivered an address.

The French authorities refused to visé passports for the Russian delegation, but Lossowsky entered the country without a passport. After he had spoken for an hour the lights were extinguished and when they were again turned on he had gone. Lossowsky's address was a defense of the third internationale and an appeal for a united stand by the workers against bourgeois capitalism.

BANK CASHIER GETS PEN TERM.

Dubuque, Ia., Aug. 28.—[Special.]—Jules Gleason, assistant cashier of the Masonville Savings bank, pleaded guilty to embezzlement in District court at Manchester today and was given an indeterminate sentence of not more than twenty years. Gleason confessed that he took $50,000 and the shortage wrecked the bank.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST.

The official forecast for today and tomorrow and yesterday's table of records follow:

Indiana—Fair Saturday; warmer in north portion; Sunday partly coludy; warmer in extreme north portion.

Lower Michigan—Fair Saturday, possibly becoming unsettled by Sunday; warmer.

Upper Michigan—Mostly fair Saturday; warmer; Sunday unsettled; warmer east portion.

Wisconsin—Partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday, possibly becoming unsettled; warmer Saturday in east and north portions; cooler Sunday northwest portion.

Ohio—Fair Saturday and probably Sunday; somewhat warmer Saturday and in north portion Sunday.

Missouri—Partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday except possibly scattered thunder showers by or before Sunday; rather warm, followed by cooler Sunday in extreme northwest portion.

Iowa—Partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday, some indications of scattered thunder showers; not so warm Sunday in west and central portions.

Minnesota—Partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday except possibly scattered showers or thunder storms; warmer Saturday near Lake Superior and cooler northwest portion; cooler Sunday east and south portions.

North Dakota—Partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday except possibly scattered thunder storms; cooler Saturday in east and central portions.

HOPKINS, MILLER DELAY RULING ON TWO LYLE CASES

Issues of Jury, High Bail Involved.

Chief Justice Hopkins of the Criminal court suspended judgment until Monday on a motion to reduce the $2,200,000 bail fixed by Municipal Judge John H. Lyle in the Maxwell street court in the cases of William Cairns and Max Geisler, held on a number of robbery charges.

The postponement was made in order that the chief justice might inquire into the previous criminal records, if any, of the defendants before passing on the amount of bail he might deem proper.

Another Lyle Case Delayed.

A similar continuance until Monday was ordered by Judge Harry B. Miller of the Criminal court when requested by Attorney Frank McDonnell to review the action of Judge Lyle in fining Joseph Cole, 17 years old, 736 South May street, $100 and costs on a disorderly charge and holding him to the grand jury under $15,000 bonds for the theft of two automobiles.

"I want certified copies of the files," ordered Judge Miller. "If it is true, as alleged, that no jury waiver was signed by Cole, then Judge Lyle's action is illegal."

Will Provide Copies.

Judge Lyle impounded all files in the case, but certified copies would be produced, Judge Miller was promised by Attorney Charles M. Goodnow, representing Municipal Court Clerk James A. Kearnes.

In the case before Chief Justice Hopkins, Attorney McDonnell declared "Rockefeller himself could not schedule the $4,000,000 in real estate necessary for the bond demanded by Lyle."

"Lyle fixes whatever bond enters his brain when he tries a case. He should be prosecuted criminally for denying reasonable, practical bail."

Objects to History Recital.

"The fellow who shot Representative O'Grady's brother said he got his gun from Judge Lyle," shouted McDonnell. "When in private practice Lyle defended the Negro policeman who put a young white girl into a house of ill fame."

"That is history. Confine yourself to this case only," interposed Judge Hopkins, halting the attorney.

Three Boys Held Charged with Attacking Girl of 14

Charged with attacking a fourteen year old girl, three youths, Thomas Patrice, 713 Sholto street; Edward Tipping, 16 South California avenue, and Arthur Hansen, 3422 McLean avenue, were held to the grand jury in $6,000 bond each by Judge John Lupe in Boys' court yesterday.

THAT POWDER PUFF MAY BE HAY FEVER TNT, DOCTOR WARNS

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Face powder from powder puffs is sufficient to aggravate the sensitivity of persons subject either to hay fever or asthma. Dr. John A. Murphy of Philadelphia, who is here attending sessions of the American Pharmaceutical association, said today.

Dr. Murphy, who is medical director of biological laboratories in Philadelphia, said that goldenrod and corn are often mistakenly blamed for hay fever and asthma. He declared that corn pollen is too heavy to be blown more than a few feet and that the sufferer working in a corn field may find the cause of his trouble in the ragweed at the base of the cornstalks.

GERMANS GAIN BIG CONCESSION IN AFGHANISTAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Germany has secured a trade monopoly in Afganistan in one of the biggest deals ever concluded by foreigners there. The agreement gives the German firm in the deal a complete monopoly in placing Afghan products on the world's markets. The firm agrees not to do business with individual traders or dealers in Afghanistan without the sanction of the Afghan minister of commerce.

The Germans will charge a five per cent commission. All imported goods coming to Afghanistan must come through the German firm's hands.

The only condition attached to the agreement is that the Germans must be able to show an import and export balance at the end of the year. The Germans are also granted a monopoly on working Afghan mines.

BANKER TRAPS BANDIT TRYING TO ROB VAULT

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 28.—(AP)—A. E. Wilson, manager of a bank here, today captured a holdup man by rushing out of the vault and slamming the door. The intruder, ignoring clerks shut in with him, fired at the lock until police removed him.

The would-be robber herded Wilson an dtwo assistants in the vault.

When the bandit went to seek loot, Wilson ran out, banged the door closed, and called the police. Before the squad arrived the robber sent nine bullets into the lock, emptying his pistols.

Two College Boys Admit $50,000 Extortion Plot

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Bliss Y. Baker and C. Russell Crawford, university students, today pleaded guilty to charges of extortion in an unsuccessful attempt to obtain $50,000 from Col. Daniel C. Jackling, wealthy San Francisco mining man. Baker and Crawford are accused of luring Mrs. Jacking out of the city and demanding $50,00 from Jackling for her release.

PLAN 60 FLAT BUILDING FOR ROSCOE STREET

BY AL CHASE.

Jacob M. Goldberg and Abe Goldstein have had plans drawn by Rissman & Hirschfeld for a sixty apartment building to be erected at 627-39 Roscoe street on a 158x133 site. Several old residences now on the property will be wrecked at once. The Straus Brothers company has made a $275,000 ten year loan at 6½ per cent on the project.

Mr. Goldberg and Mr. Goldstein have just sold their forty-two apartment building, known as the Melway, to Max Annenberg and Louis H. Rose for a reported $227,500, subject to $162,500. Bailey Samelow was attorney for the buyers and Sonnenschein, Berkson, Lautmann & Levinson for the sellers.

Banker Buys Corner.

Victor C. Hasterlik, vice president of the Independence State bank, has bought the northwest corner of Independence boulevard and Lexington, lot 59x140, improved with thirteen flats, from Pauline Gooder and Fannie Lepawsky for an indicated $86,719, subject to an incumbrance of $61,719.

James Koretos and George Georgousis have bought the southwest corner of 79th and Dobson, 125x130, improved with stores and apartments, from John Aiello for an indicated $77,000.

Rosedale-Glenwood Flats Sold.

The eighteen flats at the northeast corner of Rosedale and Glenwood, lot 66x128, have been sold by Khoren A. Shahbazian to Alfred Tharnstrom for a reported $123,000, subject to a $103,000 mortgage. Baker & Fleming were brokers.

Abraham Liebling, publisher of the Daily Jewish Press, has leased the Clark & Dewey garage to Samuel Wanig and Joseph Tennes for twenty years at a reported $12,000 annually for the first fifteen years and $13,200 for the last five years. I. S. Heftel was broker.

ASK RELEASE OF MEN HELD FOR WOOLENS THEFT

Petitions for release on habeas corpus writs were to be filed today by Attorney John R. McCabe in the cases of seven men, two of them special United States deputy marshals, arrested yesterday by Stanton avenue police in connection with the robbery of $10,000 worth of woolens from a Nickel Plate railroad warehouse.

The federal employés, who were being used to guard a recently raided brewery in Blue Island, are P. J. Schneider, 3604 North St. Louis avenue, and John Amo, 346 East 43d street. David "Big Dave" Earsman, known to the police as a rum merchant, was another of those seized.

A Story of a phenomenal achievement

Cedar Point Park

A community of lovely summer homesites on Lake Geneva

Just two years ago the former Fairbank and Beidler Estates on Lake Geneva were virgin forests—rough-shod, untouched by the hand of man.

Today these lovely estates are known as Cedar Point Park, the Paradise of Lake Geneva, with beautiful summer homes dotted here and there—a haven of rest, recreation and pleasure for its property owners and their families.

The development of Cedar Point Park is phenomenal to persons acquainted with this property prior to its development. Its story of success is without precedent in the annals of summer home real estate.

A Record for Quick Sales

When the Beidler Estate came into its present ownership this estate was laid out and subdivided into 225 lots. Today only 15 of these lots remain unsold.

Last Fall such part of the Fairbank Estate as could be cleared and developed was subdivided into 76 lots. Today only 18 lots in this first addition remain unsold.

Late in July, 1925, the second addition to Cedar Point Park was subdivided into 90 lots. Today, three weeks after its opening, only 54 lots remain unsold.

The significance of the above figures is the existing demand for summer home sites on Lake Geneva. It is a further indication not only of the desirability of this property, but that the prices of lots in Cedar Point Park are reasonable.

Exceptional Building Activity

It is interesting to note that in this comparatively short space of time, 35 homes, all of a character conforming to the restrictions set down, have been built on this property.

Cedar Point Park lots are sold on a basis of one-third down payment, balance on terms. 104 warranty deeds and abstracts of title are already delivered; proof that purchasers are pleased with their bargain.

A Big Development Program

At the outset, lots at Cedar Point Park were sold on a promise of a certain development program. Today these promises are a reality. The dedicated parks are complete. They have been cleared, (removing some three thousand trees) seeded in a beautiful clover lawn, flower beds and evergreens have been set in by expert landscape gardeners—lawn sprinklers are in operation and the happy residents of Cedar Point Park are enjoying these parks.

Four community piers have been constructed. One at each park. Our piers are spacious enough to accommodate the large steamers on Lake Geneva.

Gravel roads have been made, also walks.

Running Water Piped to Each Lot

Four water pumps have been installed and are in operation.

Water pipes (lake water and spring water) have been laid, and outlets furnished for each lot.

A fifteen thousand gallon reservoir tank has been installed. Running water under pressure is supplied throughout the property.

Electricity and telephones are on the property.

Fire hydrants have been placed at intervals throughout the property and sufficient equipment is provided to meet any emergency.

Summing up the entire improvement program Cedar Point Park stands a monument to a promise fulfilled. No extra assessments have been made.

A Restricted Community

The original inception of Cedar Point Park was to develop a community of fine homes restricted to a desirable element and build a community where those who enjoy the better things in life might safely plan their future summer homes.

Our restrictions insure a high class community. Our plan for appointing a board of governors will maintain that standard, thus Cedar Point Park property owners can be assured that their purchase of one of our parcels of land is not an expense for a luxury but really an investment for profit.

Take Advantage of This Investment Opportunity

Cedar Point Park is a big project. Although the sale of lots has been phenomenal, there is yet an opportunity for you to purchase a desirable homesite.

You are invited to visit Cedar Point Park, if not as a prospective purchaser, come as a visitor. You will see the most beautiful subdivision of summer home property ever attempted.

Plan on a visit to Lake Geneva next week-end. Good roads all the way. Take route through Woodstock, Harvard and Walworth, thence route 36W to Williams Bay, Wis. You will receive every courtesy and without obligation to buy.

Kansas City Terminal Railway.

W. R., Davenport, Ia.—The Kansas City Terminal Railway company's properties comprise the union passenger station, with ultimate capacity for accommodating 52 trains, and a complete belt line connecting with all railroads entering the city. The company recently issued $16,908,000 first mortgage 4 per cent bonds, due 1960, making a total of $50,000,000 of these bonds now outstanding. This is the total authorized issue and the mortgage is now closed. These bonds are secured by a first mortgage on substantially all railroad and terminal property, rights, and franchises, with a present estimated value of over $65,000,000. Each of the railway companies owning the capital stock of the terminal company and using its facilities covenants unconditionally to pay an equal amount of the principal and interest of these bonds and agrees also to pay its share of the total expense of operation and maintenance of the terminal, proportionate to its use thereof. These companies include the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, and the Union Pacific. The combined surplus income of the proprietary companies after payment of entire fixed charges for 1924 was over $125,000,000. These bonds are a sound investment.

New York, Aug. 28—(AP)—Alternating periods of weakness and strength, reflecting the shifting tides of speculative sentiment, again characterized today's stock market.

Public participation was on a reduced scale, the day's sales falling to 1,270,800 shares.

An outburst of strength at the opening probably reflected the allayment of fears over an increase in the New York federal reserve rediscount rate which was announced as unchanged after the close yesterday. The buying was largely of a professional character, with the sharpest gains being recorded in stocks in which pools are known to be operating.

American Can Leads Decline.

A sudden bear drive against American Can, which cracked from 239¼ to 231, turned the course of prices downward around the end of the first hour. Slightly better support was forthcoming after mid-day, the stock closing at 233¼ for a net loss of nearly 5 points.

Except for moderate recessions in the shares of some of the hard coal carrying railroads, the announcement that anthracite miners would suspend operations on Sept. 1 was practically disregarded. Heavy accumulation of Frisco common, which touched another record high at 102½, was accompanied by reports that the directors, at their meeting here next week, would not only increase the annual dividend from $5 to $7, but probably dispose of the road's holdings of the common stock of the New Mexico and Arizona Land company or scale down the bonded debt through the issuance of additional capital stock. One of the features of that group was the heavy buying of Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, which was run up 2 points to 7½ and then eased slightly on profit taking.

Otis Steel Preferred Rises.

Individual developments influenced the buying of several industrial stocks. Otis Steel preferred was run up 6½ points to a record high at 97½, and Midland Steel Products preferred soared nearly 7 points to 145⅛ on the opening of negotiations here for a merger of those companies and the Trumbull Steel company. Revival of activity in Certainteed Products reflected the directors' decision to retire the outstanding bonds. Both the preferred issues touched new high levels for the year.

Renewed buying of Chrysler, which closed 5¼ points higher at 146¼, after attaining a record top at 149½, was in anticipation of a retirement of the preferred stock. Other strong spots included Mack Trucks, White Motors, Atlantic Refining, the Commercial Solvents issues, Gabriel Snubbers, Pittsburgh Terminal Coal, and United States Cast Iron Pipe, all up 2@7½ points.

RAW SILK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—SILK—Raw, steady, unchanged.

New Thrills and Increased Earnings in this larger, finer field of Selling!

A Call to Supersalesmen Who Are Momentarily Mired in Inactive Lines

This business is full of romance, gentlemen! And the stakes run high.

It is CREATIVE selling of the Nth degree; your business here is to induce others to "Create an Estate with Real Estate."

The BRANIGAR system has lifted Real Estate selling to new high levels of a dignified profession which affords men of great sales-ability exceptionally wide scope and almost unprecedented earnings.

Confining ourselves strictly to the development of the highest class large properties, such as our present notable development at IVANHOE—"A City in Itself, Unto Itself"—we have likewise introduced lofty ideals, businesslike policies and ethical methods into every phase of our operations.

Selling OUR product OUR way, you will find the work the most absorbing hobby you ever rode. After you have acquired the BRANIGAR conception that a large tract of vacant land is not merely a money-sponge through which to suck the last ounce of possible profit, but, rather, that it really represents a potential development of happy lives lived in substantial homes in a beautiful and soul-glorifying environment . . . and that the ownership of a piece of Chicago Real Estate, large or small, represents a sacred trust . . . and when you develop the larger vision and viewpoint that desirable improved vacant property in the City of Chicago is the one basic, fool-proof investment for the wise and the simple, the rich and the poor, and that no man who invests wisely therein can possibly go wrong . . . and when you see the type of properties this firm has developed and is developing . . . you will become as enthusiastic and as successful as some of the other big men whom we have recently recruited into our sales force out of various stagnant lines.

There's F. B. V. S., for instance, who came to us from the piece-goods industry. Although he had never sold any real estate before, his first eleven weeks commissions on IVANHOE sales were $13,900.

There's M. A. L., a bond salesman, who made $5,600 his first eight weeks with us.

There's G. L. R. and J. E. F. and W. E. G. and A. C. T., who are also new in our organization, but who are averaging better than $700 a week.

Come up and meet these gentlemen, and let them talk to you and tell you how easy they found it to adjust and to apply their own selling experience to the profitable wholesale and retail merchandising of BRANIGAR properties. (See Our 2-Page Ad elsewhere in Today's Tribune.)

For private interview, call at Suite 1408-9, La Salle Hotel; otherwise write, in strictest confidence, H. W. B. at—

Brisk outside competition added tone to yesterday's hog trade and prices opened 10@15c above the close of the previous session. Shippers took more than 40 per cent of the 15,000 received. After urgent eastern orders were filled the market weakened, especially on packing grades, which made up a liberal proportion of the offerings, many of them carried since early in the week. About twenty loads averaging 155@206 lbs topped at $13.50, with best heavy weights up to $12.90. General average price advanced to $12.25, against $12.10 Thursday, $12.45 a week ago, $9.50 a year ago and $8.65 two years ago, the highest in August, 1923. Armour's drove yesterday cost $11.44, averaging 306 lbs, and Swift's $11.13, averaging 323 lbs.

Cattle receipts at 4,000 were among the largest Friday arrivals of the year, which, together with the fact that traders are anticipating a liberal run of rangers the forepart of next week, had a weakening effect on the general trade. Westerns comprised more than a fourth of this week's 53,000 receipts, with the proportion gradually becoming greater. With the exception of highly finished heavy beeves, declines of 50c in cattle prices were general, extreme instances indicating as much as 75c loss on in-between and common thin kinds. No steers choice enough to reach top quotations arrived, and best available averaged 1,361 lbs, and sold at $14.25. Best 828 lb yearlings sold at $13.75. Butcher stock showed little change. Calves were steady. Stockers and feeders sold actively, but at a lower range of prices than a week ago.

Lamb Prices Advance.

Fat lamb values advanced fully 15@25c under brisk competition for the meager showing of better grades. Total arrivals at 4,000, including 1,400 directs, were second smallest of the year for Friday. Top natives jumped to $15.25, city butchers and Wilson paying the peak for sorted 80 lb averages. No range stock was offered. Holdover feeding lambs met fair demand at prices ranging downward from $15.25. Fat aged and yearling sheep were scarce and firm.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 500 cattle, 2,000 hogs, and 1,000 sheep, against 449 cattle, 1,948 hogs, and 5,466 sheep the corresponding Saturday a year ago.

Probable receipts of hogs at Chicago for next Monday are estimated from 30,000 to 40,000. A. G. Welhener and R. Ellis marked 30,000; F. W. Waddell, 31,000; H. Pattison, 32,000; W. H. Overman, 33,000; F. R. Burrows, 35,000; W. S. Nicholson, J. Holmes, and J. M. Waters, 36,000, and F. W. Young, 40,000.

WALL STREET NOTES

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Although further irregularity developed in today's curb market, better buying support was in evidence, particularly in the oil and public utility groups. Prairie Oil and Gas and Vacuum each closed more than a point higher.

Several strong spots developed in the industrial list. Midland Steel common advanced 4 points and Trumbull Steel 2⅛ on the announcement of tentative terms for a merger of the Midland, Otis, and Trumbull Steel companies. Miller rubber gained 16 points, touching a record high at 200, under influence of reports of large earnings. Goodyear closed 1⅞ higher at 38⅝. Sharp gains also were recorded by Gillette Safety Razor, Kelvinator, Pathe Exchange, and Thompson Radio. Nickel Plate and Durant Motors were heavy. The spirited demand for Western Power and Power Corporation of New York, which advanced 2½ and 3 points, respectively, featured the trading in power and light stocks. United Light and Power fell back 1½ points.

Bond prices failed to develop a clearly defined trend. Price movements in the railroad group were confusing. Florida, Western and Northern 7s, which have figured in recent speculative activities, broke 4 points and then rallied 5, closing a point higher than last night. Improvement in St. Paul, Chesapeake and Ohio, Burlington, and Pennsylvania liens contrasted with the heaviness of Union Pacific, New Haven, Kansas City Southern, and Frisco issues. Utah Light and Power 5s, Milwaukee Electric Railway 6s, Commonwealth Power 6s, and International Telephone 5s were among the favored issues in the public utility department, scoring average gains of about a point.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent and then dropped to 4. Dealers quoted bankers' acceptances an average of one-quarter of 1 per cent higher, asking rates ranging from 3¼ per cent for 30 days to 3¾ for five and six months' maturities. Foreign exchange rates were slightly reactionary. Demand sterling and French francs eased to $4.85 3-16 and 4.69½c, respectively. Scandinavian rates, which were strong earlier in the week, also showed moderate recessions. Polish zlotys advanced half a cent to 17⅞c.

CHICAGO STOCK TRANSACTIONS

Day's sales, shares.....35,000. Year ago.....23,000 Total, 1925.....3,734,472 Previous year.....6,230,347

Friday, Aug. 28, 1925.

Chicago stocks were irregular yesterday, a feature being a gain of 2 points in Midland Steel Products in anticipation of the outcome of merger negotiations with Otis Steel and Trumbull Steel still pending. The plan, it is understood, calls for the organization of a new company with $30,000,000 6 per cent bonds, $22,000,000 7 per cent preferred stock, and about 1,760,000 shares of no par value common stock. It also calls for the exchanging of share for share on the preferred stock for Trumbull Steel preferred and the Otis common stocks. It is proposed that each share of Midland Steel preferred, which has a valuable participating dividend feature, be exchanged for 1½ shares of new preferred, and each share of common be exchanged for four shares of new common.

Yellow Manufacturing dropped 2½ to 41 in reflection of the earnings statement for six months, and Yellow Cab was off ⅛. Auburn Automobile gained 1⅜, and Wrigley was up a point on publication of a bullish statement by a brokerage house. Stewart-Warner advanced ½. La Salle Extension University declined ⅝. Union Carbide was ⅝ lower, and Maytag lost ⅛. On small sales United States Gypsum gained 2 points. Vesta Battery was off 2 points, and Crane declined a point. The 600,000 shares of $10-par value stock of the Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company was listed by the governing committee for trading on and after Sept. 5.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The government received $5,353,132 less in royalties for mineral leasing on public land during the last fiscal year than the preceding year, due to the temporary closing down of wells in the Wyoming field and to storage for better prices. Total receipts last year, the interior department reported yesterday, were $8,278,708, against $13,631,840 the year before.

Illinois Power and Light corporation has opened negotiations for the purchase of the Kankakee & Urbana Traction company, stockholders of which authorized the directors to sell or lease the property last week. The Illinois Power has operated one stretch of the line on a year to year lease.

The Bank of Poland, which is the central bank of issue of that country, has received a credit of $10,000,000 from the New York Federal Reserve bank to be used for stabilizing Polish zloty, which recently has been subject to considerable fluctuations on the exchange market.

New and large corporations formed during July included 734 companies compared with 770 the month before and 505 for the same month last year, the increase over a year ago being 45 per cent. Total authorized capital of these companies was $1,067,000,000 compared with $1,003,000,000 for companies formed the month before and $572,000,000 for new concerns organized in July of last year.

The General Gas and Electric corporation of Delaware has declared an initial dividend of 37½ cents a share quarterly on class A common shares; $2 on class A preferred, besides the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the $7 class A preferred and $1.75 on the class B preferred.

More than $75,000,000 of financing for the joint stock land banks is scheduled for the remaining four months of 1925. There is also a possibility that the banks will float an additional $30,000,000 of bonds for refunding purposes. Net mortgage loans held by the various land banks on the security of farm properties on Aug. 1 totaled $508,000,000, an increase of $62,000,000 since the first of the year.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

A trading market in wheat probably for several days is expected by a majority of local operators, although there was a tendency to look for a lower range during that period, with probably numerous sharp bulges. Commission house comment as a whole was somewhat more bearish, the reported offerings of Duluth spring wheat to come here being a factor, and in some quarters the belief was expressed that a stock of grain suitable for delivery on contracts would ultimately be built up.

Round lots of Duluth No. 2 northern spring wheat were offered to come here yesterday and a local cash handler said the price was satisfactory. A cargo of 300,000 bu was offered for shipment by Sept. 20 at ⅝c over the September with the option of delivering No. 1 northern at 1½c over. It was said the latter proposition checked purchasers.

A spring wheat crop for all Canada of 388,000,000 bu, or 13,000,000 bu in excess of the August government figures, and compared with 262,000,000 bu harvested last year, was suggested by Cromwell's report to Lamson Bros. & Co. He estimates the yield of the three provinces at a minimum of 335,000,000 bu and a maximum of 385,000,000 bu, and expects the final returns to show 361,000,000 bu, against 235,000,000 bu harvested in 1924.

A bullish view of the corn situation is taken by J. P. Griffin of J. S. Bache & Co. He believes the decline of late has been due largely to the excellent crop prospects in the territory tributary to Chicago. South Dakota and Minnesota have suffered heavy damage in the last two weeks, Nebraska and Kansas at best have raised only a fair crop, Oklahoma is poor and Texas almost a failure. The bad situation in the south is also being overlooked. He doubts if the final figures on the total crop equal 2,900,000,000 bu. With the shortage in hay and forage he believes prices are about the bottom.

A large percentage of the Canadian wheat crop is likely to grade No. 2 and No. 3 northern this season, according to a Sanford Evans report from Winnipeg.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Export demand for wheat at the seaboard was slow with sales finally estimated at 200,000 to 250,000 bu. There were 50,000 bu hard winter sold at New York at 15c over Chicago September and 32,000 bu at the Gulf at 12c over. A fair amount of Duluth springs was sold abroad. A little business was claimed in oats and barley, but the edge was said to be off the demand for the latter grain.

Chicago handlers sold 56,000 bu wheat, 1,147,000 bu corn, 62,000 bu oats and 10,000 bu barley to the domestic trade.

No change was made in the local spot wheat basis with No. 2 red 11@12c over September and No. 2 hard 2@5c over. Premiums at Kansas City were unchanged with prices unchanged to 1c higher. At St. Louis demand was good and prices unchanged to 1c lower, the market cleaning up. Omaha advanced 2c.

Mills were after cash wheat at Minneapolis with the basis firm to 1c higher with a good demand. Offerings were not as large as would be suggested by the receipts. No. 1 northern was quoted at September price to 15c over.

Cash corn was in fair demand and the basis firm at ⅝@1c over September for No. 2 mixed, 1⅝@2c over for yellow and 1@1¼c over for white. Outside markets were unchanged to 1½c higher.

Elevator interests were good buyers of cash oats and the basis was firmer at ½@1¼c over September for No. 2 white and ⅛@¾c over for No. 3 white.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Friday: Wheat, 29 cars; corn, 262 cars; oats, 153 cars; rye, 6 cars; barley, 17 cars.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEWS

Marshall Field & Co., in their weekly review of the wholesale dry goods trade, say:

"Current wholesale distribution of dry goods was in excess of the same week a year ago. Road sales were greater than both last week and the corresponding period last year. Customers were in market in greater numbers than in 1924. Collections were not quite as good as during the corresponding week last year."

Armour & Co. say: "Trade in fresh pork has been fairly satisfactory this week. Arrivals of hogs were quite liberal during the early part of the week and, as a result, prices eased a little, but regained strength during the latter days. Cured pork trade shows some improvement. Beef trade is in a slightly better condition than it was last week. Limited receipts of killing cattle had some influence on that situation. The outstanding feature of the cattle market this week, though, has been the dearth of good native cattle, which has resulted in a new top of $16.25. Export trade is taking on more life, particularly in the lard business."

BOSTON WOOL MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 28.—(AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"Although there has been a fair demand for wool on the whole, the course of the market in this country has been rather sim less and prices have been barely steady. The foreign markets, especially Australia, are in rather sharp contrast. Brisbane showed an advance of a good 5 per cent on a wretched selection, due chiefly to French buying. Bradford is feeling better and has marked up top prices. Quotations:

"Domestic—Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces: Delaine unwashed, 53@54c; ½ blood combing, 53c; ⅜ blood combing, 50@51c; fine washed, 46@48c.

LIBERAL BUYING SLOWS UP SAG WHEAT AND CORN

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Belated liquidation was on in September wheat and corn, but they failed to get as low as on Thursday, a good class of buying in on the declines. At the finish wheat was 1@1⅛c lower, while September corn was 1⅛c lower, and the deferred deliveries ⅛@⅝c higher. Oats ⅛@½c, and rye ⅝@1⅛c lower.

Trade in wheat was smaller than on the previous day, commission houses on both sides. Sentiment was bullish early, side buying failed to follow the and many of the pit element later, weakness in Winnipeg factor. The latter market lower. Minneapolis, however, stronger than Chicago and ⅛@⅝c lower at the last.

Duluth Offers Spring Wheat.

Duluth offered No. 2 northern wheat for shipment to Chicago ume, but no purchases were At the same time it had some sentiment, as some interests the belief that sooner or later would be built up here for delivery future contracts. Millers and were after hard winters here, of only 56,000 bu were reported. basis was firm here and at Kansas City. Movement of spring wheat in the west is steadily increasing, of 764 cars at the two markets pared with 376 cars last year. points had 1,520,000 bu, against bu the previous week, and last year.

Weather conditions in Europe improvement, and Liverpool 1⅝d lower, with further Russian offerings at equal to bu c. i. f. London, or under prevailing here for the September livery. Poland was said to have wheat to the United Kingdom.

Longs Sell September Corn.

September corn was bought by early and showed fair strength time, but later belated liquidation and the price dropped early high to 92½c, with the finish the bottom. Deferred deliveries taken by shorts and commission and liquidation was regarded over by many traders.

Investment buying was a factor taining the new crop months. was also evidence of export but no sales abroad were Sales of old corn here were Trade in oats was not large, undertone was firm and the attracting some investment buying. seaboard was after grain for to Montreal for export.

Business in rye was limited and market easier with wheat, heard regarding foreign demand.

Provisions Average Higher.

Buying of October lard by a house eastern connections led to a fair advance in provisions early, but lard weakened later and closed about the bottom, prices unchanged to higher. were 17½@20c, and bellies Cash trade was fair.

Salesmen, Solicitors, Etc.

DOES MONEY MAKE YOU
LAZY?
We've got to have some more salespeople who will keep right on working after they've made the easy money.

We must have more salesmen to take the place of some who lay down when prosperity comes along.

If you can look at a bunch of green backs such as you may never have made before and not get the sleeping sickness we want you.

We have may leads awaiting you that have come to us of their own accord through our colossal advertising campaign. It looks as though we'd never get to the end of them.

Owing to Henry Ford and other aces of finance and the interest that the U. S. government is taking in the Calumet development which has filled the papers with news items concerning it, we're swamped with prospects interested in our Calumet, Stony Island, and Sibley-blvd. subdivisions.

In spite of the thousands of dollars worth of lots sold there are still thousands to turn over, owing to our foresight in picking off the best sections of Calumet before others heard what was coming.

Special advertising, autos, busses, everything bringing people with cash to get in on this tremendous opportunity. Hurry up and get over here and help us sell them if money is what you want.

See me at once.

SALESMEN
for Lake Shore property, 6 blocks from Lake Michigan. Transportation right to the door. A real clean-up for the right men. C. I. Milton & Co., R. 1115, 122 S. Michigan-av.

SALESMEN—I WANT GO-GETTERS WHO have "pep" [Gentiles] to join me in a profitable selling campaign which involves supplying a demand more than disposing of a product; the work is permanent if you make good. This is not real estate, stock, insurance, nor house to house canvassing. We have a strictly legitimate proposition that benefits the buyer as much as the seller and makes friends. If you will be satisfied with three thousand dollars the first year, in a city territory that should yield a substantial increase in earnings the second year, call upon me either at 10 a. m. or 2 p. m. today, Saturday. Ask for Mr. Molloy, 13th Floor, 116 South Michigan avenue.

Office open Sunday, 12-5.

TO RENT—ON OCT. 1 THERE WILL BE available a duplex apt. of 7 rms. with 2 baths, located at 341 Belden-av., which is ¼ blk. from Lincoln Pk., East of Clark-st., in the very desirable district just south of Fullerton-pkwy. The loc. is not only unusually attr., but is within 12 min. of loop, by bus or surface cars.

The 2d floor contains 2 large bedrms. and 1 smaller bedrm. and a bath. This arrangement provides the comforts of a house with the conveniences of an apt. Garage optional.

On the 1st floor of the apt. are a living rm. 26x18 ft., with black marble wood or coal burning fireplace, dining rm., kitchen, 1 large bedrm. and bath. The building is not new but is newly equipped and well maintained. What it lacks in new construction is more than made up by its large light rms. and its loc. in an exclusive and restricted residential district.

By leasing direct from the owner a desirable applicant supplying satisfactory references can obtain this apt. for $185 per month. Ph. Diversey 8991 for further information or app. at 341 Belden-av., 1st apt. C. A. Baumann.

WHERE TWO BOOTLEGGERS WERE FOUND SLAIN. Arrows point to places where the bodies of Irving Schlig, "the flying bootlegger," and his partner, Harry Berman, west side gunman, were found near Ashburn aviation field. (Story on page 1.)

QUIZZED ON MYSTERY MURDER. Miss Pauline Livingston, 5119 Kenmore avenue, said to be sweetheart of Irving Schlig, one of the two men found slain. (Story on page 1.)

"WE CAN FLY TO PEKIN IN TWO HOPS. Col. William A. Mitchell (left), former army aviation chief, and T. F. Hamilton, Milwaukee manufacturer, pay fleeting visit to Chicago and tell of aviation projects. (Story on page 1.)

IN PAGEANT. Charlotte Robertson will be "Jenny Lind" at Park Ridge ceremonies today.

PLANE USED BY BOOTLEGGER. Capt. John Stege, chief of detectives, examines airplane which one of the murdered men is believed to have used in his business.
